DURRANT AND WORDEN WILL SOON KNOW.

The Governor Is Preparing His Decision and Will Dispose of Their Cases Next Monday.

NOT MUCH TIME IS LEFT.

Worden's Execution Has Been Set For Friday Next.

DURRANT'S ON THE 11TH.

Final Efforts to Bring an Exercise of Official Clemency.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO, May 29.—The Governor will hand down his decision in the Durrant case on Monday morning next.

He will at the same time render his decision in the Worden case.

A committee of labor organizations arrived here today in Worden's behalf, and requested an audience with the Governor. The callers were notified that they would be heard tomorrow (Sunday) morning at 10 o'clock.

The conference tomorrow will end the submitting of testimony and pleadings in both cases.

Nothing more arrived today in Durrant's behalf.

The Governor, in rendering his decisions, will submit a short statement with each case, giving the reasons for his actions.

All is, of course, speculation as to what the outcome will be. The Governor will certainly give an unprejudiced decision, as he has fully and impartially investigated each case.

The hardest fight possible has been made for both of the condemned men. Their friends have exhausted everything possible and not a stone has been left unturned that might aid their cause.

If the Governor refuses to interfere the execution of Worden will take place on Friday next, June 4th, and that of Durrant the following week, on Friday, June 11th.

Opinion is divided as to what the decisions will be. The friends of Worden seem more hopeful than those of Durrant, and are calling attention to the fact that about a year ago President Cleveland wrote a letter to Governor Budd urging clemency in the case of Worden.

The East Oakland Street Car Line Seeks Some Assistance.

J. C. Johnson, receiver of the East Oakland Railroad Company, has petitioned the court to be allowed to borrow $12,000 with which to meet the expenses of the line. The sum is to be secured by receiver's certificates in amounts from $1,000 to $100.

The petition sets forth that at the end of last year a balance of $159.80 was on hand. Since that time, up to May 2d, the receipts have been $12,603.25 and the disbursements $12,762.99, an excess in expenditure of $99.74.

Dispute Over a Boat.

The Acme Club has been sued by the South End Rowing Club for $299.99 damages claimed to be due. In April of '95 the South Ends arranged a regatta in which the various clubs took part. A barge, the "James A. Garfield" was loaned to the Acmes as they had no boat of their own and this was destroyed by fire while stored in the boathouse of the University Club.

Attempts to settle a fair price on the boat failed and now suit is brought. It is the contention of the Oakland Club, that individual members and not the club itself borrowed the boat.

THE PLATE GLASS RATE

Senator Jones' Attempt to Reduce It Fails of Success.

A VERY LENGTHY DEBATE.

Alleged Grasping Tendency of the Big Glass Combine.

ENORMOUS PROFITS CLAIMED.

A Motion to Adjourn Prevents the Exchange of Hard Words.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Senate resumed work at noon today. Mills of Texas secured consideration for the joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to use rations for the relief of destitute persons in the district overflowed by the Rio Grande river near El Paso, Texas, and appropriating $10,000 for the purpose.

Mills read a telegram from the Mayor and city officers of El Paso, saying that 500 houses had been destroyed and 3,000 people were destitute and in a condition beyond the power of local relief. A joint resolution was passed.

The tariff bill was taken up on motion of Aldrich who called up the paragraphs relating to china, crockery, porcelain, etc., which had been passed over.

Aldrich, in behalf of the committee, withdrew the Senate amendments to paragraphs 90 and 91, and stated that the house provisions would be allowed to stand.

The bill was then considered from the point reached yesterday, paragraph 100.

An agreement was reached, striking out the provision that all fluted, rolled, ribbed or rough plate glass when ground or otherwise obscured, shall be subject to the same rate and duty as finished, cast and polished plate glass, unsilvered.

On the paragraph as to unsilvered, cast, polished plate glass, of small size, Jones of Arkansas, moved to reduce the rate from 8 cents per square foot. Jones declared that an increase of duty on the classes of plate glass was astounding. In one case, the rate was increased 83 per cent above the high rate of the McKinley act, which, he asserted, had been repudiated by the people because of its high rates. This was an attempt to raise the price of mirrors used in cheap furniture for poor people, while the large size glass used by people of wealth, had the rates reduced. This was a peculiarity of this whole bill, as though Senators in charge of the bill had in mind the old proverb: "To him who hath much, much shall be given, and, from him who hath little, little shall be taken away."

Jones referred to the enormous dividends declared by the plate-glass trust.

Platt of Connecticut stated that no dividends had been declared for the last three years.

Vest added that the entire plate glass trust with a few trifling exceptions was controlled by a combine which met annually at Pittsburg, making rates.

Jones presented a statement showing that the plate-glass combination had made profits of about $2,500,000 in twenty-two months, on a capital of $2,000,000.

Quay read a communication from a Pittsburg plate-glass company declaring that any statements that it was in the trust or combination in restraint of trade were untrue.

After a lengthy debate Jones' motion to reduce the rate on rough plate-glass from 8 to 5 cents was defeated. Yeas, 21, nays, 29.

Quay made a motion to adjourn over Monday in honor of Decoration day. It was discussed at some length, some Republicans saying they thought the tariff bill should be pressed. The Democrats supported the motion.

Morgan said he regretted that a Republican House of Representatives was compelled to meet Monday by an autocratic rule that a body, which worked like the door-keeper under the direction of the speaker who pulled strings and opened and shut the doors.

Frye called Morgan to order for speaking in that manner of a co-ordinate branch of the Government. The Alabama Senator mentioned several public measures passed by the Senate and not acted on in the House.

Morgan criticized the House for not acting on the Cuban resolution and disregarding the action of the Senate. Morgan said the House of Representatives was compelled to follow the dictates of one man and Congress was dishonoring itself.

Morgan was called to order by Hale. The chair directed the Alabama Senator to take his seat until the rule was read.

Gallinger, in the chair, sustained the point of order.

Morgan appealed from the decision.

Hale withdrew the point but Morgan was cut off by Quay asking a vote on the adjournment resolution which was carried by yeas 34 to 17 noes.

MALOON'S CHARGES.

Clecak Says They Are Not True and Sues Him for Libel.

RESULT OF A PRINTED CARD

A Bitter Arraignment of the Place Run by the Restauranteur.

ARREST WILL BE MADE TONIGHT

Some of the Offenses Which Maloon Says Take Place.

The war that License Inspector Henry Maloon has been waging against those who have been selling liquor without licenses since Maloon was appointed by Mayor Thomas took a sudden turn today when John J. Clecak, the West Oakland restauranteur, swore to a complaint charging Maloon with criminal libel. A warrant will be issued this afternoon and before nightfall Maloon will be arrested.

The charge is based upon an article which appeared in a morning newspaper of the issue of March 17th, over Maloon's signature.

One of the charges made in Maloon's article is as follows:

"If the fathers and mothers of this city knew half the devilry, corruption and vice which are going on in the side rooms of your all night restaurants, such a protest would go up to the Council of this city that an ordinance would be passed to compel you to close at midnight, for more young men and women are ruined in such places as kept by you than in all saloons of this city combined."

A New House.

Plans for the plumbing of a new cottage at Fourteenth and Center streets have been submitted to Inspector Smith by A. R. Denke.

THE DEAL IS MADE.

The Oakland Buys Out the California and Nevada Meat Company.

The Oakland Meat Company this afternoon consummated the purchase of the California & Nevada Meat Company of this city, the consideration being in the neighborhood of $100,000.

This is the deal spoken of in The Tribune a few days ago.

The Oakland Company comprises J. F. Reynolds, F. Carlus and Sam D. Prather.

A REVEL AMID FLOWERS.

Charity in Modish Gowns on the F. M. Smith Elysium.

Arbor Villa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith, has been the mecca of many pilgrims in search of an ideal garden but the thick rose hedge with its brambles and thorns have hidden the glories within as effectually as a beautiful palace of the sleeping princess was hidden in the fairy tales until Prince Charming came and pushed the brambles aside. Charity was the Prince Charming of today and wide were the gates of Arbor Villa thrown open at his magic touch.

The battle of roses began early and far away France with its flower battles and its garden fetes never showed anything prettier than the sight today. Oakland's prettiest girls were in the wide balcony overlooking the driveway and every man had to face a battery not only of bright eyes and pretty smiles but of roses pelted by fair hands. Rose petals of many hues carpeted the gravel path below and dying gave their fragrance to the soft warm air.

In the quaint adobe cottage where the perfume of lilacs is heavy on the air, tea of the fragrant brew of Chinese mandarins was served. Mrs. J. H. T. Watkinson was in charge and assisting her were a number of the society belles and matrons.

At 7 o'clock this evening the fete will be over and the revelry will cease, but by that time the fund for the Central Free Kindergarten will have materially increased and the forlorn, lonesome, sad-eyed children in the lower part of town can look forward to another year of teaching between the four walls of the Kindergarten.

To Mrs. F. M. Smith is due the generous thought of opening her home for the benefit of the Kindergarten in which she takes so keen an interest, and to the following ladies, who assisted in making the fete a successful affair, credit is also due: Mrs. P. D. Browne, president of the Kindergarten Board; Mrs. George Wheaton, secretary; Mrs. Eugene Beck, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Ralston, Mrs. W. G. Henshaw, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. Josiah Stanford, Mrs. J. H. T. Watkinson, Mrs. A. Simpson, Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. W. H. Bailey, Mrs. E. H. Kittredge, Mrs. R. W. Gorrill, Mrs. Gordon Stolp, Miss Carrie Bacon.

CRONIN DYING.

While Nearing Eternity, He Says Bryant Shot Him.

THE VICTIM GROWING WORSE.

Taking His Statement for the Purpose of Prosecuting.

THE PAIN OF THE INJURED MAN.

Sorrowing Relatives Try in Vain to Afford Him Relief.

Deputy Constable Denis Cronin is not expected to live more than twenty-four hours longer, if he lasts that length of time. In fact the physicians almost hourly expect the end. He has declined greatly since yesterday and was so weak and in such pain that it was thought he was dying.

The attending physicians have given up hope of his recovery, though everything possible is being done for him. However little help can be given him at present.

At 3 o'clock this morning Cronin took a decided turn for the worse. The attending physicians believed him dying and at once summoned the young man's wife and relatives. Deputy District Attorney Lin Church and Stenographer Frank Thompson also visited him and the dying statement was at once taken.

Cronin firmly expressed the belief that he was dying and then painfully detailed the circumstances surrounding the shooting. He named James Bryan who is now in the County Jail, as the man who shot him.

The dying statement is in the hands of the District Attorney, but he refuses to make its contents public unless Cronin dies.

The wounded man's wife and sister-in-law are by his bedside, watching every movement and helping as much as is in their power to prolong life.

This afternoon Cronin rallied somewhat, though it may only be temporary. He has just about one chance in a thousand to live. His vigorous physique is in his favor.

If he does not die, he will be a hopeless paralytic for life in all probability. His spinal cord is so badly injured that he has absolutely no control of his body whatever.

During the day he has remained in a semi-conscious state, at times complaining of great pain in the region of the wound.

All hope of extracting the bullet has been given up, for it is realized that a further attempt in this direction might prove fatal.

Bryan, the boy who did the shooting and who is now locked up in the County Jail, seems to realize the seriousness of his crime, now that he is thoroughly sober. He refuses to talk to anyone and has nothing whatever to say about the affair.

McGinnis, his companion whom it seems is largely responsible for the shooting, also maintains a rigid silence.

A WOMAN SCORNED.

A Vermont Young Woman Tries to Murder A Rival.

MONTPELIER, Vt., May 29.—Miss Mildred Brewster, a daughter of a wealthy former of Huntington, today shot and probably fatally wounded Miss Annie Wheeler, of whom she is alleged to have been jealous.

Miss Brewster then turned the revolver on herself, inflicting a possibly fatal wound.

Wants Another Trial.

George F. Cavalli, administrator of the estate of M. J. Finnigan, who died under peculiar circumstances, will ask for a new trial in the suit against the Oakland Consolidated Railroad Company. Finnigan was struck by a Sixteenth street car and some time after died in jail, where he was taken under the presumption that he was drunk. In the recent suit for damages the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant company.

Boys Imprisoned.

Richard and Charles Healy, the youths who were arrested for throwing eggs at passing cars down at the point, were given six hours apiece by Judge Allen this morning. Their companion, Sid Kline, who is older and appears to be the ring leader, was sentenced to serve a day in jail.

THROW LAW TO DOGS

John Frank of San Leandro Has Contempt for Blackstone.

HE LOVES MARIA CRIST.

Though She Is Still a Wife, He Says He Will Wed Her.

REFUSAL OF A LICENSE.

A Deputy's Sharp Ear Prevents an Open Case of Bigamy.

John Frank and Maria Christ, both of San Leandro, called on Deputy County Clerk Mason this morning and wanted a marriage license, but they did not get it. While Mason was filling out the stub, the woman incidentally remarked that she has a husband from whom she has never been divorced, though she has not seen him for four years.

The couple were married in February, 1892, and about a year later, the husband deserted her, going to sea.

A four-year-old child is now all that remains of the union, except the official marriage certificate.

Mason refused the license at once and this stand called forth a burst of wrath from the groom, who evidently had no objection to the woman of his adoration, committing bigamy.

"I'll get a license and marry her anyhow," he declared.

"You won't get one here until she gets a divorce," responded Mason.

"Well I'll fix this divorce business in short order," heatedly retorted the disappointed man.

"I'm going to marry Maria, that's all."

The pair then left the office highly indignant at not obtaining the paper they sought.

SUES THE DORNS.

Mrs. Dorn went security for Ahlborn's faithful performance of his agreement to pay. Now the company is endeavoring to have her make up the deficit.

GOOD CHEER PREVAILS.

The Auspicious Opening of the Center Station Wine Depot.

The Center Station Wine Depot was opened last night at 1466 Seventh street and a large number of the proprietor's friends paid the place an initial visit. A brass band was in attendance and an excellent luncheon was served.

The proprietors, H. Schoenfelder & Son, are well known Oaklanders, having resided in this city for the last seventeen years. The father is one of the best known pioneers in the city, where he has succeeded in gathering about him a host of friends.

Last night these and other friends of the new enterprise were entertained in royal style and the affair was such a success that it will be repeated this evening, when every one will be made welcome. The new depot will make a specialty of supplying family trade and will deliver the choicest wines and liquors to any part of the city free of charge.

THE NEW ST. JOHN'S

Corner Stone Laying Will Take Place Wednesday Next.

UNIQUE NOTE TO ARCHITECTS.

Much Competition but None of the Plans Were Accepted.

MATTHEWS HAS BEEN CHOSEN.

His Ideas Are for a Pretty English Parish Church.

The corner stone of St. John's Church will be laid with appropriate ceremonies next Wednesday afternoon. Invitations have been sent out and many clergymen will be present.

The new St. John's will be a very pretty gothic edifice. Walter J. Mathews has been entrusted with the responsibility of harmonizing the necessities of the congregation, the desires of the finance committee at the same time evolving a building that will be a credit architecturally.

The preliminary work of getting plans has been the cause of some lively competition among local architects. The officers of the church originally sent out a little circular that is spoken of as being one of the most unique ever sent out to architects It stated that plans were invited for a church and that no competitor could have any guarantee that his plans would be returned nor would the officers be responsible.

"This simply meant," said an architect today, "that the officers of the church wanted all but one of the competitors to waste his time without hope of recompense Probabaly no such circular has ever been sent out before."

The officers, however, received twenty-five competitive designs but not one of them was acceptable and so all were rejected. The wardens then decided to place the matter with Walter Mathews and he has his ideas completed although the plans are not yet finished, nor are the contracts let

"The idea throughout," said Mr. Mathews today, "is to have a typical parish church. There is but one true type of Episcopal parish church and that is the one that is found in every little town in England.

"We have decided to have a church built on a lot 100x160 instead of 100x150 as was originally intended. This enables us to have a much more compact church and the sale of the fifty feet will materially add to the building fund. The new building will have seating capacity for 400 and will be strictly Gothic in style, so far as it is possible to follow Gothic details on a wooden structure.

"The chancel will give ample room for a choir of forty boys and there will be guild rooms, vestry, Sunday school rooms and all the necessary departments for a first-class Episcopal church. The roof will be an open timber one somewhat similar to that of the Unitarian Church and the fund of about $10,000 will permit of all these ideas being carried out with completeness and a fair share of ornamental work. This sum does not include anything for furnishing but it is sufficient for a very complete church."

THE BLAIR ESTATE.

It Will Be Partitioned by the Court on Tuesday Next.

On Tuesday Judge Ellsworth will partition the Blair estate. By the decree, which has already been prepared in blank, Mrs. Mabel Squire will get two pieces of land, one containing 104 acres and the other 39 acres. Both are encumbered in the aggregate amounting to $65,000. Florence Blair will receive 49 acres of the home place. This is mortgaged for $10 000 E. A Heron, A. H. Breed and George Nusbaumer, who surveyed and reported on the estate, are each allowed $333.33 for their services, while Fitzgerald & Abbott will be given $5,000 attorney's fees.

The Company Won.

The Oakland Railroad Company has been given a judgment by Judge Hunt in San Francisco, against Jessel Yates, who sued for $5,000 damages, for injuries claimed to have been received in an accident a year and a half ago.

Attorney G. W Baker, represented the company and he ably proved that Yates was not injured to any extent that could be measured by a monied consideration.

A Bicycle Meet.

One of the largest bicycle race meets of the season, will be held at San Jose tomorrow. A number of the best men in the local cycling clubs are entered.

ONCE MORE AT HOME.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman Returns From the East.

THREE WEEKS OF PLEASURE.

The Men He Met in the Capital of the Nation.

HIS IMPRESSIONS OF WHITE.

Feeling of the People With Respect to the Times.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman, pastor of the Market Street Congregational Church, has returned from the East, after a visit extending over twenty-five days. He has had a number of pleasant experiences and spoke of his impressions from the journey as follows to a Tribune representative:

"I went to New York and Boston by way of the sunset," said he, "stopping one day at New Orleans. I spent one day at Washington, and was in the gallery of the Senate when the debate on the Cuban resolution was in progress. I was present when the vote was taken I could not but notice the absence of great men in the Senate, but was pleased with the standing of the California Senators. I heard the great speech of Senator White on the Cuban question and could tell by the attention he received that he is regarded by the other Senators as a man of great ability and learning. The action of the Senate on the Cuban question impressed me as a yielding on the part of that body to feverish public sentiment with the struggling Cubans. During the session, Senator Perkins was called by the Vice-President to the chair and presided for a considerable time.

"I called on Judge Hilborn and found him with his charming wife and daughter, entertaining a company of friends with their usual cordiality.

"I also met the Judge at the Capitol during the session of Congress I met many distinguished public men, members of the Cabinet, Senators and Representatives. It seemed to be a relief to them to meet some one who had no favors to ask, and was not seeking for any position, for himself or friends—surely a source of great enjoyment to me, affording me great freedom in conversation with them.

"I was especially pleased with a remark made by Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department in speaking of his call to the position he now occupies. Said he, 'I did not seek it, I did not desire it, but I accepted the invitation of the President and I am determined to do all in my power for the men who have their coats off—the laboring masses' He assured me he intended to visit California and I assured him of a cordial welcome.

"The country looks bright and beautiful at this season of the year There is a general feeling of expectation for better times. There is great interest in the Christian Endeavor convention, and large numbers will undoubtedly come from the East.

"I went to Bunker Hill, to the old South Church and Faneuil Hall. On my way back I spent two or three days in Defiance county, Ohio, where I was born and spent my childhood and early manhood."

NOTES OF PROGRESS

Many Improvements Needed in Various Parts of the City.

THE VIEWS OF COUNCILMEN.

Bathing In Lake Merritt Will Soon Be Illegal.

ANOTHER ESTUARY BRIDGE.

Obstructing Streets Recently Opened to the Water Front.

The Committee on Ordinance and Judiciary held a meeting last evening and a number of ordinances were recommended to be passed by the Council

It was recommended that the City Attorney be directed to proceed with the case of George Taylor vs Frank K. Mott and other members of the last City Council in regard to the Exempt Firemen

The ordinance prohibiting bathing in Lake Merritt was, on motion of Mr Heitmann, recommended to be passed.

The ordinance directing the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for doing the city printing for the ensuing year was recommended to be passed.

The ordinance reducing the dog license from $2 50 to 25 cents, was, on motion of Mr. Heitmann, laid over

Mr. Girard said he though the tax on horses and cows was excessive and worked a hardship on the poor people.

Mr Fibush's ordinance making it a misdemeanor for children under sixteen to go boating on Lake Merritt or the estuary was amended to make the penalty $20 or ten days

The chicken ordinance was then considered. On motion of Mr Fibush the Fifth Ward was stricken out and on motion of Mr. Heitmann the Fourth Ward was added to the territory where chickens will not be permitted to roam at large

Mr Girard asked that that part of the Second Ward east of San Pablo avenue be added. This was done and the ordinance was recommended to be passed, the prohibited territory now being the First, Third, Fourth and Sixth Wards and that part of the Second Ward east of San Pablo avenue.

KEEPING STREETS OPEN.

The ordinance requiring that livery stables shall be connected with sewers was laid over.

Mr. Heitmann called the attention to the members of the Council present to the fact that many of the property owners were protesting against the action of Payne Shafter of Marin county, who was erecting a building and fence at the foot of Jefferson street. Mr. Heitmann said the people believed that when a street was ordered open it should be kept open The Councilmen agreed to investigate the case.

Shafter was lately given permission to store wood on half of the street and it is alleged that he has taken that permission to mean that he has absolute control of the street.

The ordinance regulating plumbing was laid over, there being no representative from the plumbers' union present.

COMMITTEE ON STREETS

The matter of opening up Fourteenth street from Harrison street to Lake Merritt was laid over.

Mr. Girard said it was his intention to have another thoroughfare to East Oakland. The street, he said, could be opened to the lake and a bridge could be built across that body of water. The matter was delayed to a low Mr. Fibush to confer with the property owners in that district.

The following bids were received for improving Lee street, between Vernon and Adams. Oakland Paving Company, $1,617.20; East Oakland Paving and Contracting Company, $1,762 10; Piedmont Paving Company, $1,678.30.

City Engineer Clement reported that some of the property on Lee street encroached on the street three feet and the matter was referred to City Engineer Clement and City Attorney Dow

It was recommended to the Council that Q. A. Chase et al. be allowed to grade and macadamize by private contract Central avenue, from Summit to Webster streets.

A petition from Albert Miller calling attention to the growth of weeds on Union street between Twelfth and Fourteenth was read and it was decided to direct the Superintendent of Streets to attend to the matter.

The petition from the Twenty-third avenue Improvement Club to widen and bituminize Twenty-third avenue, was laid over to allow Councilman Rowe to see a majority of the property owners on the street.

The widening of the street will have to be done by making the sidewalks two feet narrower. They are at present but twelve feet wide.

Mr. Earl said the people of the Seventh Ward wanted everything in sight. He thought his ward was entitled to as much improvement as the Seventh Ward. Then Mr. Earl brought up the condition of B street which, he said, was overrun with Scotch thistles and it was decided to see the property owners along that street.

A resolution was recommended to the Council authorizing the Superintendent of Streets to notify the property owners on the following streets to construct within fifteen days cement sidewalks six feet wide where not already done in cement or bitumen Pine street, between William and Atlantic; Atlantic, between Pine and Peralta, Wood between Atlantic and Central Pacific Railway Company's right of way.

The petitions to grade and curb with wood East Twenty-first street from Sixteenth to Nineteenth avenues and East Twenty-first from Nineteenth to Twenty-third avenues, were laid over to allow Mr Rowe to investigate.

The resolution of intention to remacadamize Webster street from the estuary to Seventh street was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Heitmann, Watkins and Fibush, who will investigate before the next meeting of the Committee.

The resolution directing the City Engineer to prepare a resolution of intention to improve the southerly half of East Eleventh street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues was recommended. It was also recommended to grade and curb Howard street, between Prospect and Brooklyn avenues.

Then the matter of paving East Twelfth street with red wood blocks was brought up and after considerable discussion as to the relative merits of blocks and bitumen, the blocks were recommended, Messrs. Rowe, Cuvellier, and Hennebery voting to recommend the blocks and Messrs. Heitmann and Earl refusing to vote.

It was recommended that a resolution of intention be drawn to sewer East Eleventh street, between Eleventh and Thirteenth avenues

AUDITING AND FINANCE.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the Committee on Streets the Committee on Finance held a short session.

The resolution ordering the City Clerk to purchase election supplies was recommended for passage.

The matter of transferring certain bond interest money to the general fund was recommended, Auditor Snow explaining that the transfer was simply a matter of bookkeeping.

The resolution rescinding the resolution authorizing the City Treasurer to employ extra clerks was recommended. The resolution rescinded was vetoed by Mayor Thomas.

The claim of Daniel T. Moyer for $30 collected on an erroneous assessment was referred to the Assessor and City Attorney.

It was recommended to the Council that $100 be appropriated for use of the City Attorney in carrying on the city's cases now pending in the courts.

OTHER COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Municipal License met for a few minutes.

It was recommended that the resolution requiring applications for saloon licenses contain a diagram of the location of the saloon in the block, be passed by the Council.

The Committee on Fire and Water then met and considered the question of which of the hydants in the center of the city should be given to each of the two water companys.

A DAY WITH SCOTIA.

The Caledonian Club Holds Its Picnic at Shell Mound.

The Caledonians are holding high revelry at Shell Mound Park today, for this is their thirty-first annual picnic.

During the past thirty years the Scottish residents of San Francisco, Oakland and vicinity have held this annual gathering and have competed in the national games of Scotland. At today's affair, large delegations of the Clan MacDonald and the St. Andrews societies of this city are present. Three thousand dollars has been offered in prizes and the contests are excellent.

A reproduction of Burns' cottage in Ayrshire is a great attraction and contains many mementoes of the Scottish bard

The picnic will continue until evening No picnic given at Shell Mound during the year attracts more interested attendance The games are always well patronized and in every instance the patrons are guaranteed a day of sport which affords relaxation and invigorates the man of labor of mind or hand for the ensuing week.

Prof. and Mrs. J. B. McChesney will spend the summer at Mill Valley.

WERE QUIETLY MARRIED.

Two Young People From Haywards Give That Town a Surprise.

When Martin Welch and Miss Lena Palmtag were given a marriage license Thursday afternoon, the deputy clerk did not know he was an innocent party to an elopement.

When Mr. Welch left Haywards on the morning he sat at one end of the car and told his friend he was going to San Francisco. Miss Palmtag, who is just of age and recently out of the High School, was going to Oakland for her parents to do some shopping. In Oakland they met, procured the license and went to San Leandro where they were married by Rev. Father McAvoy.

The wedding was entirely unexpected and is a source of great grief to Mrs. Welch's parents who had not looked with favor on young Martin's attentions to their daughter The Palmtags are leading members of the Entre Nous Club and the father is a wealthy brewer and property owner. Young Welch is an electric lineman.

FIGHT FOR A GAS WORKS

The San Leandro Concern Becomes a Bone of Contention.

An Attempt to Get Williams and Tassel Out of the Way.

The attempt to supply gas to consumers through a nickel-in-the-slot device has proved a dismal failure, so far as San Leandro is concerned at least, for this afternoon the San Leandro Gas and Electric Light Company started suit against H. W. Williams, H. G. Tassell et al, for the purpose of ousting them from the control of the San Leandro Gas Works.

The complaint recites the fact that prior to August 26, 1896, W. J. Landers was the sole owner of the gas works. On that date, an agreement was entered into between the plaintiff and defendants to dispose of the stock to the defendants for $12,000, to be paid within four years.

Williams and Tassell were to put in a new system for producing the gas and for distributing it, within ninety days. While the installments of the purchase price were being paid, interest on the whole amount was to be collected monthly.

On November 1, 1896, the defendants took possession, and all went well until the new owners occasionally had no gas to give consumers. Matters came to a head in April of this year, when the $60 monthly interest was not forthcoming.

Mr. Landers alleges that the firm is insolvent, and that it has failed to keep its contract with him. As the new owners did not pay the bills, the place was attached, and is now in charge of a constable, who has been in possession for the past three weeks.

Fearing damage suits, the plaintiff has had the works operated himself for some time.

Now he asks for a temporary restraining order immediately, and later a permanent injunction prohibiting Williams or Tassell from interfering with the plant. He also wants the court to annul the agreement entered into.

CAUGHT BY QUINLAN.

An Alameda Burglar Comes to Grief and Is Now in Jail.

Charles Wheeler alias Ed Nickels, is lodged in the county jail, charged with burglarizing the home of Mrs. Colby at 1118 Lafayette street, Alameda. The robbery was committed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and three hours later, Deputy Sheriff Quinlan arrested the man in Fruitvale.

Wheeler is little more than a boy, being but 19 years old, though he is not unknown to the officers, especially in Santa Clara county, where he was but recently released from jail.

The stolen articles were found on the prisoner when he was searched. He admitted the crime when confronted with the evidence against him.

The stolen articles are: A lady's head chain, pair of gold bracelets, two pairs of eye glasses, ladies gloves, card case, half dozen handkerchiefs and two opera glasses.

USED BAD LANGUAGE.

Mary Flaherty, who was tried for insanity and discharged yesterday will be arrested for disturbing the peace and using vulgar language. The complaint is signed by Gus Thaler. The Thalers and Flahertys are neighbors at Eighteenth and Cypress streets and it was on complaint of the Thalers that Mary was examined as to her sanity. Upon being released it is claimed that Mary went around to the Thaler home and said a number of uncomplimentary things about the Thaler family, not stopping to choose her words.

Goes to Reform.

Gordon A. Williamson, a fourteen-year-old lad, was committed to the Preston School today. He is a young incorrigible and has a penchant for stealing. On the stand his mother, Mrs. Martin, testified to the theft of a pig by the boy.

"Oh, fly with me" will possess much additional interest for romantic elopers when air ships become common.

Chico must consider itself very isolated. The Record, under the head of foreign news, publishes an item from Sacramento, another from Modesto, and two from Watsonville.

Ideas of justice differ. At Randsburg there is a feeling of indignation against the sheriff because he spirited a murderer from a mob that was not disposed to accord him his citizen's right of trial.

A pledge is being circulated from Chicago that youth of both sexes should sign and keep. Here it is: "I promise until I am of age to protect wild birds. I promise not to rob their nests nor wear their plumage."

Pope Leo has written an essay on how to be healthy and live to an advanced age. His words carry the weight of his own personal experiences and whether they will bring about the result claimed or not they are of a nature that will receive the endorsement of every physician.

The Irish parliamentary party declines to participate in the jubilee festivities on the ground that the event "is mainly an imperial jubilation over the development of the principles of self-government and the growth of property, wealth and comfort, in which Ireland has not shared."

There is more unconscious wit in the world than most people are aware of. These two advertisements appear in the same edition of a Tacoma paper:

"Wanted, a large boy to fire under a boiler."

A dentist declares that he "spares no pains in treating patients."

James Berry, the Modesto wife-killer, presents a strong contrast to the average California murderer. Instead of taking advantage of the technicalities of the law to prolong his days, he pleaded guilty and expressed great disappointment that he could not be sentenced and hanged right off.

A court at Prescott, Arizona, has a knotty point to solve. A lady has brought suit for damages because she bought a rooster canary guaranteed to sing, and instead of warbling it laid eggs. She declares there was a misrepresentation made and wants the law to straighten out the tangle.

The Englishman who remarked that it was a strange provision of Providence that rivers always flow past great cities would probably now remark that it is lamentable that such is the case in view of the fact that so many of the cities are being washed out by floods. El Paso is the latest sufferer in this respect.

Discussing the project of Claus Spreckels to place families on small farms to grow beets the Kern County Echo says: "They must expect to put up with food and shelter till the crop is harvested and then take much or little according as their work has been thorough and intelligent."

What more does an honest man want?

Another pioneer is dead and a lady purporting to be his widow appears and claims his estate. It would be strange indeed for any old Californian to die without at least one woman claiming his property on the ground that she was his wife. Considering the scarcity of women in California in early days, the pioneers had a remarkable penchant for accumulating them.

The suspicions of the people of Pasadena evidently exceed their confidence in their ability to take care of themselves. The electric railway people have offered to light the city's streets free, which means a saving of $11,000 a year. The citizens have protested against its acceptance, though, because they fear there is "something behind it," though the most astute cannot discover anything.

The Los Angeles Herald makes a good suggestion when it advocates a semi-centennial celebration of the discovery of gold in California. Such an event would attract the attention of the world to the Golden State and bring into greater prominence its history, its phenomenal growth and its vast and varied industries.—Visalia Times.

Everything is good that attracts attention to California.

The San Francisco Labor Council has after careful deliberation decided to warn all workmen against accepting the invitations of the Hawaiian planters. The principal reasons given are that the laws of the Islands are antagonistic to the interests of white labor. The wages offered are in advance of the pay now received by the coolies on the plantations but until the contract labor and penal labor laws are amended or annulled it is regarded as extremely dangerous for American laborers to place themselves in the power of the planters.

THE FIRE DEPARTMENT.

For some time past there has been a deplorable lack of discipline and much disorganization in the Oakland fire department. This condition of affairs has been evidenced by the frequent charges of insubordination that have recently been made by the Chief and his assistant against members of the department. The management of the recent fires has also indicated a lack of efficiency in the Chief and Fire Warden, and an absence of discipline among the men.

The safety and welfare of our city demand that the Fire Commissioners lay aside any differences that may exist between them and reorganize the department by putting competent men in charge. The street brawls and the many personal encounters and recriminations that have been going on for the past couple of months are not only weakening the efficiency of the service but are resulting in holding up our city as a laughing stock throughout the State. The commissioners cannot afford to permit this condition of affairs to continue—the tax payers have placed in their hands the necessary machinery and they must use it. That the present officials are not satisfactory to the board was proved at a recent meeting when a motion made to re-elect the present chief for another term of two years was beated by a two-to-one vote. The members of the board should reach an understanding on the matter at once. There are plenty of good Republicans in town thoroughly competent to fill the places and as it is evident that the present officials must go, the commissioners should harmonize their differences of opinion at once and select successors to those now in charge.

The department is an expensive one to Oakland and the citizens who foot the bills certainly have rights in the premises. The protection from fire that they are supposed to receive in return for the money they expend in supporting the department is now badly discounted by the jangle that is existing. From the uppermost to the lowest branch of the service discord reigns, the men are fearful of offending one side or the other as they do not know which way victory will go, cliques have been established, bitter personal feeling is shown and in fact a general cut-throat policy prevails throughout the entire department. This must be stopped and the only way it can be accomplished will be by removing the present Chief and Fire Warden. The commissioners should do their duty.

Many a poor devil will lick his lips with envy at the account of the manner in which two murderers feasted in the Chicago penitentiary yesterday before going to the scaffold. One had frogs legs, ham and eggs, French mushrooms, fried potatoes, celery, coffee, and a cigar while the other contented himself with fried fish, oatmeal, custard, strawberry shortcake, ice cream, and coffee. Dyspepsia had no horrors for them.

A remarkable but apparently honest defence is being made by the anarchist who tried to assassinate King Humbert last April. He declares his action was prompted solely by hunger and despair and he argues his position as follows: "Had it been premeditated I would have used a bomb instead of a dagger."

A novel system is said to be projected by the Post Office Department. It is to allow the defeated Republican candidates for Congress to select the postmasters in their districts in cases where they were defeated by small majorities. Bowers and McLachlan will, it is understood, name the places in their districts in California.

Here is another indication of the improvement of the times. Dun & Company report that the failures for the present week throughout the United States have only been 214, the smallest in any week since September 1895.

There will be a big howl from the jingoes if the following dispatch received today proves correct: "A Havana cablegram says that Commissioner Calhoun's report will be completely favorably to Spain.

They don't want our American Angell at Constantinople. The Turkish Minister at Washington has notified President McKinley that his selection for the Turkish portfolio is persona non grata to the Sultan.

There will be a vacant throne in Europe very soon. King George is said to be barricaded in his palace and seeking an opportunity to fly from Athens in order to avoid the fury of the populace.

RAILWAYS OF THE WORLD.

It is officially announced that fifty-eight persons were killed in the recent railway accident in Russia.

Two of the highest villages in Great Britain will soon be accessible by railway. These are Leadhills and Wanlockhead.

As a gendarme on his way to jail with a prisoner in Mexico City was about to be run down by a train at a railroad crossing, the prisoner dragged him from the track, saving his life.

Sir Henry Oakley of the Great Northern Railway (England), has agreed to reduce the hours of good guards to sixty per week. The lowest grade is to be abolished and the scale will now begin at 24s a week.

The San Joaquin Valley railroad will soon begin work upon the third longest tunnel in the State. This will be a mile long and will pass under high hills in Contra Costa County. It will be excelled in length only by the Santa Cruz Mountains and Tehachepi tunnels.

The Canadian Pacific Railway lost $1,260,000 in the decline of its wheat shipments in 1896 as compared with the year before. But, on the other hand, it nearly made this large sum up by the increased activity in the mining business of the Northwest. The road will build a branch to the great Kootenay mining district.

Ephraim C. Force of New York, on an assigned claim of Mrs. Olive A. Goodwin, obtained a verdict of $262 against Pullman's Palace Car Company for the loss of a sealskin sack and a boy's overcoat from the sleeper Dongola. The company contended it was not responsible for baggage or wearing apparel unless it was checked. The company also relied on a proviso printed on the ticket that it would not be responsible for articles left unchecked in the cars.

Traveling in a private car is a luxury that may now be enjoyed upon most American railways by any one who will pay eighteen railway fares and for eighteen births and bear the cost of the cook, meat and drink, but it is most frequently by those who can perfectly well afford to pay for it. The charms of this method of getting about may be greatly overrated. One man who rides in a special car says that to travel in that way is not always agreeable.

Topics Which Will Inspire the Ministers of Oakland Tomorrow.

Tomorrow afternoon, at 2 o'clock a grand rally of the League of the Cross Cadets of Alameda County will be held at St. Francis de Sales Hall, at Twenty-second and Grove streets.

A splendid special programme has been arranged for the occasion and among the more important features will be an essay contest on the subject, "What Drunkenness Costs." Representatives from four parishes will compete, the essays being limited to 1,000 words each. The winner will be presented with a silver medal and as the representatives of Alameda County will enter the annual contest for the Archbishop Riordan gold medal which takes place in August. The contestants will be: Corporal J. A. Kennedy, Company N, St. Francis de Sales; Thomas F. Gregory, St. Joseph's, Berkeley; Private James McQuaid, Company F, St. Patrick's; Walter Motts, Sacred Heart, Temescal, Company F, Captain M. J. Hynes and Company N, Captain J. J. Power, will attend in full uniform.

Thomas H. Fallon, chairman of the Executive Committee will preside.

Bishop Nichols confirmed a large class of candidates at St. Paul's Episcopal Church Thursday evening. There were eighteen candidates. At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Bishop preached a short sermon.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at the Annual Convention of the Alameda County Woman's Christian Temperance Union held Wednesday:

"Resolved, That the proper observance of the Christian Sabbath is essential to the best interests of the individual, the home, and the community, therefore we will do all in our power to stop the present fearful tide of Sabbath desecration which threatens the destruction of the commonwealth, and to this end we will work for a State Sabbath law and for the closing of all saloons in Alameda County on the Lord's Day.

"Resolved, That the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union sympathize deeply with the large numbers of worthy men out of employment, and we would respectfully call the attention of the municipal authorities to the same, to the end that if possible some method may be devised to permanently remedy this great evil.

"Resolved, That the defeat of the Constitutional Suffrage Amendment has aroused us to a greater comprehension of the extreme need of women suffrage to elevate the morals of our State as well as a simple matter of justice to the women of the commonwealth.

"Inasmuch as our youth are accustomed to congregate on vacant grounds for the purpose of ball-playing, and, inasmuch as the use of bad language, the drinking of beer and gambling has become prevalent at such ball games,

"Resolved, That the Alameda County Woman's Christian Temperance Union deprecates such bad habits whereas only innocent pleasure should prevail and that we recommend our superintendent of juvenile work to use such means as are found best to eradicate the evils.

"Resolved, As it comes to the knowledge of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union that boys of the age of twelve years and upwards are found frequenting billiard saloons at the same time that older men are there smoking and gambling, and inasmuch as these billiard rooms are generally next door to a saloon and thus become the kindergarten of the saloon, we urge upon parents the necessity of knowing where their boys are after 6 o'clock in the evening.

"Resolved, As neither the Christian Union nor any Christian organization may give countenance to any disreputable or unholy business, therefore we the members of the Alameda Woman's Christian Temperance Union do most earnestly protest against any liquor dealer of Oakland, having any place on any Committee of Arrangements for entertaining the National Christian Endeavor Society expected to visit our city in July next. To have any liquor dealer on such a Committee will bring reproach upon Christianity as well as upon the great Christian Endeavor Society composed of the best young people of the Nation.

"Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are most heartily tendered to the East Oakland Union for their generous entertainment and also those ladies and gentlemen who assisted to make the medal contest interesting and special thanks for the excellent music provided."

When a man is ruined and there is no help for it, a good wife is the one stay and comfort left to him. But no man, who is a man, wants to put his wife to this extremity. For woman in her gentle nature suffers with the husband she comforts and consoles. It is a humiliation to any proud woman that the man of her choice should prove at last a failure—broken in purse and in spirit. Back of all business failures lies ill-health. No man who is suffering from brain fag, nervous prostration and debility, due to impure blood and a disordered digestion can long succeed in business. Every woman should make it her duty to see that her husband takes proper care of his health.

The best medicine in all the world for hard-worked business men is Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It is medicine for both body and mind. It makes the digestion good, the liver active, and the appetite keen. It fills the blood with the life-giving elements that build new tissues. It invigorates and purifies. It is the one great blood-maker and flesh-builder. There's nothing in the market "just as good."

A. L. Purdy, Esq., of Otterpond, Caldwell Co., Ky., writes: "I herewith inclose 31 one-cent stamps to pay postage on one of your cloth-bound Medical Advisers. I know your book to be a good one. I had suffered seven years with liver complaint when I read about your 'Golden Medical Discovery' in one of your books. After using a few bottles of the 'Discovery' and three vials of the 'Pleasant Pellets' I was completely cured."

One copy of a good, practical, medical work is worth more in a home than a thousand works of fiction. Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser is the best home medical book extant. It contains 1,008 pages and three hundred illustrations and is written in plain, everyday language that any one may understand. Over a million women own copies of it and 680,000 of them paid $1.50 each for their copies. A new and large edition will be given away absolutely FREE. If you want a copy in a paper cover, send twenty-one one-cent stamps, to cover cost of mailing only, to the World's Dispensary Medical Association, No. 663 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y. If you desire a fine French cloth binding, send 10 cents extra—thirty-one cents in all.

Recovery Would Seem Like a Miracle Yet Hood's Sarsaparilla Cured

"I had been in very poor health for several years, and two summers I was so weak I was obliged to lie in bed 3 months at a time. I was all run down, had lasting for an hour at a time. The doctors thought the trouble came from my heart. I used to say that if I could only be up around, I should be so thankful, and that it would seem like a miracle if I should be well. The neighbors all know of the poor health I had been in, and how much better I am now. I had asthma for many years, and some nights

I Could Not Sleep

my breathing was attended with so much difficulty. Sometimes I would have to sit bolt upright in bed. As my general health grew poorer, my asthma grew worse. I had kidney and other troubles and seemed to be generally 'out of sorts.' I heard so much of Hood's Sarsaparilla that I decided to try it, and I experienced great benefit from it. I have recommended it to many people, and I cannot say too much in praise of Hood's Sarsaparilla. I have not been in bed for over a year on account of illness." MRS. S. WATSON, 423 S. STARTED A SCARE.

Ray Baker and Roy Macdonald Are Mistaken for Footpads.

Ray Baker and Roy Macdonald do not look much like highwaymen as they stroll down Broadway but in the dead of night on a lonely road they can assume the characters well enough to give the police some trouble. They have just had a little experience that does not seem to have had any pleasant features at the time, for any of the participants, though now it is all over it is regarded as a good joke.

Baker and Macdonald had been calling in Alameda and prolonged their stay to an hour so late that the cars had stopped running. Sooner than trip the light fantastic over the lonely marsh road that separates the Encinal City from their homes in Oakland they went to the power house of the electric road and endeavored to charter a special car. Receiver Saxton, though would not entertain the proposition and as there was no other means of locomotion in sight they decided to "hoof it."

They had not gone far when they saw a hack coming up the "cut off" road from Alameda and heading for Oakland. In the hope that it was disengaged they ran towards it and then came the trouble. The hackman with his mind full of the recent hold-ups and nocturnal robberies at once concluded that the two sprinters were the marauders and that they intended to gather him into their fold. He therefore whipped up and made all haste for Oakland where he notified the police and Officer Baker at once set forth to capture the desperadoes.

Explanations followed naturally in due time and when the hackman learned that he had unintentionally missed a good fare he was so despondent that fears were entertained for his sobriety.

CONSUMPTIVE COWS.

A Number of Affected Bovines Will Be Slaughtered Tomorrow.

Sixteen consumptive cows are in the West Berkeley boneyards waiting for the executioner's axe. Tomorrow members of the City Council, the Board of Health and prominent officials will examine the diseased animals. Dr. B. Rowell of the Berkeley Health office, Dr. James Dunn, the Oakland Health officer and Dr. C. C. Breneman, the Health officer of Contra Costa county, will conduct the autopsy, demonstrating the existence of tuberculosis.

The party of invited guests will start from Twelfth and Broadway at 9 A. M.

PICTURES NOT SOLD.

Editor Tribune—Sir: Will you kindly give space in your excellent paper for a correction of the statement contained in your Thursday evening's issue, that at the sale of the school furniture of Snell Seminary some "class pictures" were sold. These pictures representing those who have become endeared to me by years of close association in the home and the class room are priceless, and it would grieve me sincerely if any of these dear girls of mine could believe that I would be willing to part with these sweet mementoes which are reckoned among my best treasures. Very respectfully,

MARY E. SNELL.

Flags and Flowers.

There will be a special service commemorative of Decoration Day in the Church of the Advent, East Oakland, Sunday, May 30th in the evening at 7.30. The Rector, Rev. V. Marshall Law, says he is not running in opposition to any central service which the Grand Army members have, but that as all cannot attend such a central Oakland service who would like to, the East Oakland Episcopal Church will have a service for such. Three speakers have been arranged for, two from the Grand Army Veterans, and one who was in the Confederate Army. This latter is by a particular and kindly request of some of the Grand Army people. The church will be decorated with flags and flowers, and the Episcopal Hymnal will furnish the music.

In Memoriam

The ladies of Lyon Relief Corps held their annual services Tuesday afternoon in honor of the members who have died during the year. Two vacant chairs, one decorated in white, the other in pink, were placed in honor of Mrs. Bixby and Mrs. Kalb, the two deceased members.

Mrs. Blake-Alverson rendered two solos in her usual sympathetic manner. Mrs. Shipley, in the address of the day, gave an eloquent eulogy of the deceased members, and the services were closed with an appropriate song in which the audience joined.

AMERICANS AS A RULE

Are Not Favorably Disposed Towards Counterfeits,

Either counterfeit money or counterfeit goods of any kind. The United States Court, sitting at Rochester, New York, has ordered an injunction against the sale of Grain-O in packages made to imitate the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee packages.

The counterfeit in this case was put out in packages having the red seals and much of the wording of Postum, and the nondiscriminating public have been given this or some one of the other various imitations when calling at the stores for the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee.

These makers of articles to furnish grocers with which to "substitute" for some original article have little idea of hygienic or food value in a Creal Coffee. Some counterfeits are offered in place of Postum because the package weighs two pounds, while the genuine package weighs but 1¼ pounds. One counterfeit two-pound package looks like browned rye kernals ground. It is probably harmless enough but no idea of food value is there. Postum is made by skillful food experts, 70 per cent being secured from the parts of the cereals containing the albumen and phosphates required by the human body to rebuild the gray matter in the nerve cells. This part also produces the diastase which digests starch. That's why Postum "makes red blood" and why thoughtful people use it regularly. Buyers should look for the red seals and the registered United States trade mark.

Grocers sell the original and genuine Postum at 15 and 25 cents a package.

THE PRYAL ELECTRIC CO.

A Well Known Organization That Is Popular and Reliable.

The fact that electricity is more economical than gas is as fully sustained by experience as the other fact that electricity is superior as an illuminator, and the third and other fact that the Pryal Electric Co. is doing a land office business in placing plants and inaugurating electric systems brings together three facts which property owners should cheerfully consider. The manager, Chas. L. Pryal, is an electrician of judgment and experience, conscientious and clever in his work, and his staff of assistants men chosen for their ability in their lines of effort.

This company has just installed an admirable system of electrical lighting in the Tribune office, has completely wired Hamilton Hall with a system similar to that of the Macdonough, the work being done under the able supervision of C. L. Gilson, superintendent of construction and constituting one of the largest jobs ever done in this city. Fan motors and electric lights have also been installed in the Pearl Oyster House. The company deals in all kinds of motors, has a reliable repair department and is recommended for good work and fair prices.

A POSTOFFICE PRIZE.

Much Rivalry to Fill the Vacancy in San Francisco.

The death of Frank McCoppin has given a fresh impetus to the scramble for the postmastership of San Francisco. The most prominent candidates are Samuel W. Backus, W. W. Dodge, John T. Dare, Charles F. Bassett and B. F. McKinley.

Senator Perkins is believed to favor Bassett but says he will endorse any good man named by Congressman Loud and Committeeman Spreckels. It is believed that John T. Dare is the first choice of those two gentlemen for although Dare and Dodge were candidates for the appraisership each man would now like to be postmaster. W. W. Montague was Spreckels' original selection for the place, but he would not accept and recommended Dodge instead.

B. F. McKinley's principal chance seems to be that he is the uncle of the President. He has, however, been well backed by local Republicans and is certainly in the running.

COMING NUPTIAL EVENTS.

A Chatty Review of the Week With a Forecast by the Meddler.

Two events have made this into a brilliant week—Mrs. McNear's huge tea and the garden party at Arbor Villa. At the McNear's on Wednesday there were 800 guests half of them men, which we all like. It was a very charming tea—the house prettily decorated and densely crowded, of course. In a sense it was a farewell, as I understand the McNears leave for the Islands soon. There was a large receiving party mostly of the older women, assisted by the younger ones, and some of the stunning gowns that distinguish the older set.

* * *

The fete at Arbor Villa was a great success. There was an open air promenade concert, with the Presidio band, a bataille des fleures, tennis, croquet, dancing, donkey riding, skipping rope and afternoon tea. They say many men are of many minds and most women have one more, but there should be variety enough here to satisfy anyone. The hours are from two until seven and the Frank Smith grounds are very beautiful just now. The whole affair was for the benefit of the Central Kindergarten—I have already given you the names of the patronesses. The admission was fifty cents and twenty-five. The grounds alone were worth it and it was a very fashionable affair.

* * *

Derby Day last week was very successful and the Pablolits made lots of money. I hope the kindergartens will be as successful.

* * *

The Ellsworth-Mastick marriage in Alameda on Wednesday afternoon was very pretty. It took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otis, 1609 Santa Clara avenue. Mrs Otis is the bride's aunt. It was a pink and white wedding, the bride wearing white organdie over white silk. Her bouquet was of bride roses, her only jewels being a diamond sunburst, the groom's gift. Miss Susan Ellsworth the groom's sister, was the bridesmaid, in a white organdie gown over pink silk, with pink ribbons. Charles J Evans was best man. Rev W. W Scudder performed the marriage ceremony, the bridal party standing under a lover's knot of La France roses. The groom is a San Francisco attorney, whose family resides at Niles. The honeymoon will be spent in Southern California. On their return the couple will keep house at Sixteenth and Linden streets, Oakland.

* * *

There was a very charming dance at the McDermott's Eighth and Center streets, on Friday evening. It was for the young ladies and there were seventy-five there—just a pleasant dancing crowd.

* * *

Next week there is to be a very swell dinner at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Hall on Grove street.

* * *

This week closed the active work in the Ebell, as the vacation months of the society commence the first of June. The luncheon last Tuesday was largely attended, the auditorium being filled with the members and their guests. The hostess, Mrs. Benjamin Knight, was assisted by Mrs W. E Sharon, Mrs O. W. Pierry, Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Miss Knight, Miss Crellin and Miss Mona Crellin. The old board of directors received the incoming board and happy responses were made to the call of the president Mrs G W. Bunnell, by the different members. The speech makers were Mrs Paul Lohse, Mrs. Trowbridge and Mrs. Pinney, who read an exceedingly interesting letter from a Greek lady residing in Athens. The letter told much of the doing of patriotic Greek women and asked aid and sympathy of the Ebell ladies in far-off California.

The tables were charmingly decorated with sweet peas and roses and the luncheon menu was extensive and very much enjoyed. The programme that followed was unusually good. The artistic playing of Miss Pauline Collins and the singing of Mrs Fleissner-Lewis, Miss Florence Sharon, Mrs Montague Turner and Miss Reiffe-Byler, elicited much applause. Mrs. Howard Bray also gave much pleasure by her charming rendering of one of Rudyard Kiplings poems, "The Rivals." Mrs. Turner who sang is a sister of Mrs Alexander and also from the Hawaiian Islands. She sang a selection from "Mignon" and has a beautiful voice. Miss Byler has a really exquisite voice. Mrs. Bray received an encore.

These informal Tuesday luncheons have become distinctive features of the Ebell and are exceedingly popular.

The crowd, as I said, was exceedingly large. Although 100 may be seated at once, it was necessary to have a second table. Some of the gowns were very stunning. Mrs. Chas D. Pierce looked exceedingly well. Mrs. Henry Butters wore a toilette of dark cloth and some beautiful jewels, notably a brooch, earrings, bonnet pins and rings of large turquoises surrounded by diamonds.

* * *

The scholarly young people have been having great good times this week. First a word of regret for Snell Seminary which is no more. The big and prosperous institution has dwindled and dwindled, until latterly it ceased to pay. And for a second time the auctioneer's hammer has been heard in the old Merritt house. Most of the teaching force has gone to Van Ness Seminary. It's a great pity but the fun and frolic and hum of study once heard in the Twelfth street institution will be heard no more.

* * *

Mills College gave a very charming concert on Tuesday and the graduating exercises followed Wednesday. The girls were very pretty in their white organdies and mulls over white silk. Some of the undergraduates looked very pretty, too, with flowered organdies over colors.

* * *

The High School young people had a very informal and pleasant graduating and a novel class day, when Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," as revised and adapted by Raymond Russ, was played by clever young amateurs. So well did Mr. Russ, who is a teacher in the institution, do that many people said he had outrivaled Goldsmith, surely a notable compliment. People who have attended the High School exercises for years said it was the best and most artistic class day ever given. Every part was well taken.

Beatrice Vrooman, Stanly Coghill, and quite a number of the Jackson street children were members of the class.

* * *

The Greek letter girls had a great time at the home of Mrs. A. A. Moore on Friday night. The family was all away and the girls had the whole of the big house to themselves and a great time in consequence. An elaborate dinner was set for twenty-five, and those girls enjoyed themselves quite as much as at a certain stag banquet I told about in whispers a week or two ago. Only, of course, the joy was of a different grade, and not so moist by a good deal.

* * *

A luncheon was given this week by the ladies who participated in the Ebell cantata last week. It was a very pleasant ending for the somewhat arduous rehearsals. There were pretty decorations, pretty gowns, and pretty speeches. Only participants in the cantata were present and the soloists were toasted.

The luncheon was held in the rooms of the Ebell.

* * *

Mrs. Tom Magee, Jr., and Mrs William Magee gave a lawn party at the Haywards club house on Thursday in honor of Misses Jean and Florence Hush. All the younger set was there, among them Miss Florence Sharon, Miss Blanche Sharon, Miss Genevieve Fore, Miss Harriet Kittredge, Miss Margaret Sinclair, Miss Annie Clay, Miss Grace Gorrill, Miss Grace Sanborn, Miss Grace Baldwin, Miss Etta Havens, Miss Beatrice Vrooman and Miss Irene Baker.

* * *

The Kindergarten Training school gave a reception on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 on Franklin street. Light refreshments were served and there was quite a crowd.

* * *

On Thursday, too, Mrs. S. P. Hughes gave a reception in honor of Mme. Camilla Urso, the violin virtuoso. There were many guests and another set enjoyed meeting Mme. Urso quite as much as had those who received cards to Mrs. Will Magee's tea in her home some weeks ago. The house was prettily decorated.

* * *

On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock the Wednesday Morning Club composed of musical ladies, gave its first open rehearsal, as the affair was unostentatiously called, at the Reliance Club. It was very successful, and there was a large and fashionable crowd. Benj. Clark is the director and the soloists were Miss Mary I. Sullivan, soprano; Mrs. B G. Lathrop, Jr., mezzo-soprano, and B G. Lathrop, Jr., violinist. Mrs. Lathrop is well known in Berkeley as Belle Harris, under which name she once cut quite a dash in the college town. She married little Ben Lathrop, a college lad, and always a clever violinist. The engagement caused quite a sensation at the time, as Lathrop was but 20; they lived for a while with his parents on a ranch.

The members of the Wednesday Morning Club are:

Soprano—Miss M. T. Sullivan, Mrs. B. G. Lathrop, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Armes, Miss E. Ward, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Miss E. Bates, Miss M. Williams, Miss H. Borland, Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, Miss J. Barstow, Mrs. Starkweather, Mrs. Parker, Miss C. Clark, Miss M. Morse.

Contralto—Mrs. J. J. Warner, Miss Benner, Miss F. Rae, Miss G. Halsey, Mrs. M. Clement, Miss A. L. Phelan, Miss M. F. Wheaton, Miss H. A. Sutherland.

* * *

There are to be various weddings in June. Miss English will be married on June 1st, Olive Reed on June 16th and Jessie Coleman on June 23d. Two Wednesday and a Tuesday bridal. The Coleman wedding is to be painfully small, to our infinte regret—just the two families and a few intimates. But crepe is too recent to permit of much champagne and jollification. Why is a small wedding, when there is champagne and truffles, considered more mournful than three or four hundred people? Will some one please tell me? I can see no difference. Now a marriage before a justice in a black gown, with no maids, no flowers, no jewels, no gifts and no supper—that would be truly a mourning ceremony. But it wouldn't seem much like a marriage, and heaven knows we are prone to feel little enough married these days anyway. But when it comes to gowns and veils, flowers and bridesmaids, gifts and a feast, then I cannot see why one draws the line at one's friends on tiptoe with curiosity and good wishes, and calls a wedding with forty people. "So quiet, you know, my dear, as we're just out of mourning;" while raising the hands in holy horror at a gathering of the 399.

* * *

And now I must tell you of an engagement that will surprise you, although there have been rumors of it abroad for some time. It is now authoritatively announced that Miss Martha Shearer of Yreka and Sam Prather are engaged, and the wedding will take place soon. We all know Sam Prather and he has been considered a bachelor for so long that his present step is quite a surprise. Miss Shearer is a lovely girl and possesses many accomplishments. She is a daughter of the late Judge Shearer, who had large property interests at Yreka. Miss Shearer has made several visits to Oakland and is a very sweet girl.

* * *

Hallock Wright has issued invitations for the marriage of his sister, Miss Helen Elizabeth Wright and Charles Lott Davis, which will take place Tuesday at high noon in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Berkeley. The bridesmaids will be Miss Ella Holmes and Miss Catherine Warfield, and the ushers will comprise Van Zandt Hedley, George Russell Field, George B. De Long and T. Danforth. A wedding breakfast will be served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Wright for the bridal party and relatives.

* * *

The engagement of Miss Myra Noyes Mrs. Fred Hall's pretty sister, to William Yates Sterling, a young naval officer, is emphatically denied. The engagement has been announced very extensively. As soon as the rumored engagement reached Miss Noyes she most indignantly denied it.

* * *

Miss Bernice Landers is back from Honolulu, and I hear that a number of masculine hearts are going pit-a-pat in consequence. Bernice is a stunning girl and immensely popular with the trousered half of humanity. I don't think she is much of a girl's girl, but she wins the men every time.

* * *

By the way, the girls are all reading "Patience Sparhawk," Gertrude Atherton's recent and so-called naughty book. If you see a volume go scurrying under a couch on your arrival, just make up your mind that it is "Patience Sparhawk." You'll be right thirteen times out of twelve. And it isn't so very dreadful, either. It's a case of "Honi soit qui mal y pense." I could see nothing in it but a study of an interesting and very natural woman, frank to be sure and most of it only too true. It seemed to me that best of all, it taught the lesson "Look before you leap."

* * *

But these are merely the cogitations of a shallow young Meddler who probably doesn't know what she is talking about.

At present the whole topic of conversation is "whither away," and organdies, light as cobwebs are being packed in huge trunks with seven gables apiece. I am going to Castle Crags, and if you look carefully under the eaves of that lovely tavern you will find, reading a book and munching apples,

THE MEDDLER.

STINGY CLUB DANCE.

The Stingy Club gave its closing dance for this season Tuesday night at Reed Hall. It was a very pretty affair and there was a large attendance. The dance was in charge of the following officers of the club:

J. F. Heaney, president, J. M Kelley, vice-president, James F. Glover, secretary, C. Kaighin, treasurer.

Reception committee—J. M. Kelley, J. F. Glover, J. A. Martin, T. B. Bibber.

SHATTUCK—LITTLE

On last Sunday afternoon a quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. C. Meyer on Wood street, a friend of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. M. Little. The contracting parties were Frank B. Shattuck, an employee of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the West Oakland Office and Miss Belle Little of San Francisco, daughter of the late Thomas Little, a veteran of the civil war, and granddaughter of the Rev. C. L. Fisher of Santa Barbara. The house was profusely decorated in ivy, roses, lilies and other flowers. The couple stood under an arch of white roses and ivy during the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Hobart of the First Baptist Church, in the presence of the families and friends of both parties.

After the ceremony, a delicious and refreshing repast was partaken of, when toasts and fun held sway until the carriage was announced which took the happy couple to the narrow gauge depot. At their departure, showers of blessings were heaped upon their heads in the shape of rice and old shoes.

At the depot a host of friends met the happy couple with another shower of rice. The honeymoon will be spent in Santa Cruz and Gilroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck will make their home in San Francisco.

Those present at the wedding were E. E. Meyer, best man, Miss Mabel Meyer, bridesmaid, Mrs. Shattuck, mother of the groom, Mrs. E. M Little, mother of the bride, Mrs. L. Hamilton, L Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harlow Grey, Miss Nellie G. Little, Miss Maud Fisher, Mrs. Belle Kendal, Mr. Vernon Kimble, Mrs Minnie Cluff, of Reno, Mrs. C. Meyer Mrs. George Perkins, Mr. and Mrs. Newton.

THE COHEN WEDDING.

The wedding of Miss Ethel Cohen, daughter of Mrs. E. G. Cohen and the late A. A. Cohen to Lieutenant Charles Lyman Bent will take place at 9 o'clock Wednesday evening, June 2d at the First Unitarian Church, San Francisco. The wedding will be a most elaborate affair and will call forth the swell set from the four cities around the bay.

Joullin, the artist, has charge of the decoration and will contrive to make them not only beautiful and artistic but also unique and original. The infantry color, blue, will be used exclusively while flags and stacked arms will give a military touch to the decorations.

Miss Cohen who is a beauty of the stately order, has selected universally pretty girls for bridesmaids. Miss Emma Butler is to the maid of honor, and Miss Julia Crocker, Miss Helen Wagner, Miss Ida Gibbons, Miss Alice Moffitt, Miss Marguerite Jolliffe and Miss Bernie Brown the bridesmaids.

Lieutenant Carson is to be the best man, and Lieutenants Rutherford, Gardner, Nolan, Kilbourne, Croxton and Haines will officiate as ushers.

The music will be a prominent feature of the wedding. William Greer Harrison has written a wedding hymn which H. J. Stewart has set to music. This hymn will be sung by the Lyric Quartette during the ceremony. The bride's gown will be of white satin. The yoke is to be perfectly plain and the corsage completely covered with white tulle laid in tiny puffs.

Miss Butler, the maid of honor, will wear a dainty gown of blue organdie. The bridesmaids will be attired alike in white organdie. All the attendants will wear bridesmaid's veils, those becoming half veils, thrown back from the face, and so fashionable at swell English weddings.

THE ABBEY PARTY.

Mrs. William Abbey of Newark was tendered a surprise party Monday evening. Among those present were Mr. Anderson and Miss Anderson, Mrs. Beach of Los Gatos Mr and Mrs. Larkin of Newark and Miss Elsie of San Francisco, Mr Comfort Healey, Mr. O. F. Moulton, Mr. Theodore Williams, Mr. George Ryan and family and Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Thompson.

A GOLDEN WEDDING.

The fiftieth anniversary of a wedding which took place in Louisville, Kentucky was celebrated by Mr. and Mrs. Adam Merz last Monday at their residence in Alameda. Many of the friends of the couple were present, ready with their congratulations.

THE GARRETTE RECEPTION.

A reception was given by the Ladies' Missionary Church at the home of Mrs. E. Y. Garrette last Friday afternoon. Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Wolf exhibited curios from Alaska. Miss Caugle told of life among the Mormons, Edward Thornton, accompanied by Miss Fannie Mitchell gave a solo, and Miss Chappell gave a reading.

BRADLEY—CLEMENS.

The glad bells of an early summer wedding have awakened the echoes in Reno, Nevada, and Miss Maud Bradley, formerly attendant at Snell's Seminary and well known socially in this city has gone forth a bride with the blessing of two communities.

At 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night she was united in marriage to Jay H. Clemens, until recently of this city. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley, and was charming for its very simplicity. Miss Grace Hampden of this city, a schoolmate and lifelong friend of the bride, was the bridesmaid. The wedding was attended by only a very few of the young people's relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemens took the 9 o'clock train for San Francisco and have gone now no one knows whither to spend their honeymoon of several weeks.

Miss Bradley is a grand-daughter of ex-Governor Bradley of Nevada, and a young woman whose graces and gifts have made her very popular. Her father, John Bradley, is an influential cattle dealer of the Sagebrush State and a man who has been prominently identified with the best interests of that district for many years.

Mr. Clemens has been identified with Attorney W. R. Davis here for some time.

It has not been announced as yet where Mr. and Mrs. Clemens will reside.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

The closing exercises of Oakland Kindergarten Training School in charge of Miss Grace Barnard were held Thursday afternoon. The rooms were full of flowers. The front parlor was decorated in yellow marguerites and yellow roses, the refreshment room in pink, with a large net, studded with pink Lady Washingtons across the bay window.

Musical and literary selections made the afternoon pass away quickly. Misses Huggins and Walton, gave a piano and violin solo, Miss Stella Ames gave several readings in her usual happy style, Miss Patterson followed with a beautiful vocal solo, Miss Jenkins performed admirably on the piano and Miss Kelly gave the concluding solo with much charm of manner.

The graduates from the school were: Misses Alice Bell, Annie Brock, Matilda Beaumont, Mary E. Carre, Clara Conoway, Caroline Hawley, Stella Mincher, Essie Rolling and Mrs. W. Wieniawski.

Among those invited were the Golden Gate and Silver street training classes of San Francisco, the California Froebel Society and the Boards of Managers of the Oakland Kindergartens, besides many friends of the school, among whom the following were present:

The graduation of this class will be a decided departure from the ordinary combination of platform display of lovely gowns, a sea of admiring faces before one, the lengthy address, the set presentation speech, the hand clapping and congratulations. The class has decided to keep their essays from ever reaching the public ear, and has therefore retired to the woods today, where they enjoy an outing and receive their diplomas. The essays are as follows Miss Rosling, "Froebel's Religious Teachings," Miss Brock, "Froebelian Discipline," Mrs. Wienlawska, "Kindergarten Training of Mothers;" Miss Beaumont, "The Kindergarten of the Twentieth Century;" Miss Hawley, "Art in the Kindergarten," Miss Conoway, "Kindergarten Plays;" Miss Mincher, "Necessity of Kindergartens for All Classes," Miss Bell, "Child Study in Relation to Kindergartens."

The young ladies will return in time to attend Mrs. F. M. Smith's garden party.

Miss Barnard was presented with a handsome pedestal for her bust of Froebel by the graduates in the afternoon.

MASTICK—ELLSWORTH.

An extremely pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr and Mrs. Frank Otis of Alameda Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Lillian Mastick became the bride of Oliver Ellsworth of Niles. The house was elaborately decorated in pink and white flowers. The porches were screened with ivy and ferns. The hallway was banked in pinks with ivy and bamboo as a background. The reception room was a mass of delicate pink and white sweet peas. The dining room was trimmed with wild oats, marguerites and ferns. The prettiest decorations of all were in the parlors, which were lavishly decorated with pink and white roses, half-blown La France roses were twisted into a lover's knot and beneath this the bridal couple stood, while the Rev. Scudder made them man and wife.

The bride, who is a tall, statuesque beauty, wore a gown of white organdie over silk. Her only jewels were a sunburst of diamonds, the gift of the groom. Her boquet was of bride's roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Susan Ellsworth, a sister of the groom, wore a dainty gown of white organdie over pink silk with pink trimmings. Charles J. Evans of this city was best man.

The old board and the new board of directors occupied places at the long table and the former were the special guests Mrs. Henry Butters, Mrs. Geo. W. THE TWO WALTERS

In this week's Town Talk appears an amusing anecdote in which a visiting hobo mixed the identities of Walter Hobart and Walter Morosco in a comical manner. There is also a half-tone illustration of the prize-winning Morosco six-horse team. On the outer cover is the charming portrait of Miss Laura Leigh Gashwiler, fiancee of Samuel M. Shortridge. "The Ape, the Idiot and Other People," Mr Morrow's new book, is reviewed at length. So bright and diversified are Town Talk's contents that it is difficult to select any special features for praise. All the departments are well conducted and are in every way creditable to journalism. The Saunterer's batch of town tales is as readable as ever.

ACT OF WISE MEN.

W. R. Davis' View of a Vote In Favor of Greater Oakland.

THE SUBJECT OUT AT PIEDMONT

New Districts Not Liable for the City's Bonded Indebtedness.

THE EDUCATIONAL ADVANTAGES

Professor J. P. Garlick Speaks Warmly on the Live Subject.

An enthusiastic meeting under the auspices of the Annexation League was held last night in the Piedmont school house on Cemetery avenue and John street. Two upper class rooms were thrown into one by opening the folding doors, and the desks made good accommodations for a large number of residents of the district, among whom were many ladies.

Edward M. Walsh presided, while J. S. Naismith acted as secretary. After briefly outlining the objects of the meeting, W. R. Davis was called upon to address the gathering on the proposition to annex the outside territory to Oakland.

Mr. Davis told of the benefit to be derived from annexation. He referred to the fire, police and school facilities largely.

'Take for example this school," he said. "I well remember when this school house was built and I sincerely hope that it will never be destroyed. But if, for instance, it should take fire, I hope you will have the full benefit of Oakland's excellent fire department to save it so it can stand until its moss-covered roofs will have outlived their usefulness."

The speaker then showed by illustrations that what would benefit one citizen would benefit all and he urged a spirit of progressiveness which would extend beyond the simple lines of a sanitary district.

"It is your business as much as mine," he went on to say, "to make this land and this section of the State better for our having lived in it.

"It has come to be the run of the times to say 'business is business.' But let me tell you, my friends, there is something a heap more profitable in this world than property and money. There is not a man in the world who will ultimately be happy or prosperous if he shuts his eyes to all the realities and benefits around him, and who will not contribute as in his power lies, to people and things which suffer.

"A man who does lend the helping hand will not look as money as his sole god—his idol. So in settling this question let us not figure this out in dollars and dimes. This is not the way to consider the matter. The proudest boast any man can make here is, 'I am an American citizen' with the instincts and ambitions of an American citizen.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE.

"We have made $400,000 worth of improvements in the city lately for schools. Some will say, 'I don't want to pay part of that indebtedness. Most of you know you won't have to.

"I am going to tell a secret now. I drew up or framed the present annexation law. You won't have to pay one cent of our bonded indebtedness, as it is at present, but you will enjoy the benefits of our improvements thirty-five minutes after you come in.

"You have heard of the dollar limit for taxes. Now in truth our taxes were only 82 cents on the hundred for actual municipal affairs. The other 18 cents was for bonded indebtedness. Not saying that 82 cents is enough to run the city on, but 90 cents would be ample.

"Now, say you, as a citizen, have $2 000 worth of property. This will probably be assessed at $1,000. With the tax rate you will find it costs you less than $1 a month to enjoy all the privileges of our city. Think of it less than you pay for lodge dues and then think of the difference in benefits.

Here Mr. Davis quoted figures to show how Oakland's taxes compared with those of other cities.

"You can figure now that a fair rate to maintain the city government in a fair manner," he continued, "will cost you 90 cents. It might be different if you were thinking of coming into the city with a $2 tax rate. I would think quite a while myself.

LOS ANGELES FIGURES.

"Take Los Angeles, where they pay $1.35 on the hundred. Think, however, what benefits have been derived in the growth and prosperity of the city. I tell you it cannot be measured in cents.

"Now, when you leave this meeting, and see some of the objectors who will immediately bring in the old cry of 'O, it will cost me so much more,' meet them with the argument in showing how much more in value they will receive. Tell them it cannot be measured in coin."

The secretary then read a letter from Myron Holcomb, which heartily favored annexation. The writer advocated a consolidation of the city and county governments, which he believed would be of great benefit to the outside residents.

William O'Connor was next called upon for a few remarks.

He spoke for the laboring men, and told of what added benefits would be derived from joining with the city. He believed every laboring man could easily stand all the taxes imposed upon him if he had continuous work.

"If we get annexed to Oakland," he said "there are four avenues of labor opened to us. Take the police force, the postoffice, the street and fire departments. In all of these they would be eligible, whereas now a workingman cannot get in at all for it is outside of the city. With all the advantages of the city, as well as the opened avenues for labor, I can easily see much more benefit to the outsiders by coming in, for we would be more than recompensed."

Chairman Walsh next spoke briefly, referring to the fact that Oakland has in the past taken good care of its workingmen.

J. P. GARLICK.

County Superintendent of Schools J. P. Garlick was then introduced. He explained the advantages of annexation from the standpoint of education for the children.

"We should do something in this matter which should be of help to others," he said. "The city of London was organized first as a little city, and then another and another, so that the great city of London today is not the big municipality it is supposed. Those who have studied the question of municipal government, all assert that this is the greatest drawback to the prosperity of the place.

"I feel assured the jurisdiction of the city over this school would be of great benefit to this district. In Oakland they have organized one of the best schools in California—The Central Grammar school—where the pupils have an equal opportunity to educate their brains as well as their hands.

"This school is open to every school child in Oakland. So popular is it that it will soon be enlarged and I hope the pupils of the Piedmont district will also be given the privileges of such an education.

"The school is practically the first grade of the High School and any pupil can step from the eighth grade of the Grammar school into this great preparatory institution. Then he can go to the High School without any additional cost. As it is now, you citizens must pay $50 yearly for each child you send to the High School.

"I feel it is of the greatest advantage to us to get within the boundaries of Oakland. There we can enjoy equal advantages with the others and our children will be able to compete with the others on an educational basis.

"It seems to me if annexation carries, it will be the beginning of better times for this part of the county as well as for the city of Oakland."

Secretary Naismith then read from the pamphlet circulated by the Annexation League, giving pertinent facts and figures, and showing conclusively that by coming into Oakland the citizens of the outside territory would be amply repaid.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

A Few Hints Relating to Study in the Public Schools.

Editor Tribune: At the close of the present school year a few suggestions in the educational line might not seem amiss and lead to some beneficial changes and reforms.

The study of modern languages is nowadays considered an essential element of a liberal education, but the present methods of teaching French and German in our High School seem to be entirely inadequate. We are, it is true, accredited in these branches at the U. C., which simply means that after a three years' course in German and French at the High School the pupils are gaining one year when entering the university. However, the students entering there need not understand spoken German and French, reading and translating being the essential requirements.

But what provisions are made for that large majority of High School pupils who begin their battle of life immediately after graduation? Have they been given a fair chance to acquire a practical knowledge of German and French? Decidedly not. Considering the fact that there are at present not less than five teachers of Latin employed in our school department, it would seem only right and just to make also ample provisions for the teaching of French and German along liberal and practical lines.

And in connection with these reflections, I wish to protest here earnestly against one of the German text-books now used in our High School, viz: Guerber's Maehrchen (Fairy Tales.) The book is simply an abominable hotch-potch, and it would be difficult to find on any page thereof three consecutive lines of correct, idiomatic German. There are everywhere grossest grammatical errors, prepositions are used with wrong cases—the syntax is glaringly faulty throughout—and the author of the book shows that he does not understand the meaning and correct use of many simple German words. Any fairly educated German must declare such a text-book absolutely worthless after a cursory examination of only a few minutes. Respectfully,

HERMAN GLAUD.

BERNHARDT TESTIFIES.

Declares Her Health Benefited by Paine's Celery Compound.

The enthusiasm and the curiosity provoked by Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has never been equaled in the history of the stage. One talks vaguely of genius, temperament, quick intelligence, passion, nervous mobility, grace, smile, voice, charm, poetry—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has them all.

Bernhardt is today as enthusiastic in her profession as though her career were before her. She works as assiduously during rehearsals as though each performance were her "first night."

No one is more conscientious in all matters pertaining to her life work. She knows the incalculable value of health strength and high spirits as thoroughly as she comprehends the terms of her contracts and no one knows better than she how essential to her artistic success is a vigorous nervous system.

Mme. Bernhardt writes the following letter:

"I beg leave to state that, according to your instructions, I have used Paine's celery compound, and I am convinced that it is the most powerful nerve strengthener that can be found.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I send you my sincere testimonial.

"Truly yours, Sarah Bernhardt."

Good health is within the reach of every one, not only the wealthy and famous, but the poor as well who will rely on Paine's celery compound.

Ill health and disease are not natural. One should not compromise with them. No one should give in to neuralgia, rheumatism or heart trouble when Paine's celery compound is vouched for to drive them entirely out of the system. It has done so in thousands of carefully observed cases.

The nervous debility, sleeplessness and kidney disorder that seems to the sufferer daily and disheartening lose the hopeless desperate character when one takes Paine's celery compound to drive them out of the system.

Many a woman worn out by exciting, anxious work will find her strength brought back in a wonderful manner and her overtaxed nerves regulated and nourished by the use of Paine's celery compound. Paine's celery compound builds and invigorates the tired nervous system and ridicules internal humors from the blood. It makes the appetite hearty and the digestion thorough. It promptly cures indigestion, a shaky condition of the liver and diseases of the stomach, neuralgia and blood impurities. Every place of nervous exhaustion or kidney or liver weakness is removed by Paine's celery compound.

There are no more striking examples of the great practical value of Paine's celery compound than is heard from the lips of women who have been made well by its vitalizing action.

It increases the volume of the blood in the arteries and makes it more capable of feeding the body. It creates a hearty appetite and digs upon the tired nerves and builds the nourishing elements they lack but are slow to extract from the blood when it is in a sluggish unhealthy condition.

The blood becomes ruddy and pure, its circulation is quickened and every function of the body—the brain among the first—feels the fresh influence of returning health from the use of Paine's celery compound.

The exercises opened with the overture from "Tannhauser" which was well rendered by the College Orchestra.

THE TURKS IN EUROPE.

J. J. Greeley chose the interesting topic of "The Turks in Europe." During his discourse, he said:

"The eighth century ushered upon the stage of European history, an epoch so filled with tragedies that all Christendom trembled for its safety. The votaries of the Koran had taken possession of the sacred spots whence Christian teaching first went forth to win the nations of Europe to the Christian fold and then cast their greedy eyes upon the fairest fields of Europe.

"The Nineteenth Century has been a period of severe trial for the Crescent Greece, Servia and Roumania cast off the yoke of Turkish rule. Their struggles for freedom are well known historical facts. After the Hellenes had battled for liberty unaided for years, the three great European powers, France, Russia and England, finally joined their forces and the power of the Turk was crushed at Navarino and Greece was saved. The pride of the Turk was thoroughly humbled, his power was utterly broken. His dominions were reduced and a large part of humanity released from his tyranny and restored to the rights of human beings.

"The terrors of the Crescent have passed away. It received its first check at Lepanto; it faded before the star of Sobieski under the walls of Vienna; and was consumed in flames at the bay of Navarino. The power which once shook the foundations of Christendom, which once overturned imperial thrones, and stretched from the sands of Arabia to the banks of Loire which resisted the mighty arms of the Templars and Hospitallers is now in its last throes of death, and the great deliverance is dawning for which the banded chivalry of Europe fought for centuries and to attain which millions of Christian bones whitened the fields of Asia."

"MATERIALISM."

Thomas Maguire was the next speaker. He chose as his subject, "Materialism." During his address he said:

"The excessive desire to possess riches, robs men of charity, justice and the best attributes of humanity. This passion produces a social tendency, antagonistic to religion, and this tendency manifests itself in the selfish, materialistic spirit which pervades every walk of life.

"Th philosophy of materialism looks upon man as a mere animal, denies the reality of his Creator, casts aside all thoughts of an immortal soul, and destines man but for the grave. Yet how absurd and untenable is the position of the man, who denies reality to all things save matter.

"Observe the nobility of man, formed in soul to the image of his Creator; consider his aspirations, sublime virtues and heroic deeds, and then assert, if you can, that this world is his only home and that the grave marks his final goal as it does that of the animal that grovels at his feet. Again, do the actions of the brute cause nights of worriment and repentance, as do those of the criminal, who though free from prison bars and watches, experiences the torments of an aching heart conscience, a more cruel and relentless accuser, than all earthly persecutors.

"Within man's breast are stored away bright aspirations for the world to come. Such are the hopes that cheer him on to bear with moderation and resignation the misfortunes and afflictions, that befall an unhappy career. His hope of a future state, with its just rewards and blessings, has kindled the spark of energy in many a downcast spirit, that has known the vanity of all things earthly.

"In such an age, it is a duty which every Christian owes to God and his fellow man, to strive to eradicate as far [redacted]

riotism, nor did the battles of the Revolutionary War, so bravely fought and won, alone establish this Republic. The vital sparks of national existence sprang from the germs which had long before been planted on American soil. It came with the sturdy pioneers who braved the sea, the tempests and the storm. The savagery of the Indians, and the harsh and forbidding climate of the Eastern coasts. Our fathers suffered and safely passed through the trial of adversity to build this nation. It now rests with us, their posterity, to see whether we can successfully endure the trials of prosperity without destroying it.

"Loyalty is the noblest, highest, and most generous of human virtues. It is sanctioned by the divine law itself. How ever rich a nation be in worldy goods, though it fill the earth with its power, though it rule the sea in undivided sway, though it explore the firmament with searching eye and tell its secrets and its beauty in inimitable phrase, though it conquer the elements by its genius and harness them by its skill for the service of man, though it produce statesmen brilliant, poets matchless, and warriors unrivalled, yet if its sons are devoid of loyalty and patriotism, if the ideas of right, duty, and justice become obscured in the minds of its people, that nation is a failure and very night unto its fall.

"It was for the sacred rights and privileges guaranteed to us by the Constitution that the battle-fields from Lexington to Yorktown, and from Sumpter to Appomatox, were crimsoned with patriot blood. But! alas, 'tis sad, there are among us those who would deprive us of the privileges guaranteed by our Constitution. They say that Catholics have been disloyal to this land. The deeds of valor and patriotism Catholic heroes,

"A thousand battlefields attest,
A thousand victories show;
How well at liberty's behest,
They fought our country's foe."

"The Soldiers' Chorus" was afterwards rendered by a double quartette comprising W. J. Rattigan, W. P. Sullivan, J. W. Flanagan, G. E. Hayward, J. F. Cone, J. F. Solen, J. J. Hooson and S. P. Young.

"INTERNATIONAL PEACE."

J. J. Hoosen next spoke interestingly on "International Peace."

"The Nineteenth Century has brought about many and great improvements in the condition of all civilized nations. Nevertheless, the peaceful relations we would naturally expect to prevail among the nations in the present state of society have not existed nor are they likely to exist in the near future.

"Dissensions and wars have been general and have followed one another even in our times in quick succession.

"'Peace on earth, good will toward men' announced at the birth of the Savior, has been proclaimed to the nations for nineteen hundred years; but a true and lasting peace has not yet been attained.

"The past year has been remarkable for international disturbances and complications in many parts of the world. Armenia, Cuba, Venezuela, the Transvaal, Abyssinia, the Phillipines, Soudan, Zanzibar and Crete have been the seats of social troubles; verily it has been a year of world disturbances. At times a tremendous conflict of arms has seemed unavoidable.

"The deploring condition of Cuba has continued. The Armenian massacres have been forgotten in the present struggle between Greece and Turkey. The tendency of this struggle is to bring about a general European war, which, if not averted, will totally obliterate the peaceful relations which Christianity has labored to establish since its foundation. It is to be hoped however, that a general war will not result, and that the European powers will intervene and amicably settle the present difficulties.

"Nothing is to be despaired of with Christ as leader. Peace and unification await the human race, for we are all members of the same family. Christianity, the hope of the world, must prevail over jealousies, dissensions, strifes and wars; it must imbue whole races of men and effect the government of the nations with its doctrine of peace. Then, when international peace prevails and war drums sound no longer, we may expect to meet in the parliament of man, in the federation of the world."

Schlepegrell's overture, "Home Circle" was sweetly rendered by the College Orchestra.

NATIONAL ASPIRATIONS.

J. W. Solen spoke on "National Aspirations."

"Nations, like individuals," he said, "have a life, an individuality, a conscience and instincts of their own; they are subjected to the same general laws of development, growth, and even of decay as the individual. As the individual is destined to attain and end by the proper exercise of his faculties, so is every nation given an end to attain, an ideal to realize and the accomplishment of this work is its special destiny or mission.

"Every nation is in a sense, a chosen people of God. The Jews were selected to preserve the primitive traditions in their purity and integrity and from whom the Messiah was to come. The Greeks were the chosen people of God for the development and realization of the beautiful in art and the true in science and philosophy. Greece too aspired for liberty, and its immortal heroic few, on the imperishable field of Marathon, flung back the panoplied hordes of Persia and saved Europe to civilization. She left her impress upon the ages, and until time shall be no more, we will continue to rehearse the songs of her poets, and be thrilled by the periods of her historians, dramatists and orators. And if the present despite adverse fate, the olden spirit of manliness, vigor and upward soaring is not dead and once again."

"It is refreshing in this utilitarian age, this money-getting, trust-forming, syndicate-cursed epoch, to behold some who, in every vicissitude, cling to principal—a glorious remnant that will not bow the knee to Baal or crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning.' It is inspiring to see a people for seven hundred years refusing to wear the collar of the oppressor, hurling back defiance in the teeth of the tyrant and though conquered never yet subdued. Such is Ireland of today. There is still a smile on her lips, though the tears have been crystallized on her cheeks, for there is hope in her valiant heart."

George E. Hayward then rendered "The Song of the Flag," and this feature was followed by "The Jolly Blacksmith," a piano duet by Vincent Arrilage and Louis Aurrecoechea.

"TOLERATION."

The subject of William P. Sullivan's discourse was "Toleration."

"As far back," he said, "as history and traditions extend, we find a spirit of intolerance constantly manifesting itself among all nations and among all classes of people. In the earliest ages the Egyptian was put to death for killing the sacred cat. Grecian intolerance drove a host of sages into exile and compelled Socrates to drink the hemlock. The Hebrew nation put the Savior to death, and the intolerance of the Roman Empire is written with the life blood of thirteen million Christian martyrs.

"Bigotry cannot live in the light of the Nineteenth Century. Those who have striven to resurrect it from the ruins of the past, have by their blatant denunciations, their crass ignorance and gross bad faith, served only to hasten its death knell. Intolerance in its most loathsome form, is a thing of the past. The time has gone by when a man with power enough to look beyond the surface of things can afford to incase himself in its repulsive armor in an attempt to crush out the opinions and principles of another. Public opinion has spoken in no uncertain voice in demanding toleration. The world desires peace and eagerly looks forward to the time when petty wars and religious strife will be things unheard of, when the "fatherhood of God and the brotherhood of man" will be, not only a theory, but an established fact.

"When the knowledge of man becomes more widespread and when we learn 'to bring every thought and every action to the crucible of our conscience and test them in the reagents of a higher and broader knowledge,' we may reasonably hope that intolerance will sink into the tomb of the past, and that the spirit of toleration, which received its birth in the Catholic colony of Maryland, will rise triumphant over its ashes."

"The Bill of Fare" was finely sung by the vocal quartette comprising J. W. Solen, W. J. Rattigan, George E. Hayward, and J. F. Cone.

"DECORATION DAY."

B. J. Flood, then paid his respects to the departed soldiers, who died in their country's defense. In part he said:

"To commemorate the life and deeds of the heroic dead has been the custom of both ancient and modern nations. Patriotism and gratitude are among the sublimest emotions of the human heart. None are more potent in advancing a nation's honor. It was such feelings that prompted the American Republic to institute the observance of Decoration Day. On this mournful occasion, the nation weeps at her soldiers' graves and strews over them the emblems of innocence and immortality.

"As religion not satisfied with honoring the individual dead, crowns her work by a general commemoration which recalls the memory of the innumerable inhabitants of the world beyond the grave, so has our country set apart a day on which to deck with the fairest of May flowers, culled from garden, meadow and glen, the graves of the nation's dead and patriotism consecrates the custom as a national duty.

"In the observance of Decoration Day the American nation not only honors the brave men resting in their graves but teaches the rising generation a lesson in patriotism— teaches it that nothing is more glorious than to lay down one's life for his country—teaches it to guard the trophies won with unswerving fidelity.

"On Decoration Day does the angel of fraternal love visit the house-holds of our nation and all join in honoring the heroic dead whether the heart which now has returned to its kindred dust beat under the Blue or the Gray."

There was rendered a series of plantation songs by the College Orchestra.

At the conclusion of the literary and musical exercises, Archbishop Riordan took his seat upon the stage for the purpose of bestowing the medals and diplomas upon the students. On either side of his grace sat among others, Fathers Connolly of St. Paul's, San Francisco; J. J. Gannon of St. Brendan's of the same place; Rev. F. B. Doherty, St. Patrick's, San Francisco; Maynadien, Washington, D. C., Cull, Cranwell of St. Mary's College, Sullivan of St. John's, Alameda.

The Justin Gold Medal—Bernard J. Flood; next in merit, John J. Greeley; third place, William A. Hughes.

The Alumni gold medal was awarded to John William Solen; next in merit, William A. Hughes.

At the conclusion of the bestowal of [redacted] said had been done with a sense of public duty, he said the young men had received the choicest gift of their alma mater. He would have them understand the idea upon which St. Mary's College was established, that secular training and religious should be daily intermingled and grow into the very texture of their minds and beings. He would have them bear in mind that character is founded on religion. Goodness is better than smartness and virtue of more value than material success. Religion should be the guiding star of their lives, which should bring them to the home of truth and virtue and the higher life. He closed by wishing them happy memories of their alma mater and bright success in life.

Interesting Events in the Career of the Class of '97.

The personnel of the class of '97 is as follows:

Bernard J. Flood is from Hollister, and is twenty years of age. He entered college four years ago and has given great satisfaction to his various professors. He was the star half-back of the college foot ball eleven and captain of the base ball team. His playing ever infused a snap into the players of his team. Mr. Flood enjoys the distinction of winning this year the gold medal for ancient classics. He will adopt the law as a profession.

JOHN J. GREELEY.

John J. Greeley is twenty years of age and a native of San Francisco. His four years at St. Mary's have been characterized by good, hard work in his various studies. He was the manager of the college football team of the past season, and the team under his management lost but one game during the year. Mr. Greeley intends to enter the law college in San Francisco.

JOSEPH J. HOOSON.

Joseph J. Hobson of Haywards is nineteen years of age. He has spent four years at St. Mary's and discussed "International Peace" as his graduating theme. He finishes his college course with the best wishes of all, receiving his Degree of Bachelor of Arts.

WILLIAM A. HUGHES.

William A. Hughes, a young man of twenty-one years of age, is a native of San Francisco. He attended the Sacred Heart College in that city a number of years before coming to St. Mary's, where he has devoted himself principally to the study of the ancient classics. Mr. Hughes intends to enter the seminary to prepare himself for the priesthood.

THOMAS M. MAGUIRE.

Thomas M. Maguire hails from San Francisco and is nineteen years old. He graduated from the Sacred Heart College, one year ago and came to St. Mary's College where he has achieved success, ranking high in the senior class and successfully passing the examination entitling him to receive the degree of A. B. Mr. Maguire intends studying medicine and making surgery a specialty.

J. WILLIAM SOLEN.

J. William Solen, president of his class, is twenty years of age and a resident of Redwood City. He has successfully passed through a four years' course at St. Mary's. He has been the leading tenor of the college quartette for the past three years, and his vocal efforts have always delighted the college students with whom he is a great favorite. Mr. Solen has been president of the Athletic Association of St. Mary's during the past year and, under his successful management, the organization has achieved a pronounced success. If Mr. Solen proves faithful to his natural gifts he cannot fail to win success at the bar for which he intends to prepare himself. Mr. Solen has won this year the alumni gold medal for the best English essay on the subject of "International Arbitration."

WILLIAM P. SULLIVAN.

William P. Sullivan, a native of San Francisco, is eighteen years of age. He graduated from the Sacred Heart College a year ago at the head of his class, secured the medals in all his classes for general excellence and spent but one year at St. Mary's, where he has won this year the Archbishop's medal for the best competition in "Evidence of Religion." Mr. Sullivan will probably pursue a post-graduate course at the college before adopting a profession.

ORIGINAL PLAYS.

A Chance for Alameda County Authors to Achieve Distinction.

Aspiring playwrights who long to see their productions on the stage, will be given an opportunity to have their plays read and the opinion of competent judges passed upon. T. D. Bates, who is manager of the company which has been filling a week's engagement at the Oakland Theater, has offered three prizes for a clever one-act play. The play must not take more than one hour for production and must be written by an amateur playwright. The prizes are $25, $10 and $5 for first, second and third best plays respectively. The selection will be made by competent judges and the plays will be read by a dramatic reader. The author may be present at the reading. Bates agrees to produce the successful plays with best of stage accessories and agrees to allow the author to take part in the production if he or she desires.

The best play will be produced on June 28th, and it is desirable that the manuscript of the play be received twelve days prior to this.

A DAY OUT OF TOWN.

The Picnic of the Oakland Alliances in the Mountains.

Oakland Alliances No. 5 and 16 of the S. Patrick's Alliance will hold their annual picnic tomorrow when they will make an excursion to Sunset Park in the Santa Cruz mountains. The excursion train will leave Fourteenth and Franklin streets at 8:50 A. M. and on the return trip will leave Sunset Park at 6 P. M. These excursions are among the popular which leave this city. The ride is long enough to afford relaxation and the time spent at the park will be sufficient to conduce an excellent outing and enable one to reach home at a seasonable hour in the evening.

A Boyer Reception.

A reception will be given to Dr. Boyer at the Metropole this evening from 8 to 10 by members and friends of the Central Christian Church. All those interested in meeting and becoming acquainted with the doctor are invited to be present.

The series of revival meetings which has continued for the past six weeks, will close tomorrow evening. There has been no emotionalism, but an earnest, sincere appeal to man's reason, as the gospel of Christ has been presented night after night. Nearly forty have been added to the church as a result.

The subject for the morning service tomorrow is "The Poverty of God," and in the evening "The Tent Maker of Tarsus."

Dr. Boyer will take a week to rest and next Sunday will begin a series of meetings at the Christian Church in Alameda.

DIAMONDS GLEAM.

Brilliant Scene at a Banquet Given by Lord Salisbury.

THE JUBILEE PREPARATIONS.

A Million Seats Now Line the Route of the Parade.

POPE LEO ON LONGEVITY.

Apt Advice Given by the Ruler of the Catholic Church.

LONDON, May 29.—The cold weather continues. The Marquis of Salisbury gave a full dress banquet to the Ambassadors and Ministers Plenipotentiary at his residence, 20 Arlington street, on Wednesday last in honor of the Queen's birthday. The Prince of Wales was among those present.

The banquet was followed by a reception at the Foreign Office for which more than 3,000 invitations were issued. It was one of the most brilliant functions of the season and is generally regarded as launching the long list of festivities which will be in full swing until after the jubilee.

The display of diamonds was really magnificent and the brilliancy of the scene was heightened by the fact that all the men were either uniformed or dressed in court dress.

Colonel John Hay, the United States Ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Hay was among the members of the diplomatic corps present.

The jubilee preparations at present are in a state of more or less chaos. The Queen has not yet finally approved any of the programme.

But sight seers stands are going up at every possible place from the basements to above the roofs. Many of the seats are only twenty inches wide and are on the faces of steep buildings.

It is estimated that a million seats now line the route, but their sale is not lively and prices are falling as the arriving Americans are not eager to buy at top prices.

A genuine fire scare prevailed on account of the flimsy stands erected everywhere. An expert who was connected with the fire department for twenty years has written a letter to the newspapers pointing out the danger from fire and especially to the priceless treasures in the National gallery, which is now surrounded by a huge pine structure, several tons of resinous wood being stacked closely against the building.

The list of jubilee honors is definitely closed and notice has been given to aspirants that their names cannot, under any circumstances, be added to the list.

It is stated semi-officially that the kings of Wurtemburg and Portugal, Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria and Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, will be made Knights of the Garter, and that Prince Albert of Prussia and Prince Ruppert of Bavaria will be made Knights of the Grand Cross of the Bath.

The Marquis of Salisbury, the Marquis of Tweedale and the Marquis of Londonderry will be made dukes and Sir John Lubbock and Sir John Gerst will be elevated to the peerage.

The honor of knighthood will be conferred upon hundreds of people, including the Premier of Canada, Mr. Wilfred Laurier and Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, proprietor of the Daily Mail, the Evening News and sixteen other journals.

The Duc d'Alencon, whose wife lost her life during the Charity Bazaar fire in Paris on May 4th last, will, it is said, take holy orders and retire to a monastery.

A PAPAL POEM.

The pope has just completed a Latin poem, of eighty stanzas, pointing out the duties of frugality and the evils of gluttony. The poem is full of charm and quiet humor. His Holiness says, pay attention before all to cleanliness, that the table appointments be spotless, the glass bright and napery immaculate and that from the cellar comes the purest wine of the Albanian hills, "which exhilerates the spirits and keeps away trouble, but don't trust Bacchus, so don't be frugal in diluting wine with water."

He continues: "Obtain from healthy grain well cooked bread, eat sparingly of chicken, lamb and beef, which are most nourishing to the body. Meat should be tender and without abundant sauces or root vegetables, which spoil it.

"Fresh eggs are excellent, whether raw or slightly cooked. Drink an abundant quantity of foaming milk; it nourishes infants and assists old age. Also honey, that celestial gift. But to this frugally. Add to these sweet herbs, fresh vegetables and garden supplies. Add ripe fruit according to season, especially tender apples which with their pink tints, brighten the banquets.

"Lastly, comes drink which in hard seeds mocha sends you a softly sipping, black liquor that comforts the heart."

The Pope adds that by following these precepts a man may live to a healthy, strong and good old age.

The second part of the poem consists in a graphic description of a banquet which is largely composed of oysters, high spiced venison, foie gras, etc., at the end of which there is sometimes strife and contention and almost always bodily disorders.

A LETTER FROM WILDE.

Oscar Wilde has written a three column letter published in the Daily Chronicle regarding the dismissal of a warden of Reading jail for giving biscuits to a hungry child prisoner, Wilde says:

"The cruelty practiced day and night upon children in English prisons is incredible except to those who have witnessed it. The contaminating influence of English prisons is not that of the prisoners, it is that of the whole system of Governor, Chaplain, Warders, lonely cell revolting food, the rules of the prison, the commissioners, the mode of discipline, etc."

Wilde further declares that at Reading a youthful prisoner is being made mad by the system, adding:

"At present it is a horrible duel between himself and the doctor, the doctor fighting for his thory and the man fighting for his life."

Aubrey Beardsley, who has been in bad health for some time is rapidly improving.

Professor Andree, the Arctic balloonist, has left Gothenburg for Spitzbergen, whence he will renew his attempt to reach the North Pole, or rather to pass over it by balloon. Professor Andree is accompanied by Messrs. Strindberg, Swendenberg and Tunkel. They hope to reach Spitzenbergen on June 1st and to be ready to start on their aerial voyage by June 20th, five weeks later than last year. They take a number of carrier pigeons with them and firmly believe that this time they have every chance of success.

THE THEATERS.

The arrival here of the famous brothers Jean and Edouard de Reszke, who are almost as popular here as they are in New York, has given a much-needed impetus to the opera season.

The success of "Secret Service" now at the end of its second week at the Adelphi continues unabated and there is now advance booking for every night of the two week's that remain of the engagement at that theater.

Charles Frohman expresses himself as more than pleased with the way the British public and critics have received the piece. He is now looking for another theater in which to produce it as he must give up the Adelphi on July 12th to Sarah Bernhardt. If he can arrange to cancel his dates for the coming season in America Mr. Frohman will remain with his company in the play "Secret Service" through the summer and ensuing fall and winter. It has now been arranged that "Settled Out of Court," the new comedy drama by Burney, will be produced at the Globe next Thursday at a matinee.

"Change Alley" dealing with the famous South Sea bubble of the last century will be produced in the United States before it is brought out here. The play is by Louis Parker and Murray Carson.

"The Land of Nod," Albert Chevalier's comic opera, will have its premiere at Lincoln next week. Chevalier has written the libretto and lyrics and the music is by Mr. West, the accompanist, who was with Chevalier in the United States but was not allowed to accompany the singer at Koster and Bial's.

The musical event of next week will be the production on Tuesday of "Maid of Athens," at the Opera Comique. It is a musical comedy in two acts.

COAST OPINIONS.

"Do you know how to play Pedro, Mr. Secretary Alger?" asks the Herald. "No, only Solitaire," will reply the secretary.—Santa Monica Outlook.

Among the notable achievements of Californians are the stealing of a barbed wire fence in Stockton, of 3,000 tons of pig iron in Oakland, and a 70-pound anvil in Randsburg.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

The Los Angeles Herald has about as small appreciation of a joke as may be. At the risk of again being accused of the "crime of suggestion," whatever that may be, the Blade would inform the Herald that the squib recently published by this paper and which was evidently taken in sober earnest by the Herald was a joke. Not only was this the case, but it was once used by Mark Twain ages and ages ago.—Santa Ana Blade.

One-fourth of the children of San Francisco of school age attend no school of any kind. That is, more than 18,000 children are growing up in the chief city of the State in absolute ignorance, wholly unprepared for honorable citizenship, and constituting a force dangerous to our institutions. Society should not run such risks. It has a right to protect itself against illiteracy and ignorance, and should exercise the right.—Stockton Mail.

The sentiment for free silver is not on the wane, but is on the increase, in this State. The Democratic party is the only political party today that represents this idea before the people in a pronounced and influential way.—Modesto News.

Editor Smith of the Los Banos Enterprise has gone to Oakland, and the devil, who got out the paper in his absence, is worried lest "he may get lost." It isn't that, but there is danger that he will buy a gold brick. There is no knowing what one of us country newspaper men will do when we go to town.—Fresno Republican.

A Commercial Genius.

"Yes, I have seen some clever magicians in my time," said the man who did his own buying, "but none of them ever came up to my grocer. Why, that man can turn a box of strawberries upside down to show you that they are just as large at the bottom as at the top, but when you've bought the box you find they ain't."—New York Evening Journal.

An English reviewer said of Capt. Mahan's book on sea power that "it is American, and yet quite faultless in point of taste," which leads an American literary paper to remark of a book by the reviewer that "it is British, and therefore not quite faultless in point of good manner."

SWEET SOUNDS AT RESORTS.

Where Melody and Sunshine May Be Enjoyed at the Same Time.

The concert given by the Congregational orchestra was, of course, the star event of the week. However, it has been so extensively commented upon in last evening's Tribune that further reference would be superfluous.

Suffice it to say, that it was the success of the season, and exclusive of Denis O'Sullivan's excellent numbers, the orchestra furnished an entertainment which, in itself, was well worth listening to.

Each concert is a shade better than its predecessor, though all of them so far have been highly enjoyable.

* * *

An informal musicale was given Thursday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. H. Payne in Alameda, by Miss Kate F. Byrne. Miss Byrne sang the Schubert Cycle, "The Maid of the Mill," in a charming style. She was accompanied by Miss Beth Hamilton.

* * *

The first open rehearsal (it was really a concert, modestly announced) given by the Wednesday Morning Club, brought a large number of society people to the Reliance gymnasium. The organization proves to be an aggregation of lady singers, which promises well for the future.

Among the numbers presented were "Down in the Dewy Dell," "Ebb and Flow," "Peggy," "Good Night" and "Estudiantina."

The club is conducted by Ben Clark and the following are the members:

Miss M. I. Sullivan, Mrs. E. G. Lathrop, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Armes, Miss E. Ward, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Miss E. Bates, Miss M. Williams, Miss H. Borland, Miss J. Barstow, Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, Mrs. Starkweather, Mrs. Parker, Miss C. Clark, Miss M. Morse, Mrs. J. J. Warner, Miss Benner, Miss F. Rae, Miss G. Halsey, Mrs. M. Clement, Miss A. C. Phelan, Miss M. F. Wheaton, Miss H. A. Sutherland.

* * *

The ladies' orchestra, now in the process of formation in the Ebell Society, promises to be a very interesting department. W. J. McCoy will be the leader and his ability in this direction will soon be demonstrated. There is plenty of good talent among the members, and a first rate orchestra should be the result of the movement.

THE ENDEAVOR CONCERT.

Great Preparations Are Being Made by the Big Chorus.

The Alameda County section of the great '97 convention chorus is assuming large proportions and the interest is rapidly developing as is evidenced by the attendance at rehearsals every Monday night.

In the First Congregational Church in Oakland last Monday evening, the auditorium was filled with enthusiastic singers, none of whom are not trained which the chorus sang each number, indicated the remarkable progress this body is making under the able leadership of the several choristers in charge.

A. M. Benham, assisted by Messrs. Robinson, Clark, Vesper, and Tebbs have this part of the work to do.

This is an index of what the great choir, now over 1000 strong, will do in five more weeks of careful training.

On Tuesday, July 6th, the concert of this Endeavor chorus will take place and no event in musical circles on this coast have ever equaled the efforts. It seems assured that Mr. Benham with his chorus and orchestra, such as will crowd the great Mechanics Pavilion to its utmost. It is surely the treat of the season.

Tickets are now on sale by the Endeavorers, and these tickets at the price of 50 cents only, admits to the afternoon rehearsal, virtually the concert, as well as the evening performance.

The chorus will be assisted by an orchestra of 150 musicians under the direction of the efficient Mr. McCoy, who now conducts the First Congregational Sunday School orchestra so satisfactorily.

THE ART OF WAR.

A Portland man has invented a new rifle that militia men pronounce the most effective gun yet brought to notice.

The fortifications of Vicksburg, Atlanta and other points in the South were of earthworks, hastily constructed, though the positions chosen were generally of great natural strength.

Capt. Mahan, who has made another great literary success with his "Life of Nelson," says that Moscow and Waterloo were the inevitable consequences of Trafalgar, that greatest of great naval battles.

By an ingenious use of the electric light flashed from a captive balloon, the French have been able to find on the bed of the sea off Toulon not only the torpedo which caused the accident to a warship, but also other torpedoes which caused two previous accidents.

It is proposed to enact a law in Massachusetts under the provisions of which no man shall be permitted to bear a military title unless he has rendered some military service. The application of a similar law in California would figuratively decapitate about one thousand generals and 22,842 colonels.

It has been figured out that it costs the British Government $62 to kill a Kaffir. We are certain that the British Government would make money by letting the killing job out by private contract. The heads could be furnished to show the deeds were done. It has allowed the Turks to kill off 20,000 Armenians without costing it more than a protest, and protests are very low at the present market rates.

The heads of the naval and military departments in England were so impressed with the wholesomeness and superior nutriment of cocoa that, they in 1815 judiciously directed that it should be served out twice or thrice a week to regiments of the line and to the seamen on board her Majesty's ships, and this wise regulation evinced its salutary effects in the improved health and condition of the men.

Since 1874 the United States army has been limited by law to 25,000 men, a very modest force when compared with the enormous standing armies of European countries. Russia's regular force is over 800,000 men; Germany and France have about 500,000 each—there is less than 3,000 difference between them. Austria has 360,000, Italy 260,000, England 190,000 and Spain about 100,000. Even Portugal has more regular soldiers than the United States, and so have Holland, Denmark and Belgium.

Herr Krupp, the so-called cannon king of Essen, having acquired the Germania Company's dockyards at Kiel, is now negotiating with the municipality of that city for the purchase of an immense tract of adjoining land. Herr Krupp proposes not only to move to Kiel his great engine works at Tegel, near Berlin, but to improve the present dockyard accommodations at Kiel to such an extent as to meet all modern requirements. Herr Krupp's object is to make his Kiel establishment the foremost in Germany for the building of German warships, as well as to be able to compete successfully with any British ship yard as far as the merchant marine is concerned. The German Government has already given Herr Krupp an order for a new and fast cruiser.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

A Varied Assortment of Stage Attractions Outlined.

THE SHOW AT THE OAKLAND.

A Chance for People Who Desire to Become Playwrights.

THE SAN FRANCISCO BOARDS.

Many Old Favorites to Appear at the Leading Houses of the Drama.

There will be several theater parties at the Oakland Theater this evening, for Virginia Goodsell has proved an attraction to many members of the society set. "East Lynne" is given a smooth, artistic production. Miss Beatrice Lieb and Carl Smith are admirable in their roles.

Next week the Bacon Company will fill a week's engagement, presenting the "Golden Giant." Miss Virginia Jackson, a charming little actress, will play the part of Bess Fairfax.

The supporting company will consist of F. W. Bacon, Blunkall Scott, Clarke Wyman, Miss Robson, Miss Marie Howe, and Bob Pauline.

The "Golden Giant" is one of the best modern comedy-dramas and is the property of George Osborne, with whom special arrangements are made for its production in this city. The members of the Bacon Company are favorites with Oakland audiences and will be heartily welcomed on the occasion of their return engagement. A matinee will be given Monday afternoon in honor of Decoration Day.

BALDWIN THEATER.

Nat Goodwin brings his engagement to a close at the Baldwin Theater this evening when he presents a varied bill, giving the principal act out of each of the four plays in which he has been seen during his engagement. The house will be closed for one week to reopen the following Monday with the Lilliputians in "The Merry Tramps."

ALCAZAR THEATER.

The Alcazar Theater has been doing an extraordinary business during the past two weeks, as Francis Powers' clever Chinese play, "The First Born," has been a decided attraction. It will be played for another week. It is preceded by a comic little curtain raiser, "The Three Hats," which is excellently acted and is decidedly funny.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Melodrama will reign at Morosco's Grand Opera House next week. "Lost in New York" will be presented with elaborate scenic effects. Maud Edna Hall, who is a clever emotional actress, will play one of the leading roles, and the remainder of the cast will be in excellent hands. There is a strong comedy vein running through the plot. Among the especially beautiful and realistic scenes will be the transformation of the stage into a vast river of water with yachts and launches darting here and there. The effect is said to be unusually beautiful. There will be several new songs and specialties introduced, and without doubt the production will be a most successful one.

THE TIVOLI.

"Martha" will close a successful week's run at the Tivoli tomorrow night. Next week, the pretty comic opera, "Nanon," will be presented. It is a charming opera with plenty of bright attractive music and a lively libretto. It will be presented with entirely new scenery and costumes. There will be several very pretty ballets.

THE ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum has an excellent array of talent on this week. Mlle. Omene is a clever sleight of hand artist and many of her tricks rival Hermann's in their baffling secrecy. The travesty artists, the Garrisons, give a clever performance, while the Eclair Brothers are a remarkable pair of contortionists who twist and squirm around the stage clothed as a crocodile and a demon. Adjie's lions will be a special attraction next week. There are some excellent song and dance artists billed for the coming week.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Olga Nethersole sailed for England on Wednesday, by the S. S. Paris.

William H. Crane ended his season at Poughkeepsie last Saturday evening.

"The Alderman," a play by William Gill, will be presented at the Fourteenth street theater in New York next Monday. Odell Williams will act the chief role.

Brandon Thomas has written a new comedy entitled "22 Curzon Street, Mayfair," which is said by London critics to be exceedingly funny and strong in situation.

The directors of the Players elected, on May 10th, the following named officers: President, Joseph Jefferson; vice-president, A. M. Palmer; secretary, Charles C. Caryl; treasurer, William Bispham.

The American Dramatists' Club will issue the third number of their club list about July 1st. The catalogue of proprietary plays will be enlarged and revised so that the publication will be more useful than ever. Harry P. Mawson is chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

"A Round of Pleasure," music by Ludwig Ehglander, libretto by Sydney Rosenfeld, was produced at the Hyperion Theater in New Haven last Thursday evening for the first time on any stage. The cast includes Walter Jones, Jerome Sykes, Richard Carle, Charles Kirke, Marie Celeste and Eva Davenport.

The production of "Two Little Vagabonds" was not a success in Australia. The play was withdrawn for a revival of "The Prisoner of Zenda" which also did not draw.

E. H. Sothern has decided to spend the summer in America foregoing his annual trip abroad. Mr. Sothern will visit a number of summer resorts to study characters.

The week of June 14 will bring John T. Sullivan to Keith's in Sydney Grundy's one-act comedietta, "Capt Huntington." He will be supported by Misses Eleanor Barry and Sarah Converse.

The war in Greece will prevent the midsummer tour of the Comedie Francaise to Athens. It is announced that the company will appear in London instead, performing plays in French.

Miss Maud Agnes Palmer, a young Bostonian, who joined Mr. Willard last fall, is now playing Nina Clarabut in "The Rogue's Comedy," and is making rapid strides in her chosen profession.

Julian Mitchell, who has been Charles Hoyt's stage manager for several years, will retire from that position at the end of this season to look after the business interests of his wife, Bessie Clayton, the dancer, who is going into vaudeville.

Marie Wainwright sailed for Europe last Saturday, but before her departure she signed for a tour of the best vaudeville houses next season under the direction of Robert Grau. Miss Wainwright will seek material in London, and Mr. Grau's London office has already arranged interviews with several prominent English authors to take place upon Miss Wainwright's arrival.

MARRIAGE REFORMS.

A Frenchman Comes Forward With a Plan to Benefit Humanity.

Dr. Toulouse of Paris is certainly a man of original ideas, says the New York Herald. Quite recently he startled Europe by his audacious book on Zola, and now he comes forward with an extraordinary proposition in regard to the time honored institution of marriage. Here are his views on the subject: Persons of weak constitution, or who have any disease lurking in their system, he says, and especially those suffering from consumption, epilepsy, a cancerous growth, mental imbecility or alcoholism, frequently have sickly or badly formed children, who are stamped with the physical or moral blemishes of their parents, from the evil effects of which they are wholly unable to escape. Still this form of heredity, though extremely frequent, is not fatal; it assumes the most unexpected disguises, and hence the malady inherited by the child sometimes differs very much from that which afflicts the father.

For this reason it is impossible to frame a law prohibiting certain classes of persons in modern society from marrying. And yet, asks Dr. Toulouse, is it not deplorable to see so many unhappy persons born daily into the world who are doomed by their very origin to be degenerates? He has been brooding over this subject for some time and now comes forward with a remedy.

Marriage, he points out, is simply a contract, the object of which is to insure the perpetuity and prosperity of the human race. This contract, then, considered from a purely sanitary point of view, should always be made in good faith. Health is a more important factor in married life than money, and the man who conceals from his intended bride the existence of any hereditary and presumably any acquired disease is as guilty of a breach of truth as though he were to conceal from her the fact that he was on the verge of bankruptcy.

In common justice, then, says Dr. Toulouse, the marriage contract should be reversible in all cases where there is any deception in this matter of disease, and a divorce should promptly be granted. Only in this way can we be assured of happy marriages, healthy children and a prosperous society.

But he goes even further. If a husband or a wife, he says, conceals the existence of a hereditary blemish, and if there is born to this couple a child who is continually sick, unable to earn a livelihood, and who is an exceptional expense to the parents, then that parent who has deceived the other should be compelled to pay to the marriage partner a large amount of money as damages. Dr. Toulouse thinks that a law should be passed to this effect, and he explains how it could easily be made operative.

Furthermore, he claims that a bureau should be established with the object of looking after the health of individuals.

In other words, he proposes that this bureau shall be furnished with passports showing the condition of health of all persons in the community. A recent law obliges physicians to keep a record of all cases of contagious diseases which are brought to their notice, and Dr. Toulouse maintains that the same precaution should be observed in the case of nervous and mental maladies, and of all others which afflict the race and are likely to be transmitted from one generation to another. If this were done, the result would be that the authorities would have under their hands and could see at a glance the mental and physical condition of all persons within their jurisdiction.

Each passport, it is suggested, should bear a number, and in this way the identity of the person described therein would be known only to the chief of the bureau and to one or two confidential clerks. In other words, it would be a strictly professional secret. In one sense, too, these passports would only be of scientific interest, for it is not suggested that they should be brought into use in the case of persons about to marry.

Without the aid of these telltale documents, however, it is difficult to see how persons applying for a divorce or for pecuniary damages in the case of sickly children could always substantiate their claims.

Dr. Toulouse, so far as I can learn, does not suggest they should be used for such purposes, but some of his critics do not refrain from hinting that the passports may be used in this way. They also point out that in times of general elections these documents, showing the mental and physical status of all persons, might prove of great service, at least in the hands of an unscrupulous government.

But this is not the only objection which has been made to Dr. Toulouse's proposed law.

"Theoretically," says Dr. Maurice de Fleury, "his idea is just, but in practice it would almost certainly give rise to quarrels and interminable and singularly painful law-suits. Dr. Toulouse knows as well as I do that neuropathic heredity is rarely one sided, and that a mysterious attraction impels the offending parties to seek each other's society, to live together, to get married and to give life to children who will partake of their double blemish, and who will, so to speak, be doubly degenerate, as though implacable nature were hastening to make an end of such an effete race."

John D. Sanborn of Acton, Me., lives in the house where he was born seventy-four years ago. He has never failed to vote at a State or national election since he attained his majority, has always attended the Congregational Church with equal regularity, and for thirty-seven years, or since its establishment, has visited the Acton agricultural fair each day in every one of its seasons. Perhaps the thing he is most proud of is the fact that he never used tobacco or intoxicating liquors of any kind.

"I hear," said the crusty old gentleman, "that there are some violins so valuable that nobody thinks of playing on them."

"Yes. I saw one in a museum," replied his wife.

"I wonder if I couldn't buy one and trade it to the young man next door for the fiddle that he has been using for the last six months."

Black Versus Yellow.

T. Thomas Fortune, himself a mulatto, talks quite entertainingly, and convincingly too, about the animosity of the blacks in America against the members of their race who are of mixed blood. He calls attention to the fact that when Dr. Edward W. Bryden was in the United States a few years ago, he made a lecture trip through the Southern States, and that wherever he spoke he managed to give great offense to the mixed members of his audience by the extreme position he took on the relations of the races at the South. The matter culminated at Charleston, where Dr. Bryden is accused of having said that the pure blacks and the whites got along very well together, and that all the trouble between the races was caused by the mulattoes.

It is undoubtedly true that the blacks have cause for their jealousy of the yellows, for the latter, even in the days of slavery, had better opportunities for rising in the social scale, as they had the advantage of association with the whites as house servants, whereas the blacks were kept at field labor. Then if there be anything in the laws of heredity, the light skinned Africans must have had transmitted to them something of the superior intelligence of their white fathers. But admitting that there is ground for animosity, humanly speaking, the mulattoes are not to be blamed for it. On the contrary, instead of wasting their time in denouncing their lighter skinned brothers and sisters, because the latter have beaten them in the race for preferment, the blacks should exert themselves all the harder on account of their being handicapped as they are.

But, whatever they ought to do, it is clear that they are so blinded by their jealousy that they are not yet ready to do the sensible thing. On the contrary, the cleavage between the blacks and the yellows is becoming more marked as the years go by, and it is not impossible that it will one day become so pronounced that actual warfare will ensue.

A society has been organized in Washington under the name of "The American Negro Academy," which it is believed will eventually work for the complete separation of the blacks and the mulattoes. While pure negro blood is insisted upon by all and in all ways, it is rather amusing to find that the president of the academy, Rev. Alexander Crummell, and the secretary, J. W. Cromwell, are both married to mulatto women; "and it is very generally the case," says Mr. Fortune, "that those black men who clamor most loudly and persistently for the purity of the negro blood have taken to themselves mulatto wives." A paper is published by the academy, written by W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, who, we are told, "is not black at all, but brown, and did not take a black woman to wife." Mr. Fortune cites the case, also, of Dr. D. W. Culp of Jacksonville, Fla., who makes a strong plea for the perpetuation of the negro race type in the United States, in the Arena, who "married a woman so white that no one would suspect that she was an Afro-American, although he is one of the purest types of the negro to be found." "Black men," says Mr. Fortune, "who want to preserve the negro type should not marry mulatto women, but, while they preach purity of race very generally and are very sensitive on the question of color, they marry most often in a way to destroy the logic of their preaching."—Boston Transcript.

Sachets That Moths Dislike.

A recipe for sweetly perfumed sachets never comes amiss, and as the one given here is detested by moths just as infinitely as it is enjoyed by human beings, the mixture is well worth making. Take one ounce each of cloves, nutmeg, cinnamon, carraway seeds, mace and tonquin beans, pound to powder, and mix them with six ounces of orris root, which must also be in powder. These ingredients may be obtained ready crushed at a good druggist's. The best bag in which they can be inclosed is one of net over fine muslin, and the ruffler's sack design, with the opening tied round with ribbon, is a good one.—New York Evening Journal.

Delayed His Wedding.

Postponed an Engagement to Be Married and Stayed in a Jack Pot, Thereby Winning Very Nearly $10,000.

"I remember," said an old Jersey settler to the New York Sun man, "when, away back in the '50s, a wedding was postponed on account of a jack pot in which the prospective bridegroom was deeply interested."

"In those days poker was more commonly played at the State capital than it is today, and there were some pretty stiff games pulled off in the hotel and star chambers around town when the Legislature was in session. One of the hardest players with which the regulars had to deal was young Jim Rawson of Egg Harbor. He ran a general merchandise store down there, and was mixed up in the oyster trade, so that he always had 'money to burn,' as the boys say nowadays.

"In the winter of '54 Rawson came to Trenton to help push a bill, in which he was interested, through the Legislature, and one evening he got mixed up in a game of poker in the United States Hotel with Sol Travers, Jerry Holcomb and Dick Collins, three of the gamest players that ever drew cards. The game was innocent enough when it started, but along about 3 o'clock the next morning it had assumed proportions calculated to make an ordinary player gasp when the bets were made. Rawson was the youngest man at the table and had probably played poker less than any of the others, but he had money and nerve, and the way he used both of them made the other three keep their eyes open. There wasn't much difference in the men's winnings up to breakfast time, but all of a sudden the cards got freakish, as they will sometimes, and began to run against Rawson.

"The players wouldn't give up the game and had breakfast brought to them. They laid down the cards long enough to eat, and then went at it again. Rawson's hard luck kept up. He turned his hat around, crossed his legs, got up, and walked around his chair, rung in new packs of cards and did everything that the superstitious poker player does to change his luck, but it wouldn't change. His money kept drifting away until 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when he counted up his assets and found that he had $200 left. He had fed about $1,800 to the tiger, and naturally felt a little sore. At last a jack pot was started about half-past 10 o'clock, and the cards were dealt around a dozen times and nobody got openers.

OPENING THE JACK POT.

"'Hurry up, boys, and open,' said Rawson. 'I've got to catch that 11:45 train. I'm going to be married tonight, and I must be in by 5 o'clock, dressed for the occasion.'

"But the boys didn't seem to be able to hurry. They dealt and dealt, but, somehow, the right kind of openers wouldn't fall, and finally there was a snug little pot of about $600 on the table. At 11:30 Travers opened the pot for $100. Holcomb and Collins stayed.

"'I feel just as if I was going to win that pot,' said Rawson, writing some figures on a piece of paper and throwing it on the center of the table with what money he had left. 'I'm shy $50, boys, but I guess I'm good for it.'

"'Your check is as good as your money,' said Travers.

"'Every bit,' said Holcomb and Collins.

"'But you'll never catch that train,' remarked Travers.

"'By thunder,' exclaimed Rawson, 'I forgot all about that.' He looked at his watch and found that he had three minutes in which to get to the station. 'There's no use trying to make it now,' he said, 'they'll have to postpone the wedding. I'll telegraph that I've missed the train.' At 11:45 a messenger was sent to the telegraph office with a dispatch, and the game went on.

"The pot was $1,000 strong when the men drew cards, and I want to tell you now of the most remarkable set of poker hands that I ever saw dealt. Travers was dealing. Holcomb called for one card, Collins took one, Rawson drew four, and Travers took one. There was business ahead, everybody saw that. Travers made a bid for a raise by betting $25, which was 'lifted' $200 by Holcomb, and Collins raised that $200, so that when it came around to Rawson it cost $125 to come in. Everybody thought he would throw down his cards, but he didn't; he slowly drew a check book out of his pocket and wrote a check for $1,000 and shoved it up, thus raising Collins $675.

"You could see right away that the other players thought he was bluffing. Travers met the raise at once and added $500 to it. Holcomb saw that, and raised it another $500. Collins simply saw the raise and Rawson lifted it another thousand.

"Travers settled back in his chair and eyed Rawson for a minute. 'You've got pretty good nerve, old man,' he said, 'but you can't make me lay down, not on a four-card draw, anyway.' Then he saw Rawson's $1,000 raise, and increased it $500.

"'I call you,' said Holcomb, shoving $1,500.

"'I might as well take a chance for my money,' said Collins, laying $1,500 on the pile. Rawson put down another check for $500.

"'Well, boys,' said Travers, 'I'm sorry for you. I've got four queens. He threw them on the table.

"'That beats my four jacks,' said Holcomb, 'and my four tens,' said Collins, 'but it doesn't beat my four kings,' said Rawson, spreading out his cards. He held four kings and an ace.

"'Thunderation, what a draw!' exclaimed Travers.

"'Twas pretty good,' said Rawson, raking in the money; 'and I got them all in a bunch. I held up an ace.'

"Rawson pulled in $13,000, and $9,750 of it came out of the pockets of the other three men. It was the biggest jack pot I ever saw."

TOO MUCH SENSE TO KICK.

"How about the wedding?" asked a listener.

"Oh, yes, I meant to tell you about that," said the old settler. "You see, the girl that Rawson was going to marry had a mind of her own, and when the telegram came saying that he had missed the train, what did she do but jump aboard the cars and come up to Trenton, reaching here about 6 o'clock in the evening. Rawson was mighty glad to see her, too. They went out and hunted up a minister and got married. Then they came back to the hotel, and we all had a mighty nice layout. I don't know whether the woman ever found out why Rawson missed the train or not, but I reckon if she did she would have more sense than to kick much, because she seemed to be a pretty level-headed girl."

"Speaking about that being a remarkable set of poker hands," said an old-timer, who had been a listener to the old settler's account of the game, "I saw a funny set of hands myself once. It was along about '62, I guess. It was while the Legislature was in session. One night I dropped into Charley Dennelly's place, that was, in those days, a favorite resort for poker players. There was a big game on between four South Jersey men. They had been playing all the afternoon without one getting much the best of the other. I thought I'd watch the game awhile and I sat down behind Jim Weeks, a big stock dealer, who lived in Burlington county. He's dead now. The cards were dealt around a half dozen times and nobody got a hand that was worth betting much on.

Finally Weeks called for a new pack of cards. They were brought and carefully shuffled. The cards were dealt and everybody bet a dollar. A fellow named Haines was dealing, and when he asked how many cards were wanted every one of the players stood 'pat,' and we all noticed that he layed the pack down without taking cards himself. Weeks bet $10 and the fellow next to him raised him $10. Everybody stayed, and when the bet got back to Weeks he raised it $20; but Haines wasn't feazed by that and he promptly raised Weeks $50. After some hesitation the other two players dropped out and the fight was between Weeks and Haines, who raised back and forth until there was $1,200 in the pot. Finally Haines got skittish and called Weeks.

"'I've got a club flush, deuce, tray, four, five and six,' he said spreading out his cards.

"'I've got a heart flush, with the same cards,' said Haines.

"'Well, I'll be whaled,' said one of the fellows who had drawn out, 'if I didn't have the same kind of a diamond flush.'

"'Yes, and I laid down a spade flush to match it,' said the other fellow.

"Haines and Weeks divided the pot, while the other two chaps went into the barroom and ordered cocktails. Four pat hands were dealt and one was as good as the other. I never knew of its happening before or since."

A DEAD MAN'S MILLIONS.

Strange Story Revealed by a Search Among Custom House Records.

Every morning during the last fortnight a man and a woman have appeared at the custom house and have hurried to the record room the moment the doors were unlocked.

There, day in and day out, they busy themselves amid the musty mass of manifests which have been accumulating ever since Uncle Sam first began to collect customs revenues.

The man's laborious work is to establish the claim of an American family to the fortune of a Berlin banker who died intestate several years ago, leaving, it is said, an estate valued at about $300,000.

One of the searchers is a representative from the office of Lawyer Edward E McCall. The woman is believed to be the agent of a Berlin lawyer.

They left Berlin in the early part of the year 1837, Mr. McCall said, one Heyman Hahn. He came to America, to make a fortune. Upon his arrival in New York he opened a small tobacco shop in "The Swamp." He prospered.

In 1838 he was married to Mary Buskey. Hahn being a Hebrew, the marriage took place in a synagogue, and the marriage certificate was given to a Miss Bertha May, a friend of the bride, who was the only witness to the wedding.

A few years went by, and Hahn's business increased vastly, and his little shop gave way to a larger establishment. Finally he became one of the leading tobacco merchants in "The Swamp," as well as the editor of one of the first tobacco trade journals in New York.

When Hahn died, in 1875, he left a comfortable little fortune to his five children, and his two sons, Isaac and Louis, continued the business. But a few of his friends ever knew that he was a relative of the great banker Hirshfield of Berlin.

About four years ago Louis Hirshfeld, the banker of Berlin, died intestate, leaving a large fortune, and an advertisement was published asking for information as to his relatives, and Isaac Hahn, the eldest son of the tobacco merchant, believing from proof in his possession that the banker was his father's cousin, through Lawyer McCall got Governor Flower interested in the case.

By advice of Mr. McCall young Hahn engaged as counsel Dr. von Simpson and Dr. Alfred Gotthelf, two eminent lawyers in Berlin, and suit was brought for the fortune. To defeat the American heirs English and German claimants denied the legality of Hahn's marriage.

Lawyer McCall found living in Brooklyn Bertha May, the only witness to the ceremony, and just as the case seemed about to be decided favorably in favor of Isaac Hahn he was summoned to this city to look after his business interests. The steamer he sailed on was the Elbe, the story of whose loss two days later made the whole world mourn. Hahn had with him many papers of great importance in the suit, and they, of course, were lost with him.

Louis Hahn, the sorrowing brother, is now fighting the case in the trial at present in progress in Berlin. The English and German claimants concede the legality of the Hahn-Buskey marriage, but deny the legitimacy of the children.

Moreover, the claimants contend that the heir's father was not Heyman Hahn, the cousin of Banker Hirshfield, who came here in 1837, but one Heinrich Hahn, who came in 1838 on the ship St. Louis.

The manifest of the St. Louis is, it is believed, what the two custom house record searchers are, among other things, probing for, as well as the passenger list of the ship in which Heyman Hahn came to this country, and which, it is said, was mentioned in the papers lost in the Elbe.—N. Y. World.

Chairman Board of Supervisors.
Attest: Frank C. Jordan, Clerk.

"Did I understand you to say that you didn't have any company in the kitchen while I was out, Katie?"

"Yis, mum; that's what I said."

"But I smell the tobacco from a pipe all through the house."

"Yis, mum; the policeman was in for half an hour, mum; but we were in the parlor."—Yonkers Statesman.

The Bozeman (Mont.) Chronicle tells of a Montana legislator who, when some corrections in spelling and grammar in his bill were called to his attention by the committee, said: "Why, you fellows have mucilated it!" It was the same statesman who said, in addressing a committee of which he was a member: "The muddy slough of politics was the boulder upon which the law was split in twain and fell in a thousand pieces from the pedro of justice. Let us, then, gear up our lions, that we can go forth with a clear head."

This is to certify that Dr. Tom She Bin has cured me of that dreadful disease known as heart disease, and also of weak lungs. I do make this deposition for the especial benefit of those suffering similar ailments. I must say that I was treated by the best doctor in Chicago, and after I lost all hopes I concluded to come to San Francisco for a change of climate, and immediately I heard of the wonderful cures of Dr. Tom She Bin, so I consulted him, with such good luck that after one month and a half from the time he started to treat my case I felt entirely well.

MRS. E. FRENCK,
409 Thomas Street, Chicago, Ill.

I, the undersigned, do recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as one of the best doctors to cure rheumatism, having been suffering for three years, and also been under the treatment of six skillful doctors for four months without feeling any relief. I determined to set myself under the care of Dr. Tom She Bin, who gave me immediate relief, and in the course of five weeks I was enjoying good health.

PANFILO MURILLO,
Pomona, California.

My son, nine years of age, utterly prostrated with typhoid fever for six weeks, he was under the explicit care of hospital doctors, but without avail. All his body was declared incurable. I heard the name of Doctor Tom She Bin, and at once was induced to see him, and I left my son to his absolute care. Fifteen days after my son was able to play around the yard. I fully believe Doctor Tom She Bin saved my son's life.

The undersigned does hereby recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as the only competent doctor. He has cured me entirely from throat disease, which many doctors declared incurable.

San Francisco, February 26th, 1897.

J. E. MEDRAN,
756 Workmain St., East Los Angeles, Cal.

Montonzou, Cal., March 1st, 1897.

I write this letter for the benefit of any one who may be in trouble, as I have been. About fourteen years ago I was taken sick. The doctors pronounced it ulceration of the stomach and said it would end in a cancer.

At times I would vomit a black and bloody looking matter, also a great deal of white mucus. The disease would make me very nervous and despondent. At different times during my ailment I would get some relief for a few months, then it would come back as bad or worse than ever. I doctored with several as good doctors as I could find in the East and also here in California, but none of them effected a cure.

I was advised to consult Dr. Tom She Bin, which I did about the 1st of October, 1893.

He said my trouble was the cancer of the stomach. I commenced taking his medicine immediately. For the first three or four months there seemed to be but a very little change. After that time I improved very fast and am now able to do quite a good day's work. I have every reason to believe he has effected a permanent cure for me.

J. L. CARPENTER.

San Francisco, March 2, 1897.

I saw Dr. Tom She Bin's advertisement. I first come up to 616 Kearny street to feel my pulse. He tell me what trouble, I had, was true. I had a pain over my body, and chilly. I put my case to him; first week I take Chinese Herb; one week I was great deal better. I been sick for six years. I go to white physician, cannot do me any good. I take Dr. Tom She Bin's Herbs six week; I was all well. I was cured about one year and never pain again.

MRS. J. SANGALL,

San Francisco, March 4th, 1897.

By these presents I do hereby recommend Dr. Tom She Bin as a successful doctor to cure the dreadful disease styled consumption, so common among all classes. He has restored my health in the short term of twenty days, for the trifling amount of $2.50 per day.

I have taken treatment for my kidneys, that have bothered me for a long while, and also catarrh of the stomach, and also chronic diarrhoea, and was cured in two weeks by Dr. Tom She Bin, also blood poison in my thumb.

WM. E. BRYAN,
No. 6 Martha place, San Francisco.

San Francisco, March 8, 1897.

I had gravel and kidney trouble four years. My friends sent me to Dr. Tom She Bin. He felt my pulse, and he told me what trouble I had. I put my case in his hands, and took herbs twice a day. In four weeks my troubles were all cured. Now my flesh is all good. The last three or four years I went to white doctors, but never did me any good. Now I have got well and am in good health.

JENS J. JENSEN,

Pomona, Los Angeles Co., Cal.,
March 7, 1897.

For the benefit of those who are suffering with chronic diseases, I will say that many years of severe suffering and futile treatment ended in Bright's disease of the kidneys, of which Dr. Tom She Bin completely cured me, after correctly and minutely describing my malady from the pulse, without asking a question. He is a medical marvel, and without a peer in his profession. Respectfully,

GEO. OSGOODBY.

San Francisco, March 13th, 1897.

I wish to give my testimony in behalf of Dr. Tom She Bin. It is about two months ago that I fell sick with influenza, being unable to procure no other help than that of domestic remedies. I fell worse and worse, until I was totally paralyzed. I was induced to consult Tom She Bin, and he, by the aid of his wonderful Chinese herbs. I felt somewhat relieved in twenty-four hours, and he agreed to treat me for the sum of two hundred dollars, and now I feel grateful to the doctor for his efforts. Very truly,

HILARIO PRECIADO,

In accordance with Resolution No. 22,906, adopted May 17, 1897, sealed proposals will be received on or before 8 P. M. of the 7th day of June, 1897, at the City Clerk's office in the City Hall, and shall be endorsed "Proposals for Lighting the Public Streets and Public Buildings of the City of Oakland."

Said proposals must provide for the lighting of public streets by electricity alone, and the public buildings by a combination of gas and electricity.

First. Proposals for lighting the public streets by electricity alone shall be in accordance with the following specifications: The poles, wires, conductors, lamps and each and every appliance which may be necessary for electric lighting to be furnished and erected by the successful bidder. The wires and conductors to be thoroughly insulated and placed in such locations and in such manner as will prevent them from being tampered with or handled by any unauthorized person or persons, it being distinctly understood that the city shall not be responsible, but must be held blameless against any claim for damages for any injury or accident which may be occasioned by the wires or conductors and against any claim for damages by reason of any infringement of any patents or rights in the use of lamps, machinery or appliances connected with said electric lights.

The said lights to number not less than 402 and not more than 512 of 2,000 candle power, each commercially rated, and to be on masts or cranes of the height of those now in use and at the places where the same are now located, with the distinct understanding that the Council reserves the right to designate and change the location of each and every light and to change the height or character of the mast to be used at any particular location upon payment of the actual cost of labor in making such removals or changes.

Second. Said proposals to contain bids upon a moonlight schedule of lighting and upon an all night schedule as now in force under present contract for lighting the public streets, and upon per hour schedule as follows: Said lamps to be lighted upon the moon schedule during the months of April, May, June, July, August and September, and upon an all night schedule as now in force under contract for lighting the streets, during the months of October, November, December, January, February and March. For the sake of clearness in bidding, the moonlight schedule is understood to be the lighting of all lamps one hour after sunset and one hour before moonset, and the extinguishing of the lamps one hour before sunrise and one hour after moonrise, no lamps to be lighted on the night of, the night after and the night before full moon.

Third. Bidders are to specify separately the price per hour for which they will furnish and light the lamps in accordance with the all night schedule and the per hour schedule as hereinbefore set forth; also to specify the price per night for each lamp when lighted according to the moonlight schedule; also to specify the price per month for each electric arc lamp of 2,000 candle power and the rate per thousand watts by meter measurement for incandescent lamps when furnished to public buildings. The Council reserves the right during the time of the contract to be entered into to order all of the street lamps to be lighted upon dark or cloudy nights through a proper officer to be hereafter designated, and to pay therefor the price per hour for each lamp so lighted, that may be designated by the bidders herein as the price at which the lamps will be lighted according to the all night or hour schedule.

Each bid shall be accompanied by a check, payable to the order of the Mayor and certified by responsible bank for the sum of $5,000.00. Any check accompanying any unaccepted bid shall be returned to the party furnishing the same when his bid is rejected; any check accompanying an accepted bid shall be retained by the City Clerk till the successful bidder shall have entered into a contract as herein provided, and then be returned to said bidder; but if such bidder shall refuse to enter into such contract and file a bond in the sum of $25,000 within five days after being awarded the contract, his check or bond shall be declared forfeited to the city of Oakland, and shall be collected and paid into the General Fund.

The Council to reserve the right to determine which method of lighting shall be adopted, and to reject any or all bids.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Many people are inclined to be prejudiced against the Chinese mode of ministering to the ills to which human flesh is heir. Knowing that this feeling exists, in most cases through ignorance of the methods and remedies employed I beg to introduce to your notice my manner of treatment and cure. Our system of medicine is based entirely upon the use of herbs and my formula embrace over 3 000 kinds of these natural restoratives imported direct by me. All these remedies have been in use throughout the Chinese empire for the last several thousand years and have conclusively proven their unsurpassed excellence as factors in the art of healing. In my diagnosis I locate and describe all diseases entirely by feel of the pulse not deeming it necessary to question the patient as regards any particular manifestation or symptom. Among the many disorders which I CURE—not attempt to cure—I may mention RHEUMATISM, PILES PARALYSIS, DYSPEPSIA CONSUMPTION ASTHMA, BRIGHT'S AND ALL KIDNEY DISEASES BLINDNESS, INSANITY, HEART DISEASE DISEASES OF THE THROAT, CANCER TUMORS, SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES I desire also to call attention to the fact that, owing to lack of confidence in Chinese physicians, many persons do not ask my services until all other practitioners fail Fully 90 per cent of my extensive practice during the past twenty years, has been composed of persons who had been given up to die by friends and by other physicians I make a specialty of Gunshot Wounds and Fractures and Bonesetting, and no doubt many people will laugh at the assertion, yet I say that I can bring a bullet to the surface, without probing, from the most severe gunshot wound CURE GUARANTEED. All I ask is a fair trial, feeling sure that I can convince you that I can cure any ailment. Very truly yours,

Christian Endeavor Work.

(This department of the Tribune is conducted by the members of the Oakland City Christian Endeavor Union.)

The programme committee of the County Christian Endeavor Union submitted the following for the June convention to be held in the First Methodist Church at the monthly meeting of the Executive Committee:

"Friday evening, June 11th, a short praise service; addresses on 'What Former Conventions Have Accomplished,' 'What We Desire to Accomplish by Our Convention,' and rallies of the various committees for the '97 convention.

"Saturday afternoon, June 12th, 3 P. M., open committee conference in which the work of the lookout, prayer meeting, social, missionary, temperance, Sunday school and Sabbath observance committee shall be discussed; 6 o'clock, basket lunch and social time; 7:30 o'clock, the evening service of the convention, consisting of a praise service, roll call to be a response of praise, addresses on certain phases of Christian Endeavor work.

"It is our desire to entertain all delegates south of Haywards and we request that all desiring to be entertained send their names and credentials through their president or corresponding secretary to Wilson Wythe, 825 Fourteenth street, Oakland, Cal.

"And we also request that all who can entertain delegates will send their names to the same address. We wish every society to be represented by as many members as possible. Bring your badges and your banner and a response of pride to give at roll call. The members of the various '97 convention committees from the central Oakland churches are to be asked to act in their capacity for this convention. Let us have the hearty co-operation of every delegate that this convention may be one of the best that we have ever had. Keep it and its work before your societies, and urge them to attend with an enthusiasm which will be a foretaste of what is in store for us July next."

The '97 finance committee reported $1,158.12 collected on the pledge of $2,500 made by the Alameda county Endeavorers toward the defraying of the expenses of the July convention and urged the prompt payment by secretaries of the balance that it might all be paid over to the general committee before the next meeting of the Executive committee.

Sins of the Tongue: Ex. 4-1-17:—We all know much about this subject from bitter personal experience. None of us are exempt from sins of the tongue. Our Scriptural reference presents the negative side. Moses wished to be excused from speaking. It is frequently a sin to refrain from speaking. Often word that would right a wrong, words that would inspire to noble deed, words that would cheer some fainting heart, are withheld because of timidity or fear of failure. When the Lord commands, let us obey, trusting him to strengthen our feeble utterance. But it is probably the positive side that applies most forcibly to the majority. We are prone to speak idle words, which in themselves are not actively wrong perhaps, but still have nothing in them worthy of utterance. How much better to have a purpose in our speech.

Then there is a tendency to flatter those in power through wealth or social position. If they deserve commendation, let us bestow it by all means; but let us never stoop to please others or to seek admiration and self promotion at the expense of principle. The following words of St. James apply to us as appropriately as though written in and for this age of the world: The tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things. Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth. It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison. Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. "My brethren, these things ought not so to be." Verily, they ought not and yet how many times it is true that Christians, after uttering words of strength and wisdom and power, nullify their influence for good by some hasty, unguarded speech betraying impatience, lack of charity, or a fault-finding spirit. We don't mean to do this and we lament our impudence, only to repeat the same offense again and again, but we can improve wonderfully by constant watchfulness and prayer. We are all familiar with the old adage, "Think twice before you speak." That might consume too much time unless we are rapid thinkers; but certainly we can think once before saying anything that might be construed as being in any way antagonistic or harmful. Will Carleton beautifully expresses this thought in those lines: "Boys flying kites haul in their white-winged birds. You can't do that way with your flying words. Careful with fire is good advice, I know. Careful with words is ten times doubly so. Thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead, but God himself can't stop them when they're said."

The '97 committee of the United Presbyterian Endeavor Society had charge of the Wednesday evening prayer meeting recently. The subject was, "The Good That Will Be Obtained From the Convention." After the prayer meeting a social was held when the members were required to give their experience in verse as to how they earned fifty cents to pay the balance of their pledge to the '97 fund.

Every Christian Endeavor Society should have both a Christian Citizenship Committee and a rescue of the Sabbath committee. They can work together on legal lines for the cessation of labor on the Sabbath. The Christian Citizenship Committee, however, should have nothing to do with the increasing the love for the day on the part of the Christian people; that is the work of the "Rescue Sabbath Committee."

To a certain extent the Sabbath to us is what we make it. If we love it and look upon it as God's gift, to be used for our highest welfare, and set just the example upon that day that Christ would have us, that is well. But even if Christians pursue this course, that will not save the Sabbath. There must be definite work along political lines. We should prayerfully consider what we can do to secure this choice gift from heaven to all our fellowmen, and especially to those in our community and in the State in which we live. There are over a million of Sunday slaves in the United States. We have not done what Christ would like to have us do until we have secured the day as a day free from toil to all the citizens of the State in which we live.

How can Christian Endeavorers help in Sabbath observance? By co-operating with Sabbath observance papers. By showing that when Jehovah finished his six days of work, he did not set apart Saturday as a rest, but gave us the astronomically true Sunday, September 27, A.M. 1 (not Julian). When the ceremonial law was given, after the Sunday Sabbath seemed forgotten in Egypt, the tenth to sixteenth Nisan week was given at Passover time, in the year 25, 10 A. M., at which time Friday to Saturday was the seventh day of the ceremonial week—only ceremonial; and this date of the month would come on different days in different years, as the Fourth of July comes on different days of the week in different years. In the year 2550 A.M. the manna showed Sunday as the Sabbath. In the year A. D. 30, prophecy showed, Sunday, April 7th (9th Julian), to be the Restored Adamic Sabbath (not the ceremonial Jewish). It was man's first day of the new creation, but God's seventh day.

The headquarters for Alameda County Christian Endeavor for the great international convention have been located in the Mechanics' Pavilion. All of the headquarters, State and national, will be in that building and all receptions, etc., besides the large meetings will be held there. This will assure a very large attendance at our headquarters. Space for limited advertising on the walls can now be arranged for and also privilege of leaving pamphlets for distribution. Apply to the president of county union, George P. Lowell, 1425 Franklin street.

MY CABIN BOY.

When I was about 40 years of age I took command of the ship Petersham. We were bound to Liverpool, and nothing unusual happened until the eighth day out, when we ran foul of a small iceberg.

My cabin boy was named Jack Withers. He was 14 years of age, and this was his first voyage.

I fancied that he was the most stubborn piece of humanity I had ever come across. I made up my mind that he had never been properly governed and had resolved to break him in. I told him I'd curb his temper before I'd done with him. In reply he told me I might kill him if I liked.

One day, when it was very near noon, I spoke to him, telling him to bring up my quadrant. He was looking over the quarter rail, and I knew he did not hear me. But the next time I spoke I spoke sharply and intimated that if he didn't move I would help him.

"I didn't hear you," he said in an independent tone.

"No words," said I.

"I suppose I can speak," he retorted, moving slowly toward the companionway.

His looks, words and the slow, careless manner in which he moved fired me in a moment. I grasped him by the collar.

"Speak to me again like that and I'll flog you within an ace of your life," said I.

"You can flog away," he answered as firm as a rock.

And I did flog him. I caught up the end of a rope and beat him till my arm fairly ached. But he never winced.

"How's that?" said I.

"There's a little more life in me yet. You'd better flog it out," was the reply.

And I beat him again. I beat him till he sank from my hand to the floor.

I sent one of the men for my quadrant, but when it came and I had adjusted it for observation I found that the sun had already passed the meridian and that I was too late.

This added fuel to the fire of my madness, and seizing the lad by the collar I led him to the main hatchway and had the hatch taken off. I thrust him down and swore I would keep him there till his stubbornness was broken.

About 8 o'clock I went to the hatchway and called to him. But he returned no answer. So I closed the hatch and went away. An hour afterward I went again; still no answer.

I did not trouble him again until next morning. After breakfast I went to the hatchway and called to him once more. I heard nothing from him, nor could I see him. Yet the men told me they had heard him that very morning. He seemed to be calling on them for help. But he would not answer me. I meant to break him into it.

"He'll beg before he'll starve," I thought, and so determined to let him stay there.

The day passed away, and when evening came I began to be startled. He had been in the hold thirty-six hours, and forty hours without food or drink. He must be too weak to cry out now.

So at length I made up my mind to go and see him. A little way forward I saw a space where Jack might easily have gone down, and to this point I crawled on my hands and knees. I called out there, but could get no answer. A short distance farther was a wide space, which I had entirely forgotten, but which I now remembered had been left open on account of a break in the flooring of the hold, which would let anything that might have been stored there rest directly on the thin planking of the ship.

I heard the splashing of water and thought I could detect a sound like the incoming of a tiny jet or stream. At first I could see nothing, but as soon as I became used to the dim light I could distinguish the faint outlines of the boy sitting on the broken floor with his feet stretched out against a cask.

"Jack, are you there?"

"Yes. Help me! For mercy's sake, help me! Bring men and bring a lantern. The ship has sprung a leak!"

I waited to hear no more, but hurried on deck at once and soon returned with a lantern and three men. Three of the timbers were worm eaten to the very heart, and one of the outer planks had been broken and would have burst in any moment the boy might leave it—the boy whose feet were braced against the plank before him.

I saw the plank must burst the moment the strain was removed from it, so I made the men brace themselves against it before I lifted him up. Other men were called down, with planks, etc., and after much difficulty we finally succeeded in stopping the leak and averting the danger.

Jack Withers was carried to the cabin in my own arms, and there he managed to tell his story.

He had sat with his feet braced for four and twenty hours with the water spurting all over him and drenching him to the skin. His limbs were racked with pain, but he would not give up.

I nursed him with my own hands—nursed him all through his delirium—and when his reason returned and he could sit up and talk I humbly asked his pardon for all the wrong I had done him. He threw his arms around my neck and told me if I would be good to him he would never give cause for offense. He added as he sat up again: "I am not a coward. I could not be a dog."

During nine years I have sailed in three different ships with the same crew. Not a man could be hired to leave me save for an officer's berth. And Jack Withers remained with me thirteen years.—London News.

Mothers' Guile.—"Mother," said Mrs. Smarton, "says the smell of stale tobacco makes her sick."

"Ah!" said Mr. Smarton, filling his pipe.

"So she has concluded, she says, that she will stay until she gets used to it, if it takes her all summer. Indianapolis Journal.

THE CLIFF OF GREAT PRAYER

I will tell you this story as it was told to me. The man who told it was a West Pointer and had once held a commission in the United States army for several years. He was now a "squaw man" and when I knew him his nature had become a curious mixture of white man and of Indian. He had the vices of both and the virtues of neither, but when the spirit of his early manhood was upon him he used the language of his youth, tinged with the subtle influences of the great plains, the still greater mountains and above all the great Spirit of Mystery, who is all of both and rules over all the wilderness and its children, good and bad. We sat by a campfire as he spoke and the pale moonlight flooded the face of the cliff before us. It was steep and towered up towards the star bright sky for a half thousand feet. This was in the land of the Absorokas, otherwise known as the Crow Indians, but the Absorokas never went to the summit of this great cliff except to get nearer the Great Spirit when they prayed, for it stood as a monument to the simple heroism of their people, as you will see.

My companion stood before me facing the rocks. The moonlight was full on his figure and his face shone with the spirit of his tale. He had been a witness of the deed of which he spoke, and its magnitude inspired the better feelings of his nature and they found expression. His gestures were simple, but when he raised his arm the long fringe on the sleeve of his buckskin coat gave a fantastic outline to his form. His long hair fell forward over his shoulders and one forgot the meaning of this livery in the impassioned words he spoke.

"Not long ago," he said, "the Great Spirit sent a terrible scourge to the Absorakas. Some of us knew that it was nothing more or less than the smallpox of the Maschela (white man), but our people were sore afraid and gave themselves up to fear. They felt the Great Spirit was angry with them and they knew not where his vengeance would end. The ignorance of our people and the way in which they live make them easy prey for this dread scourge. The sweat tepee was of no avail. The ice bath in the river but killed those who took it. The medicine men went into the hills and prayed to the Great Spirit, but the medicine they made was of no avail. Our people died like sheep in a storm, and it seemed as though the end had come.

"By day we sang the death songs, by night we beat the tom-toms to scare the evil away, but we were helpless. Each day was more fearful than the one before, and we resigned ourselves to death. In our lodge was an old, old medicine man. The oldest brave in the tribe had no recollection of the time when this revered prophet was possessed of youth, for his years ran back of the memory of living man. He was all powerful with the Great Spirit and his medicine was ever good. He had sat through all these terrible days in the garb of mourning, grieving for his people. One cold morning when the scourge was at its height he arose at break of day, threw his blanket over his head and stalked through the camp looking neither to the right nor the left. The people threw themselves on the ground before him and prayed that he might give them hope. He paid no heed, but went into the hills above the camp and came not out till the sun was high in the Heavens.

"When he returned his blanket was gone. His white hair streamed from his head in tangled strands. His step had the spring of youth. He had received the tidings. They were in his face and his people came to greet him. As he approached the center of the village he cried out in a great voice:

"'The Great Spirit has spoken, come my people and I will tell you how this evil can be driven away.' There was movement among the tepees. The Indians gathered about him as fast as their stricken limbs and benumbed faculties would allow and the medicine man imparted his revelation.

"'The Great Spirit has spoken to me. He has said that the flower of our youth must be given to Him that the rest may live. Seven of our young braves must ride their best horses over the high bluff to the rocks below and he will be appeased.' There was silence for a moment and then a low murmur of protest, when suddenly out from the throng there stepped a stripling, clean of limb and swift of foot, his prowess the pride of the tribe in its athletic sports.

"'It is as this old man says. I will go to the rocks below that my people may live. Who will go with me?' A hundred young Indians leaped forward, the fervor of sacrifice and excitement in their faces. 'There are too many,' the stripling said. 'Some must stay and care for the old. Let us choose who shall go.' They drew lots and the seven were chosen. They caught their best ponies. Decked themselves and their horses with the finest feathers and the brightest paint and followed by the wailing, moaning tribe, rode to the top of the bluff. The medicine man looked on with exultation, but with a secret sorrow. His grandson was there the pride of his closing years, tall and lithe, the champion foot racer of his tribe.

"'The Great Spirit did not say these young men should be so tried. They can blindfold themselves,' he said. His grand-son's eyes flashed fire and he drew himself up proudly. 'I go to my death with my eyes open as my father did before me. We will blindfold our ponies, which have done no wrong, but we will be men.'

"Strips of cloth were tied across the horses' eyes and the young warriors mounted. At a signal they brought their quirts down on their ponies' flanks and with the regularity of a cavalry charge at parade they rode to the edge of the cliff and amid the frightful groans and shrieks of their kinsmen disappeared over the brink. Their bodies were recovered by an awed and stricken people and buried with great honors. A few days after this the weather suddenly changed, the disease had run its course. The plague left the Absorakas and to this day its leaving is ascribed to the voluntary human sacrifice made on the high bluff yonder."

ADVERTISEMENTS.

Lost Control of Her Nerves

A HELPLESS, PAINFUL CONDITION.

From the Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn.

It is said that the present generation is living in an era of nervousness. Some attribute the cause to the climate of our country; if there is an atmospheric effect it certainly is the least of the causes that produce nervousness. The great freedom enjoyed by the American people is in a large measure to blame for the high-strung condition of our nerves. There is rustle and hustle on every hand. There are excursions, picnics and long journeys. We work days and plan during the nights, and in our hurry we bolt our food, sleep with irregularity, with seldom a thought of our nerves.

MRS. C. H. GUISE.

Mrs. C. H. Guise, of 410 Central Avenue, East Minneapolis, had the misfortune to suffer constantly from nervousness, and her trouble was aggravated by want of sleep. Night after night of sleeplessness had created a worn out condition and she sometimes would jerk and jump unconsciously.

In relating her experience to a Tribune representative, she said:

"I wish to state to you the great benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. For many months I was afflicted with nervous debility and could get no relief, until I began using the Pink Pills, the required result came very soon, and I hope I may have the privilege of recommending them to everyone suffering as I did, for I am certain the medicine gives instant relief without any bad results.

(Signed) MRS. C. H. GUISE."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.

DURRANT AND WORDEN WILL SOON KNOW.

NOT MUCH TIME IS LEFT.

Worden's Execution Has Been Set For Friday Next.

DURRANT'S ON THE 11TH.

Final Efforts to Bring an Exercise of Official Clemency.

(Special to the Tribune.)

SACRAMENTO, May 29.—The Governor will hand down his decision in the Durrant case on Monday morning next.

He will at the same time render his decision in the Worden case.

A committee of labor organizations arrived here today in Worden's behalf, and requested an audience with the Governor. The callers were notified that they would be heard tomorrow (Sunday) morning at 10 o'clock.

The conference tomorrow will end the submitting of testimony and pleadings in both cases.

Nothing more arrived today in Durrant's behalf.

The Governor, in rendering his decisions, will submit a short statement with each case, giving the reasons for his actions.

All is, of course, speculation as to what the outcome will be. The Governor will certainly give an unprejudiced decision, as he has fully and impartially investigated each case.

The hardest fight possible has been made for both of the condemned men. Their friends have exhausted everything possible and not a stone has been left unturned that might aid their cause.

If the Governor refuses to interfere the execution of Worden will take place on Friday next, June 4th, and that of Durrant the following week, on Friday, June 11th.

Opinion is divided as to what the decisions will be. The friends of Worden seem more hopeful than those of Durrant, and are calling attention to the fact that about a year ago President Cleveland wrote a letter to Governor Budd urging clemency in the case of Worden.

WANTS TO BORROW.

The East Oakland Street Car Line Seeks Some Assistance.

J. C. Johnson, receiver of the East Oakland Railroad Company, has petitioned the court to be allowed to borrow $12,000 with which to meet the expenses of the line. The sum is to be secured by receiver's certificates in amounts from $1,000 to $100.

The petition sets forth that at the end of last year a balance of $150.89 was on hand. Since that time, up to May 26, the receipts have been $12,663.25 and the disbursements $12,762.99, an excess in expenditure of $99.74.

The second installment of taxes are due but have not been paid. It amounts to $817.21. One hundred and thirty dollars is owing Reuben Jacobs and large sums are needed for the repair and advancement of the line. As a consequence the order of court is asked to enable the receiver to raise the funds needed.

Dispute Over a Boat.

The Acme Club has been sued by the South End Rowing Club for $299.99 damages claimed to be due. In April of '95 the South Ends arranged a regatta in which the various clubs took part. A barge, the "James A. Garfield" was loaned to the Acmes as they had no boat of their own and this was destroyed by fire while stored in the boathouse of the University Club.

Attempts to settle a fair price on the boat failed and now suit is brought. It is the contention of the Oakland Club, that individual members and not the club itself borrowed the boat.

THE PLATE GLASS RATE

Senator Jones' Attempt to Reduce It Fails of Success.

A VERY LENGTHY DEBATE.

Alleged Grasping Tendency of the Big Glass Combine.

ENORMOUS PROFITS CLAIMED.

A Motion to Adjourn Prevents the Exchange of Hard Words.

By Associated Press to The Tribune.

WASHINGTON, May 29.—The Senate resumed work at noon today. Mills of Texas secured consideration for the joint resolution authorizing the Secretary of War to use rations for the relief of destitute persons in the district overflowed by the Rio Grande river near El Paso, Texas, and appropriating $10,000 for the purpose.

Mills read a telegram from the Mayor and city officers of El Paso, saying that 500 houses had been destroyed and 3,000 people were destitute and in a condition beyond the power of local relief.

A joint resolution was passed.

The tariff bill was taken up on motion of Aldrich who called up the paragraphs relating to china, crockery, porcelain, etc., which had been passed over.

Aldrich, in behalf of the committee, withdrew the Senate amendments to paragraphs 90 and 91, and stated that the house provisions would be allowed to stand.

The bill was then considered from the point reached yesterday, paragraph 100.

An agreement was reached, striking out the provision that all fluted, rolled, ribbed or rough plate glass when ground or otherwise obscured, shall be subject to the same rate and duty as finished, cast and polished plate glass, unsilvered.

On the paragraph as to unsilvered, cast, polished plate glass, of small size, Jones of Arkansas, moved to reduce the rate from 8 cents per square foot. Jones declared that an increase of duty on the classes of plate glass was astounding. In one case, the rate was increased 83 per cent above the high rate of the McKinley act, which, he asserted, had been repudiated by the people because of its high rates. This was an attempt to raise the price of mirrors used in cheap furniture for poor people, while the large size glass used by people of wealth, had the rates reduced. This was a peculiarity of this whole bill, as though Senators in charge of the bill had in mind the old proverb: "To him who hath much, much shall be given, and, from him who hath little, little shall be taken away."

Jones referred to the enormous dividends declared by the plate-glass trust.

Platt of Connecticut stated that no dividends had been declared for the last three years.

Vest added that the entire plate glass trust with a few trifling exceptions was controlled by a combine which met annually at Pittsburg, making rates.

Jones presented a statement showing that the plate-glass combination had made profits of about $2,500,000 in twenty-two months, on a capital of $2,000,000.

Quay read a communication from a Pittsburg plate-glass company declaring that any statements that it was in the trust or combination in restraint of trade were untrue.

After a lengthy debate Jones' motion to reduce the rate on rough plate-glass from 8 to 6 cents was defeated. Yeas, 21, nays, 29.

Quay made a motion to adjourn over Monday in honor of Decoration day. It was discussed at some length, some Republicans saying they thought the tariff bill should be pressed. The Democrats supported the motion.

Morgan said he regretted that a Republican House of Representatives was compelled to meet Monday by an autocratic rule that a body, which worked like the door-keeper under the direction of the speaker who pulled strings and opened and shut the doors.

Frye called Morgan to order for speaking in that manner of a co-ordinate branch of the Government. The Alabama Senator mentioned several public measures passed by the Senate and not acted on in the House.

Morgan criticized the House for not acting on the Cuban resolution and disregarding the action of the Senate. Morgan said the House of Representatives was compelled to follow the dictates of one man and Congress was dishonoring itself.

Morgan was called to order by Hale. The chair directed the Alabama Senator to take his seat until the rule was read.

Gallinger, in the chair, sustained the point of order.

Morgan appealed from the decision.

Hale withdrew the point but Morgan was cut off by Quay asking a vote on the adjournment resolution which was carried by yeas 34 to 17 noes.

MALOON'S CHARGES.

Clecak Says They Are Not True and Sues Him for Libel.

RESULT OF A PRINTED CARD

A Bitter Arraignment of the Place Run by the Restauranteur.

ARREST WILL BE MADE TONIGHT

Some of the Offenses Which Maloon Says Take Place.

The war that License Inspector Henry Maloon has been waging against those who have been selling liquor without licenses since Maloon was appointed by Mayor Thomas took a sudden turn today when John J. Clecak, the West Oakland restauranteur, swore to a complaint charging Maloon with criminal libel. A warrant will be issued this afternoon and before nightfall Maloon will be arrested.

The charge is based upon an article which appeared in a morning newspaper of the issue of March 17th, over Maloon's signature.

One of the charges made in Maloon's article is as follows:

"If the fathers and mothers of this city knew half the devilry, corruption and vice which are going on in the side rooms of your all night restaurants, such a protest would go up to the Council of this city that an ordinance would be passed to compel you to close at midnight, for more young men and women are ruined in such places as kept by you than in all saloons of this city combined."

A REVEL AMID FLOWERS.

Charity In Modish Gowns on the F. M. Smith Elysium.

Arbor Villa, the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Smith, has been the mecca of many pilgrims in search of an ideal garden but the thick rose hedge with its brambles and thorns have hidden the glories within as effectually as a beautiful palace of the sleeping princess was hidden in the fairy tales until Prince Charming came and pushed the brambles aside. Charity was the Prince Charming of today and wide were the gates of Arbor Villa thrown open at his magic touch.

The battle of roses began early and faraway France with its flower battles and its garden fetes never showed anything prettier than the sight today. Oakland's prettiest girls were in the wide balcony overlooking the driveway and every man had to face a battery not only of bright eyes and pretty smiles but of roses pelted by fair hands. Rose petals of many hues carpeted the gravel path below and dying gave their fragrance to the soft warm air.

In the quaint adobe cottage where the perfume of lilacs is heavy on the air, tea of the fragrant brew of Chinese mandarins was served. Mrs. J. H. T. Watkinson was in charge and assisting her were a number of the society belles and matrons.

At 7 o'clock this evening the fete will be over and the revelry will cease, but by that time the fund for the Central Free Kindergarten will have materially increased and the forlorn, lonesome, sad-eyed children in the lower part of town can look forward to another year of teaching between the four walls of the Kindergarten.

To Mrs. F. M. Smith is due the generous thought of opening her home for the benefit of the Kindergarten in which she takes so keen an interest, and to the following ladies, who assisted in making the fete a successful affair, credit is also due: Mrs. P. D. Browne, president of the Kindergarten Board; Mrs. George Wheaton, secretary; Mrs. Eugene Beck, treasurer; Mrs. A. J. Ralston, Mrs. W. G. Henshaw, Mrs. T. C. Coogan, Mrs. Josiah Stanford, Mrs. J. H. T. Watkinson, Mrs. A. Simpson, Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. W. H. Bailey, Mrs. F. H. Kittredge, Mrs. R. W. Gorrill, Mrs. Gordon Stolp, Miss Carrie Bacon.

CRONIN DYING.

While Nearing Eternity, He Says Bryant Shot Him.

THE VICTIM GROWING WORSE.

Taking His Statement for the Purpose of Prosecuting.

THE PAIN OF THE INJURED MAN.

Sorrowing Relatives Try in Vain to Afford Him Relief.

Deputy Constable Denis Cronin is not expected to live more than twenty-four hours longer, if he lasts that length of time. In fact the physicians almost hourly expect the end. He has declined greatly since yesterday and was so weak and in such pain that it was thought he was dying.

The attending physicians have given up hope of his recovery, though everything possible is being done for him. However little help can be given him at present.

At 8 o'clock this morning Cronin took a decided turn for the worse. The attending physicians believed him dying and at once summoned the young man's wife and relatives. Deputy District Attorney Lin Church and Stenographer Frank Thompson also visited him and the dying statement was at once taken.

Cronin firmly expressed the belief that he was dying and then painfully detailed the circumstances surrounding the shooting. He named James Bryan who is now in the County Jail, as the man who shot him.

The dying statement is in the hands of the District Attorney, but he refuses to make its contents public unless Cronin dies.

The wounded man's wife and sister-in-law are by his bedside, watching every movement and helping as much as is in their power to prolong life.

This afternoon Cronin rallied somewhat, though it may only be temporary. He has just about one chance in a thousand to live. His vigorous physique is in his favor.

If he does not die, he will be a hopeless paralytic for life in all probability. His spinal cord is so badly injured that he has absolutely no control of his body whatever.

During the day he has remained in a semi-conscious state, at times complaining of great pain in the region of the wound.

All hope of extracting the bullet has been given up, for it is realized that a further attempt in this direction might prove fatal.

Bryan, the boy who did the shooting and who is now locked up in the County Jail, seems to realize the seriousness of his crime, now that he is thoroughly sober. He refuses to talk to anyone and has nothing whatever to say about the affair.

McGinnis, his companion whom it seems is largely responsible for the shooting, also maintains a rigid silence.

A WOMAN SCORNED.

Finnigan was struck by a Sixteenth street car and some time after died in jail, where he was taken under the presumption that he was drunk. In the recent suit for damages the jury rendered a verdict for the defendant company.

Boys Imprisoned.

HE LOVES MARIA CRIST.

Though She Is Still a Wife, He Says He Will Wed Her.

REFUSAL OF A LICENSE.

A Deputy's Sharp Ear Prevents an Open Case of Bigamy.

John Frank and Maria Christ, both of San Leandro, called on Deputy County Clerk Mason this morning and wanted a marriage license, but they did not get it. While Mason was filling out the stub, the woman incidentally remarked that she has a husband from whom she has never been divorced, though she has not seen him for four years.

The couple were married in February, 1892, and about a year later, the husband deserted her, going to sea.

A four-year-old child is now all that remains of the union, except the official marriage certificate.

Mason refused the license at once and this stand called forth a burst of wrath from the groom, who evidently had no objection to the woman of his adoration, committing bigamy.

"I'll get a license and marry her anyhow," he declared.

"You won't get one here until she gets a divorce," responded Mason.

"Well I'll fix this divorce business in short order," heatedly retorted the disappointed man.

"I'm going to marry Maria, that's all."

The pair then left the office highly indignant at not obtaining the paper they sought.

THE NEW ST. JOHN'S

Corner Stone Laying Will Take Place Wednesday Next.

UNIQUE NOTE TO ARCHITECTS.

Much Competition but None of the Plans Were Accepted.

MATTHEWS HAS BEEN CHOSEN.

His Ideas Are for a Pretty English Parish Church.

The corner stone of St. John's Church will be laid with appropriate ceremonies next Wednesday afternoon. Invitations have been sent out and many clergymen will be present.

The new St. John's will be a very pretty gothic edifice. Walter J. Mathews has been entrusted with the responsibility of harmonizing the necessities of the congregation, the desires of the finance committee at the same time evolving a building that will be a credit architecturally.

The preliminary work of getting plans has been the cause of some lively competition among local architects. The officers of the church originally sent out a little circular that is spoken of as being one of the most unique ever sent out to architects. It stated that plans were invited for a church and that no competitor could have any guarantee that his plans would be returned nor would the officers be responsible.

"This simply meant," said an architect today, "that the officers of the church wanted all but one of the competitors to waste his time without hope of recompense. Probably no such circular has ever been sent out before."

The officers, however, received twenty-five competitive designs but not one of them was acceptable and so all were rejected. The wardens then decided to place the matter with Walter Mathews and he has his ideas completed although the plans are not yet finished, nor are the contracts let.

"The idea throughout," said Mr. Mathews today, "is to have a typical parish church. There is but one true type of Episcopal parish church and that is the one that is found in every little town in England.

"We have decided to have a church built on a lot 100x100 instead of 100x150 as was originally intended. This enables us to have a much more compact church and the sale of the fifty feet will materially add to the building fund. The new building will have seating capacity for 400 and will be strictly Gothic in style, so far as it is possible to follow Gothic details on a wooden structure.

"The chancel will give ample room for a choir of forty boys and there will be guild rooms, vestry, Sunday school rooms and all the necessary departments for a first-class Episcopal church. The roof will be an open timber one somewhat similar to that of the Unitarian Church and the fund of about $10,000 will permit of all these ideas being carried out with completeness and a fair share of ornamental work. This sum does not include anything for furnishing but it is sufficient for a very complete church."

THE BLAIR ESTATE.

It Will Be Partitioned by the Court on Tuesday Next.

On Tuesday Judge Ellsworth will partition the Blair estate. By the decree, which has already been prepared in blank, Mrs. Mabel Squire will get two pieces of land, one containing 184 acres and the other 39 acres. Both are encumbered in the aggregate amounting to $65,000. Florence Blair will receive 49 acres of the home place. This is mortgaged for $10,000. E. A. Heron, A. H. Breed and George Nusbaumer, who surveyed and reported on the estate, are each allowed $333.33 for their services, while Fitzgerald & Abbott will be given $5,000 attorney's fees.

The Company Won.

The Oakland Railroad Company has been given a judgment by Judge Hunt in San Francisco, against Jessel Yates, who sued for $5,000 damages, for injuries claimed to have been received in an accident a year and a half ago.

Attorney G. W. Baker, represented the company and he ably proved that Yates was not injured to any extent that could be measured by a monied consideration.

A Bicycle Meet.

One of the largest bicycle race meets of the season, will be held at San Jose tomorrow. A number of the best men in the local cycling clubs are entered.

ONCE MORE AT HOME.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman Returns From the East.

THREE WEEKS OF PLEASURE.

The Men He Met in the Capital of the Nation.

HIS IMPRESSIONS OF WHITE.

Feeling of the People With Respect to the Times.

Rev. Dr. E. S. Chapman, pastor of the Market Street Congregational Church, has returned from the East, after a visit extending over twenty-five days. He has had a number of pleasant experiences and spoke of his impressions from the journey as follows to a Tribune representative:

"I went to New York and Boston by way of the sunset," said he, "stopping one day at New Orleans. I spent one day at Washington, and was in the gallery of the Senate when the debate on the Cuban resolution was in progress. I was present when the vote was taken. I could not but notice the absence of great men in the Senate, but was pleased with the standing of the California Senators. I heard the great speech of Senator White on the Cuban question and could tell by the attention he received that he is regarded by the other Senators as a man of great ability and learning. The action of the Senate on the Cuban question impressed me as a yielding on the part of that body to feverish public sentiment with the struggling Cubans. During the session, Senator Perkins was called by the Vice-President to the chair and presided for a considerable time.

"I called on Judge Hilborn and found him with his charming wife and daughter, entertaining a company of friends with their usual cordiality.

"I also met the Judge at the Capitol during the session of Congress. I met many distinguished public men, members of the Cabinet, Senators and Representatives. It seemed to be a relief to them to meet some one who had no favors to ask, and was not seeking for any position, for himself or friends—surely a source of great enjoyment to me, affording me great freedom in conversation with them.

"I was especially pleased with a remark made by Secretary Wilson of the Agricultural Department in speaking of his call to the position he now occupies. Said he, 'I did not seek it, I did not desire it, but I accepted the invitation of the President and I am determined to do all in my power for the men who have their coats off—the laboring masses.' He assured me he intended to visit California and I assured him of a cordial welcome.

"The country looks bright and beautiful at this season of the year. There is a general feeling of expectation for better times. There is great interest in the Christian Endeavor convention, and large numbers will undoubtedly come from the East.

"I went to Bunker Hill, to the old South Church and Faneuil Hall. On my way back I spent two or three days in Defiance county, Ohio, where I was born and spent my childhood and early manhood."

Many Improvements Needed in Various Parts of the City.

THE VIEWS OF COUNCILMEN.

Bathing in Lake Merritt Will Soon Be Illegal.

ANOTHER ESTUARY BRIDGE.

Obstructing Streets Recently Opened to the Water Front.

The Committee on Ordinance and Judiciary held a meeting last evening and a number of ordinances were recommended to be passed by the Council.

It was recommended that the City Attorney be directed to proceed with the case of George Taylor vs. Frank K. Mott and other members of the last City Council in regard to the Exempt Firemen.

The ordinance prohibiting bathing in Lake Merritt was, on motion of Mr. Heitmann, recommended to be passed.

The ordinance directing the Board of Public Works to advertise for bids for doing the city printing for the ensuing year was recommended to be passed.

The ordinance reducing the dog license from $2.50 to 25 cents, was, on motion of Mr. Heitmann, laid over.

Mr. Girard said he though the tax on horses and cows was excessive and worked a hardship on the poor people.

Mr. Fibush's ordinance making it a misdemeanor for children under sixteen to go boating on Lake Merritt or the estuary was amended to make the penalty $20 or ten days.

The chicken ordinance was then considered. On motion of Mr. Fibush the Fifth Ward was stricken out and on motion of Mr. Heitmann the Fourth Ward was added to the territory where chickens will not be permitted to roam at large.

Mr. Girard asked that that part of the Second Ward east of San Pablo avenue be added. This was done and the ordinance was recommended to be passed, the prohibited territory now being the First, Third, Fourth and Sixth Wards and that part of the Second Ward east of San Pablo avenue.

KEEPING STREETS OPEN.

The ordinance requiring that livery stables shall be connected with sewers was laid over.

Mr. Heitmann called the attention to the members of the Council present to the fact that many of the property owners were protesting against the action of Payne Shafter of Marin county, who was erecting a building and fence at the foot of Jefferson street. Mr. Heitmann said the people believed that when a street was ordered open it should be kept open. The Councilmen agreed to investigate the case.

Shafter was lately given permission to store wood on half of the street and it is alleged that he has taken that permission to mean that he has absolute control of the street.

The ordinance regulating plumbing was laid over, there being no representative from the plumbers' union present.

COMMITTEE ON STREETS.

The matter of opening up Fourteenth street from Harrison street to Lake Merritt was laid over.

Mr. Girard said it was his intention to have another thoroughfare to East Oakland. The street, he said, could be opened to the lake and a bridge could be built across that body of water. The matter was delayed to allow Mr. Fibush to confer with the property owners in that district.

The following bids were received for improving Lee street, between Vernon and Adams: Oakland Paving Company, $1,617.20; East Oakland Paving and Contracting Company, $1,762.10; Piedmont Paving Company, $1,678.30.

City Engineer Clement reported that some of the property on Lee street encroached on the street three feet and the matter was referred to City Engineer Clement and City Attorney Dow.

It was recommended to the Council that Q. A. Chase et al. be allowed to grade and macadamize by private contract Central avenue, from Summit to Webster streets.

A petition from Albert Miller calling attention to the growth of weeds on Union street between Twelfth and Fourteenth was read and it was decided to direct the Superintendent of Streets to attend to the matter.

The petition from the Twenty-third avenue Improvement Club to widen and bituminize Twenty-third avenue, was laid over to allow Councilman Rowe to see a majority of the property owners on the street.

The widening of the street will have to be done by making the sidewalks two feet narrower. They are at present but twelve feet wide.

Mr. Earl said the people of the Seventh Ward wanted everything in sight. He thought his ward was entitled to as much improvement as the Seventh Ward. Then Mr. Earl brought up the condition of B street which, he said, was overrun with Scotch thistles and it was decided to see the property owners along that street.

A resolution was recommended to the Council authorizing the Superintendent of Streets to notify the property owners on the following streets to construct within fifteen days cement sidewalks six feet wide where not already done in cement or bitumen: Pine street, between William and Atlantic; Atlantic, between Pine and Peralta; Wood, between Atlantic and Central Pacific Railway Company's right of way.

The petitions to grade and curb with wood East Twenty-first street from Sixteenth to Nineteenth avenues and East Twenty-first from Nineteenth to Twenty-third avenues, were laid over to allow Mr. Rowe to investigate.

The resolution of intention to re-macadamize Webster street from the estuary to Seventh street was referred to a committee consisting of Messrs. Heitmann, Watkins and Fibush, who will investigate before the next meeting of the Committee.

The resolution directing the City Engineer to prepare a resolution of intention to improve the southerly half of East Eleventh street, between Fourth and Fifth avenues was recommended to be passed.

The resolution of intention be drawn to sewer East Eleventh street, between Eleventh and Thirteenth avenues.

AUDITING AND FINANCE.

At the conclusion of the meeting of the Committee on Streets the Committee on Finance held a short session.

The resolution ordering the City Clerk to purchase election supplies was recommended for passage.

The matter of transferring certain bond interest money to the general fund was recommended, Auditor Snow explaining that the transfer was simply a matter of bookkeeping.

The resolution rescinding the resolution authorizing the City Treasurer to employ extra clerks was recommended. The resolution rescinded was vetoed by Mayor Thomas.

The claim of Daniel T. Meyer for $30 collected on an erroneous assessment was referred to the Assessor and City Attorney.

It was recommended to the Council that $100 be appropriated for use of the City Attorney in carrying on the city's cases now pending in the courts.

OTHER COMMITTEES.

The Committee on Municipal License met for a few minutes.

It was recommended that the resolution requiring applications for saloon licenses contain a diagram of the location of the saloon in the block, be passed by the Council.

The Committee on Fire and Water then met and considered the question of which of the hydants in the center of the city should be given to each of the two water companys.

A DAY WITH SCOTIA.

The Caledonian Club Holds Its Picnic at Shell Mound.

The Caledonians are holding high revelry at Shell Mound Park today, for this is their thirty-first annual picnic.

During the past thirty years the Scottish residents of San Francisco, Oakland and vicinity have held this annual gathering and have competed in the national games of Scotland. At today's affair, large delegations of the Clan MacDonald and the St. Andrews societies of this city are present. Three thousand dollars has been offered in prizes and the contests are excellent.

A reproduction of Burns' cottage in Ayrshire is a great attraction and contains many mementoes of the Scottish bard.

The picnic will continue until evening. No picnic given at Shell Mound during the year attracts more interested attendance. The games are always well patronized and in every instance the patrons are guaranteed a day of sport which affords relaxation and invigorates the man of labor of mind or hand for the ensuing week.

Prof. and Mrs. J. B. McChesney will spend the summer at Mill Valley.

WERE QUIETLY MARRIED.

Two Young People From Haywards Give That Town a Surprise.

When Martin Welch and Miss Lena Palmtag were given a marriage license Thursday afternoon, the deputy clerk did not know he was an innocent party to an elopement.

When Mr. Welch left Haywards on the morning he sat at one end of the car and told his friend he was going to San Francisco. Miss Palmtag, who is just of age and recently out of the High School, was going to Oakland for her parents to do some shopping. In Oakland they met, procured the license and went to San Leandro where they were married by Rev. Father McAvoy.

The wedding was entirely unexpected and is a source of great grief to Mrs. Welch's parents who had not looked with favor on young Martin's attentions to their daughter. The Palmtags are leading members of the Entre Nous Club and the father is a wealthy brewer and property owner. Young Welch is an electric lineman.

Trustee's Sale;

FIGHT FOR A GAS WORKS

The San Leandro Concern Becomes a Bone of Contention.

An Attempt to Get Williams and Tassel Out of the Way.

The attempt to supply gas to consumers through a nickel-in-the-slot device has proved a dismal failure, so far as San Leandro is concerned at least, for this afternoon the San Leandro Gas and Electric Light Company started suit against H. W. Williams, H. G. Tassell et al., for the purpose of ousting them from the control of the San Leandro Gas Works.

The complaint recites the fact that prior to August 26, 1896, W. J. Landers was the sole owner of the gas works. On that date, an agreement was entered into between the plaintiff and defendants to dispose of the stock to the defendants for $12,000, to be paid within four years.

Williams and Tassell were to put in a new system for producing the gas and for distributing it, within ninety days. While the installments of the purchase price were being paid, interest on the whole amount was to be collected monthly.

On November 1, 1896, the defendants took possession, and all went well until the new owners occasionally had no gas to give consumers. Matters came to a head in April of this year, when the $60 monthly interest was not forthcoming.

Mr. Landers alleges that the firm is insolvent, and that it has failed to keep its contract with him. As the new owners did not pay the bills, the place was attached, and is now in charge of a constable, who has been in possession for the past three weeks.

Fearing damage suits, the plaintiff has had the works operated himself for some time.

Now he asks for a temporary restraining order immediately, and later a permanent injunction prohibiting Williams or Tassell from interfering with the plant. He also wants the court to annul the agreement entered into.

CAUGHT BY QUINLAN.

An Alameda Burglar Comes to Grief and Is Now in Jail.

Charles Wheeler alias Ed Nichols, is lodged in the county jail, charged with burglarizing the home of Mrs. Colby at 1113 Lafayette street, Alameda. The robbery was committed at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon and three hours later, Deputy Sheriff Quinlan arrested the man in Fruitvale.

Wheeler is little more than a boy, being but 19 years old, though he is not unknown to the officers, especially in Santa Clara county, where he was but recently released from jail.

The stolen articles were found on the prisoner when he was searched. He admitted the crime when confronted with the evidence against him.

The stolen articles are: A lady's bead chain, pair of gold bracelets, two pairs of eye glasses, ladies gloves, card case, half dozen handkerchiefs and two opera glasses.

USED BAD LANGUAGE.

Mary Flaherty, who was tried for insanity and discharged yesterday will be arrested for disturbing the peace and using vulgar language. The complaint is signed by Gus Thaler. The Thalers and Flahertys are neighbors at Eighteenth and Cypress streets and it was on complaint of the Thalers that Mary was examined as to her sanity. Upon being released it is claimed that Mary went around to the Thaler home and said a number of uncomplimentary things about the Thaler family, not stopping to choose her words.

Goes to Reform.

Gordon A. Williamson, a fourteen-year-old lad, was committed to the Preston School today. He is a young incorrigible and has a penchant for stealing. On the stand his mother, Mrs. Martin, testified to the theft of a pig by the boy.

Another pioneer is dead and a lady purporting to be his widow appears and claims his estate. It would be strange indeed for any old Californian to die without at least one woman claiming his property on the ground that she was his wife. Considering the scarcity of women in California in early days, the pioneers had a remarkable penchant for accumulating them

The suspicions of the people of Pasadena evidently exceed their confidence in their ability to take care of themselves. The electric railway people have offered to light the city's streets free, which means a saving of $11,000 a year. The citizens have protested against its acceptance, though, because they fear there is "something behind it," though the most astute cannot discover anything.

The Los Angeles Herald makes a good suggestion when it advocates a semi-centennial celebration of the discovery of gold in California. Such an event would attract the attention of the world to the Golden State and bring into greater prominence its history, its phenomenal growth and its vast and varied industries.—Visalia Times

For some time past there has been a deplorable lack of discipline and much disorganization in the Oakland fire department This condition of affairs has been evidenced by the frequent charges of insubordination that have recently been made by the Chief and his assistant against members of the department The management of the recent fires has also indicated a lack of efficiency in the Chief and Fire Warden, and an absence of discipline among the men

The safety and welfare of our city demand that the Fire Commissioners lay aside any differences that may exist between them and reorganize the department by putting competent men in charge The street brawls and the many personal encounters and recriminations that have been going on for the past couple of months are not only weakening the efficiency of the service but are resulting in holding up our city as a laughing stock throughout the State The commissioners cannot afford to permit this condition of affairs to continue—the tax payers have placed in their hands the necessary machinery and they must use it That the present officials are not satisfactory to the board was proved at a recent meeting when a motion made to re-elect the present chief for another term of two years was beaten by a two-to-one vote The members of the board should reach an understanding on the matter at once There are plenty of good Republicans in town thoroughly competent to fill the places and as it is evident that the present officials must go, the commissioners should harmonize their differences of opinion at once and select successors to those now in charge.

The department is an expensive one to Oakland and the citizens who foot the bills certainly have rights in the premises The protection from fire that they are supposed to receive in return for the money they expend in supporting the department is now badly discounted by the jangle that is existing From the uppermost to the lowest branch of the service discord reigns, the men are fearful of offending one side or the other as they do not know which way victory will go cliques have been established bitter personal feeling is shown and in fact a general cut-throat policy prevails throughout the entire department This must be stopped and the only way it can be accomplished will be by removing the present Chief and Fire Warden The commissioners should do their duty

Many a poor devil will lick his lips with envy at the account of the manner in which two murderers feasted in the Chicago penitentiary yesterday before going to the scaffold One had frogs legs, ham and eggs, French mushrooms, fried potatoes, celery, coffee, and a cigar while the other contented himself with fried fish, oatmeal, custard, strawberry shortcake ice cream, and coffee. Dyspepsia had no horrors for them.

The Canadian Pacific Railway lost $1,250,000 in the decline of its wheat shipments in 1896 as compared with the year before But, on the other hand, it nearly made this large sum up by the increased activity in the mining business of the Northwest The road will build a branch to the great Kootenay mining district

Ephraim C Force of New York, on an assigned claim of Mrs Olive A Goodwin, obtained a verdict of $262 against Pullman's Palace Car Company for the loss of a sealskin sack and a boy's overcoat from the sleeper Dongola. The company contended it was not responsible for baggage or wearing apparel unless it was checked The company also relied on a proviso printed on the ticket that it would not be responsible for articles left unchecked in the cars.

Bishop Nichols confirmed a large class of candidates at St Paul s Episcopal Church Thursday evening There were eighteen candidates At the conclusion of the ceremony, the Bishop preached a short sermon.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted at the Annual Convention of the Alameda County Woman s Christian Temperance Union held Wednesday

'Resolved, That the proper observance of the Christian Sabbath is essential to the best interests of the individual, the home, and the community, therefore we will do all in our power to stop the present fearful tide of Sabbath desecration which threatens the destruction of the commonwealth and to this end we will work for a State Sabbath law and for the closing of all saloons in Alameda County on the Lord s Day

'Resolved, That the members of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union sympathize deeply with the large numbers of worthy men out of employment, and we would respectfully call the attention of the municipal authorities to the same, to the end that if possible some method may be devised to permanently remedy this great evil

"Resolved, That the defeat of the Constitutional Suffrage Amendment has aroused us to a greater comprehension of the extreme need of women suffrage to elevate the morals of our State as well as a simple matter of justice to the women of the commonwealth.

"Inasmuch as our youth are accustomed to congregate on vacant grounds for the purpose of ball-playing, and, inasmuch as the use of bad language, the drinking of beer and gambling has become prevalent at such ball games,

"Resolved, That the Alameda County Woman's Christian Temperance Union deprecates such bad habits whereas only innocent pleasure should prevail and that we recommend our superintendent of juvenile work to use such means as are found best to eradicate the evils

'Resolved, As it comes to the knowledge of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union that boys of the age of twelve years and upwards are found frequenting billiard saloons at the same time that older men are there smoking and gambling, and inasmuch as these billiard rooms are generally next door to a saloon and thus become the kindergarten of the saloon, we urge upon parents the necessity of knowing where their boys are after 6 o clock in the evening.

"Resolved, As neither the Christian Union nor any Christian organization may give countenance to any disreputable or unholy business, therefore we the members of the Alameda Woman's Christian Temperance Union do most earnestly protest against any liquor dealer of Oakland, having any place on entertaining the National Christian Endeavor Society expected to visit our city in July next To have any liquor dealer on such a Committee will bring reproach upon Christianity as well as upon the great Christian Endeavor Society composed of the best young people of the Nation.

"Resolved, That the thanks of the Convention are most heartily tendered to the East Oakland Union for their generous entertainment and also those ladies and gentlemen who assisted to make the medal contest interesting and special thanks for the excellent music provided."

STARTED A SCARE.

Ray Baker and Roy Macdonald Are Mistaken for Footpads.

Ray Baker and Roy Macdonald do not look much like highwaymen as they stroll down Broadway but in the dead of night on a lonely road they can assume the characters well enough to give the police some trouble. They have just had a little experience that does not seem to have had any pleasant features at the time, for any of the participants, though now it is all over it is regarded as a good joke.

Baker and Macdonald had been calling in Alameda and prolonged their stay to an hour so late that the cars had stopped running. Sooner than trip the light fantastic over the lonely marsh road that separates the Encinal City from their homes in Oakland they went to the power house of the electric road and endeavored to charter a special car. Receiver Saxton, though would not entertain the proposition and as there was no other means of locomotion in sight they decided to "hoof it."

They had not gone far when they saw a hack coming up the "cut off" road from Alameda and heading for Oakland. In the hope that it was disengaged they ran towards it and then came the trouble. The hackman with his mind full of the recent hold-ups and nocturnal robberies at once concluded that the two sprinters were the marauders and that they intended to gather him into their fold. He therefore whipped up and made all haste for Oakland where he notified the police and Officer Baker at once set forth to capture the desperadoes.

Explanations followed naturally in due time and when the hackman learned that he had unintentionally missed a good fare he was so despondent that fears were entertained for his sobriety.

PICTURES NOT SOLD.

Editor Tribune—Sir: Will you kindly give space in your excellent paper for a correction of the statement contained in your Thursday evening's issue, that at the sale of the school furniture of Snell Seminary some "class pictures" were sold. These pictures representing those who have become endeared to me by years of close association in the home and the class room, are priceless, and it would grieve me sincerely if any of these dear girls of mine could believe that I would be willing to part with these sweet mementoes which are reckoned among my best treasures. Very respectfully.

Flags and Flowers.

There will be a special service commemorative of Decoration Day in the Church of the Advent, East Oakland, Sunday, May 30th in the evening at 7 30. The Rector, Rev. V. Marshall Law, says he is not running in opposition to any central service which the Grand Army members have, but that as all cannot attend such a central Oakland service who would like to, the East Oakland Episcopal Church will have a service for such. Three speakers have been arranged for, two from the Grand Army Veterans, and one who was in the Confederate Army. This latter is by a particular and kindly request of some of the Grand Army people. The church will be decorated with flags and flowers, and the Episcopal Hymnal will furnish the music.

AMERICANS AS A RULE

Are Not Favorably Disposed Towards Counterfeits,

Either counterfeit money or counterfeit goods of any kind. The United States Court, sitting at Rochester, New York, has ordered an injunction against the sale of Grain-O in packages made to imitate the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee packages.

The counterfeit in this case was put out in packages having the red seals and much of the wording of Postum, and the nondiscriminating public have been given this or some one of the other various imitations when calling at the stores for the original Postum Cereal Food Coffee

These makers of articles to furnish grocers with which to "substitute" for some original article have little idea of hygienic or food value in a Creal Coffee. Some counterfeits are offered in place of Postum because the package weighs two pounds, while the genuine package weighs but 1¼ pounds. One counterfeit two-pound package looks like browned rye kernals ground. It is probably harmless enough but no idea of food value is there. Postum is made

THE PRYAL ELECTRIC CO.

A Well Known Organization That Is Popular and Reliable.

The fact that electricity is more economical than gas is as fully sustained by experience as the other fact that electricity is superior as an illuminator, and the third and other fact that the Pryal Electric Co. is doing a land office business in placing plants and inaugurating electric systems brings together three facts which property owners should cheerfully consider The manager, Chas. L. Pryal, is an electrician of judgment and experience, conscientious and clever in his work, and his staff of assistants men chosen for their ability in their lines of effort

This company has just installed an admirable system of electrical lighting in the Tribune office, has completely wired Hamilton Hall with a system similar to that of the Macdonough, the work being done under the able supervision of C. L Gilson, superintendent of construction, and constituting one of the largest jobs ever done in this city. Fan motors and electric lights have also been installed in the Pearl Oyster House. The company deals in all kinds of motors, has a reliable repair department and is recommended for good work and fair prices.

A POSTOFFICE PRIZE.

Much Rivalry to Fill the Vacancy in San Francisco.

The death of Frank McCoppin has given a fresh impetus to the scramble for the postmastership of San Francisco. The most prominent candidates are Samuel W Backus, W. W. Dodge, John T Dare, Charles F. Bassett and B. F. McKinley.

Senator Perkins is believed to favor Bassett but says he will endorse any good man named by Congressman Loud and Committeeman Spreckels It is believed that John T. Dare is the first choice of those two gentlemen for although Dare and Dodge were candidates for the appraisership each man would now like to be postmaster W W Montague was Spreckels' original selection for the place, but he would not accept and recommended Dodge instead

B F McKinley's principal chance seems to be that he is the uncle of the President. He has, however, been well backed by local Republicans and is certainly in the running.

A VARIETY OF ENTERTAINMENTS

Receptions in the Parlor and Outings in the Field.

COMING NUPTIAL EVENTS.

A Chatty Review of the Week With a Forecast by the Meddler.

Two events have made this into a brilliant week—Mrs. McNear's huge tea and the garden party at Arbor Villa. At the McNear's on Wednesday there were 600 guests, half of them men, which we all like. It was a very charming tea—the house prettily decorated and densely crowded, of course. In a sense it was a farewell, as I understand the McNears leave for the Islands soon. There was a large receiving party, mostly of the older women, assisted by the younger ones, and some of the stunning gowns that distinguish the older set.

* * *

The fete at Arbor Villa was a great success. There was an open air promenade concert, with the Presidio band, a bataille des fleures, tennis, croquet, dancing, donkey riding, skipping rope and afternoon tea. They say many men are of many minds and most women have one more, but there should be variety enough here to satisfy anyone. The hours are from two until seven and the Frank Smith grounds are very beautiful just now. The whole affair was for the benefit of the Central Kindergarten—I have already given you the names of the patronesses. The admission was fifty cents and twenty-five. The grounds alone were worth it, and it was a very fashionable affair.

* * *

Derby Day last week was very successful and the Fabiolas made lots of money. I hope the kindergartens will be as successful.

* * *

The Ellsworth-Mastick marriage in Alameda on Wednesday afternoon was very pretty. It took place at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otis, 1609 Santa Clara avenue. Mrs. Otis is the bride's aunt. It was a pink and white wedding, the bride wearing white organdie over white silk. Her bouquet was of bride roses, her only jewels being a diamond sunburst, the groom's gift. Miss Susan Ellsworth, the groom's sister, was the bridesmaid, in a white organdie gown over pink silk, with pink ribbons. Charles J. Evans was best man. Rev. W. W. Scudder performed the marriage ceremony, the bridal party standing under a lover's knot of La France roses. The groom is a San Francisco attorney, whose family resides at Niles. The honeymoon will be spent in Southern California. On their return the couple will keep house at Sixteenth and Linden streets, Oakland.

* * *

There was a very charming dance at the McDermott's, Eighth and Center streets, on Friday evening. It was for the young ladies and there were seventy-five there—just a pleasant dancing crowd.

And for a second time the auctioneer's hammer has been heard in the old Merritt house. Most of the teaching force has gone to Van Ness Seminary. It's a great pity but the fun and frolic and hum of study once heard in the Twelfth street institution will be heard no more.

Mills College gave a very charming concert on Tuesday and the graduating exercises followed Wednesday. The girls were very pretty in their white organdies and mulls over white silk. Some of the undergraduates looked very pretty, too, with flowered organdies over colors.

* * *

The High School young people had a very informal and pleasant graduating and a novel class day, when Goldsmith's "She Stoops to Conquer," as revised and adapted by Raymond Russ, was played by clever young amateurs. So well did Mr. Russ, who is a teacher in the institution, do that many people said he had outrivaled Goldsmith, surely a notable compliment. People who have attended the High School exercises for years said it was the best and most artistic class day ever given. Every part was well taken.

Beatrice Vrooman, Stanly Coghill, and quite a number of the Jackson street children were members of the class.

* * *

The Greek letter girls had a great time at the home of Mrs. A. A. Moore on Friday night. The family was all away and the girls had the whole of the big house to themselves and a great time in consequence. An elaborate dinner was set for twenty-five, and those girls enjoyed themselves quite as much as at a certain stag banquet I told about in whispers a week or two ago. Only, of course, the joy was of a different grade, and not so moist by a good deal.

* * *

A luncheon was given this week by the ladies who participated in the Ebell cantata last week. It was a very pleasant ending for the somewhat arduous rehearsals. There were pretty decorations, pretty gowns, and pretty speeches. Only participants in the cantata were present and the soloists were toasted.

The luncheon was held in the rooms of the Ebell.

Mrs. Tom Magee, Jr., and Mrs. William Magee gave a lawn party at the Haywards club house on Thursday in honor of Misses Jean and Florence Hush. All the younger set was there, among them Miss Florence Sharon, Miss Blanche Sharon, Miss Genevieve Fore, Miss Harriet Kittredge, Miss Margaret Sinclair, Miss Annie Clay, Miss Grace Gorrill, Miss Grace Sanborn, Miss Grace Baldwin, Miss Etta Havens, Miss Beatrice Vrooman and Miss Irene Baker.

* * *

The Kindergarten Training school gave a reception on Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 on Franklin street. Light refreshments were served and there was quite a crowd.

* * *

On Thursday, too, Mrs. S. P. Hughes gave a reception in honor of Mme. Camilla Urso, the violin virtuoso. There were many guests and another set enjoyed meeting Mme. Urso quite as much as had those who received cards to Mrs. Will Magee's tea in her home some weeks ago. The house was prettily decorated.

* * *

On Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock the Wednesday Morning Club composed of musical ladies, gave its first open rehearsal, as the affair was unostentatiously called, at the Reliance Club. It was very successful, and there was a large and fashionable crowd. Benj. Clark is the director and the soloists were Miss Mary I. Sullivan, soprano; Mrs. B. G. Lathrop, Jr., mezzo-soprano, and B. G. Lathrop, Jr., violinist. Mrs. Lathrop is well known in Berkeley as Belle Harris, under which name she once cut quite a dash in the college town. She married little Ben Lathrop, a college lad, and always a clever violinist. The engagement caused quite a sensation at the time, as Lathrop was but 20; they lived for a while with his parents on a ranch.

The members of the Wednesday Morning Club are:

Soprano—Miss M. T. Sullivan, Mrs. B. G. Lathrop, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Armes, Miss E. Ward, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Miss E. Bates, Miss M. Williams, Miss H. Borland, Mrs. J. Cal. Ewing, Miss J. Barstow, Mrs. Starkweather, Mrs. Parker, Miss C. Clark, Miss M. Morse.

Contralto—Mrs. J. J. Warner, Miss Benner, Miss F. Rae, Miss G. Halsey, Mrs. M. Clement, Miss A. L. Phelan, Miss M. F. Wheaton, Miss H. A. Sutherland.

There are to be various weddings in June. Miss English will be married on June 1st, Olive Reed on June 16th and Jessie Coleman on June 23d. Two Wednesday and a Tuesday bridal. The Coleman wedding is to be painfully small, to our infinte regret—just the two families and a few intimates. But crepe is too recent to permit of much champagne and jollification. Why is a small wedding, when there is champagne and truffles, considered more mournful than three or four hundred people? Will some one please tell me? I can see no difference. Now a marriage before a justice in a black gown, with no maids, no flowers, no jewels, no gifts and no supper—that would be truly a mourning ceremony. But it wouldn't seem much like a marriage, and heaven knows we are prone to feel little enough married these days anyway. But when it comes to gowns and veils, flowers and bridesmaids, gifts and a feast, then I cannot see why one

Shearer of Yreka and Sam Prather are engaged, and the wedding will take place soon. We all know Sam Prather and he has been considered a bachelor for so long that his present step is quite a surprise. Miss Shearer is a lovely girl and possesses many accomplishments. She is a daughter of the late Judge Shearer, who had large property interests at Yreka. Miss Shearer has made several visits to Oakland and is a very sweet girl.

Hallock Wright has issued invitations for the marriage of his sister, Miss Helen Elizabeth Wright and Charles Lott Davis, which will take place Tuesday at high noon in St. Mark's Episcopal Church, Berkeley. The bridesmaids will be Miss Ella Holmes and Miss Catherine Warfield, and the ushers will comprise Van Zandt Hedley, George Russell Field, George B. De Long and T. Danforth. A wedding breakfast will be served at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Paxton Wright for the bridal party and relatives.

The engagement of Miss Myra Noyes Mrs. Fred Hall's pretty sister, to William Yates Sterling, a young naval officer, is emphatically denied. The engagement has been announced very extensively. As soon as the rumored engagement reached Miss Noyes she most indignantly denied it.

Miss Bernice Landers is back from Honolulu, and I hear that a number of masculine hearts are going pit-a-pat in consequence. Bernice is a stunning girl and immensely popular with the trousered half of humanity. I don't think she is much of a girl's girl, but she wins the men every time.

By the way, the girls are all reading "Patience Sparhawk," Gertrude Atherton's recent and so-called naughty book. If you see a volume go scurrying under a couch on your arrival, just make up your mind that it is "Patience Sparhawk." You'll be right thirteen times out of twelve. And it isn't so very dreadful, either. It's a case of "Honi soit qui mal y pense." I could see nothing in it but a study of an interesting and very natural woman, frank to be sure and most of it only too true. It seemed to me that best of all, it taught the lesson "Look before you leap."

But these are merely the cogitations of a shallow young Meddler who probably doesn't know what she is talking about.

At present the whole topic of conversation is "whither away," and organdies, light as cobwebs are being packed in huge trunks with seven gables apiece. I am going to Castle Crags, and if you look carefully under the eaves of that lovely tavern you will find, reading a book and munching apples,

SHATTUCK—LITTLE.

On last Sunday afternoon a quiet home wedding took place at the residence of Mrs. C. Meyer on Wood street, a friend of the bride's mother, Mrs. E. M. Little. The contracting parties were Frank B. Shattuck, an employee of the Southern Pacific Railroad Company in the West Oakland Office, and Miss Belle Little of San Francisco, daughter of the late Thomas Little, a veteran of the civil war, and granddaughter of the Rev. C. L. Fisher of Santa Barbara. The house was profusely decorated in ivy, roses, lilies and other flowers. The couple stood under an arch of white roses and ivy during the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Mr. Hobart of the First Baptist Church, in the presence of the families and friends of both parties.

After the ceremony, a delicious and refreshing repast was partaken of, when toasts and fun held sway until the carriage was announced which took the happy couple to the narrow gauge depot. At their departure, showers of blessings were heaped upon their heads in the shape of rice and old shoes.

At the depot a host of friends met the happy couple with another shower of rice. The honeymoon will be spent in Santa Cruz and Gilroy.

Mr. and Mrs. Shattuck will make their home in San Francisco.

Those present at the wedding were E. E. Meyer, best man, Miss Mabel Meyer, bridesmaid, Mrs. Shattuck, mother of the groom, Mrs. E. M. Little, mother of the bride, Mrs. L. Hamilton, L. Shattuck, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Harlow Grey, Miss Nellie G. Little, Miss Maud Fisher, Mrs. Belle Kendal, Mr. Vernon Kimble, Mrs. Minnie Cluff, of Reno, Mrs. C. Meyer, Mrs. George

ROYAL BAKING POWDER
Absolutely Pure.

Celebrated for its great leavening strength and healthfulness. Assures the food against alum and all forms of adulteration common to the cheap brands. ROYAL POWDER CO., NEW YORK.

The wedding will be a most elaborate affair and will call forth the swell set from the four cities around the bay.

Joullin, the artist, has charge of the decoration and will contrive to make them not only beautiful and artistic but also unique and original. The infantry color, blue, will be used exclusively while flags and stacked arms will give a military touch to the decorations.

Miss Cohen who is a beauty of the stately order, has selected universally pretty girls for bridesmaids. Miss Emma Butler is to the maid of honor, and Miss Julia Crocker, Miss Helen Wagner, Miss Ida Gibbons, Miss Alice Moffitt, Miss Marguerite Jolliffe and Miss Bernie Brown the bridesmaids.

Lieutenant Carson is to be the best man, and Lieutenants Rutherford, Gardner, Nolan, Kilbourne, Croxton and Haines will officiate as ushers.

The music will be a prominent feature of the wedding. William Greer Harrison has written a wedding hymn which H. J. Stewart has set to music. This hymn will be sung by the Lyric Quartette during the ceremony. The bride's gown will be of white satin. The yoke is to be perfectly plain and the corsage completely covered with white tulle laid in tiny puffs.

Miss Butler, the maid of honor, will wear a dainty gown of blue organdie. The bridesmaids will be attired alike in white organdie. All the attendants will wear bridesmaid's veils, those becoming half veils, thrown back from the face, and so fashionable at swell English weddings.

THE ABBEY PARTY.

Mrs. William Abbey of Newark was tendered a surprise party Monday evening. Among those present were Mr. Anderson and Miss Anderson, Mrs. Beach of Los Gatos, Mr. and Mrs. Larkin of Newark and Miss Elsie of San Francisco, Mr. Comfort Healey, Mr. O. P. A GOLDEN WEDDING.

THE GARRETTE RECEPTION.

A reception was given by the Ladies' Missionary Church at the home of Mrs. E. Y. Garrette last Friday afternoon. Mrs. McFarland and Mrs. Wolf exhibited curios from Alaska. Miss Caugle told of life among the Mormons, Edward Thornton, accompanied by Miss Fannie Mitchell gave a solo, and Miss Chappell gave a reading.

BRADLEY—CLEMENS.

The glad bells of an early summer wedding have awakened the echoes in Reno, Nevada, and Miss Maud Bradley, formerly attendant at Snell's Seminary and well known socially in this city has gone forth a bride with the blessing of two communities.

At 8:30 o'clock Tuesday night she was united in marriage to Jay H. Clemens, until recently of this city. The ceremony took place at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Bradley, and was charming for its very simplicity. Miss Grace Hampden of this city, a schoolmate and lifelong friend of the bride, was the bridesmaid. The wedding was attended by only a very few of the young people's relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Clemens took the 9 o'clock train for San Francisco and have gone now no one knows whither to spend their honeymoon of several weeks.

Miss Bradley is a grand-daughter of ex-Governor Bradley of Nevada, and a young woman whose graces and gifts have made her very popular. Her father, John Bradley, is an influential cattle dealer of the Sagebrush State and a man who has been prominently identified with the best interests of that district for many years.

Mr. Clemens has been identified with Attorney W. R. Davis here for some time.

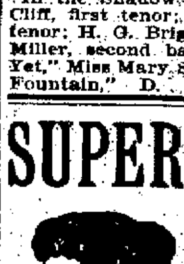

It has not been announced as yet where Mr. and Mrs. Clemens will reside.

THE KINDERGARTEN.

The closing exercises of Oakland Kindergarten Training School in charge of Miss Grace Barnard were held Thursday afternoon. The rooms were full of flowers. The front parlor was decorated in yellow marguerites and yellow roses, the refreshment room in pink, with a large net, studded with pink Lady Washingtons across the bay window.

Musical and literary selections made the afternoon pass away quickly. Misses Huggins and Walton, gave a piano and violin solo, Miss Stella Ames gave several readings in her usual happy style, Miss Patterson followed with a beautiful vocal solo, Miss Jenkins performed admirably on the piano and Miss Kelly gave the concluding solo with much charm of manner.

The graduates from the school were: Misses Alice Bell, Annie Brock, Matilda Beaumont, Mary E. Carre, Clara Cononay, Caroline Hawley, Stella Mincher, Essie Rosling and Mrs. W. Wieniawski.

Among those invited were the Golden Gate and Silver street training classes of San Francisco, the California Froebel Society and the Boards of Managers of the Oakland Kindergartens, besides many friends of the school, among whom the following were present:

The graduation of this class will be a decided departure from the ordinary combination of platform display of lovely gowns, a sea of admiring faces before one, the lengthy address, the set presentation speech, the hand clapping and congratulations. The class has decided to keep their essays from ever reaching the public ear, and has therefore retired to the woods today, where they enjoy an outing and receive their diplomas. The essays are as follows: Miss Rosling, "Froebel's Religious Teachings;" Miss Brock, "Froebelian Discipline;" Mrs. Wieniawska, "Kindergarten Training of Mothers;" Miss Beaumont, "The Kindergarten of the Twentieth Century;" Miss Hawley, "Art in the Kindergarten;" Miss Conoway, "Kindergarten Plays;" Miss Mincher, "Necessity of Kindergartens for All Classes;" Miss Bell, "Child Study in Relation to Kindergartens."

The young ladies will return in time to attend Mrs. F. M. Smith's garden party.

Miss Barnard was presented with a handsome pedestal for her bust of Froebel by the graduates in the afternoon.

MASTICK—ELLSWORTH.

An extremely pretty wedding took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Otis of Alameda Wednesday afternoon, when Miss Lillian Mastick became the bride of Oliver Ellsworth of Niles. The house was elaborately decorated in pink and white flowers. The porches were screened with ivy and ferns. The hallway was banked in pinks with ivy and bamboo as a background. The reception room was a mass of delicate pink and white sweet peas. The dining room was trimmed with wild oats, marguerites and ferns. The prettiest decorations of all were in the parlors, which were lavishly decorated with pink and white roses, half-blown La France roses were twisted into a lover's knot and beneath this the bridal couple stood, while the Rev. Scudder made them man and wife.

The bride, who is a tall, statuesque beauty, wore a gown of white organdie over silk. Her only jewels were a sunburst of diamonds, the gift of the groom. Her boquet was of bride's roses.

The maid of honor, Miss Susan Ellsworth, a sister of the groom, wore a dainty gown of white organdie over pink silk with pink trimmings. Charles J. Evans of this city was best man.

After an extended honeymoon spent in the south, Mr. and Mrs. Ellsworth will make their home in this city, Mr. Ellsworth having built a pretty home at the corner of Sixteenth and Linden streets.

AMATEUR THEATRICALS.

An excellent dramatic entertainment was given by amateur talent at Elite Hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Daughters of Washington. A five-act drama, "The Fruit of His Folly" was presented with the following cast of characters:

Jack Dunning—A victim of his own folly, W. F. Henning.

Percy Ogden—A true friend, J. W. Peck.

Ashley Drayton—Man of the world, C. E. Gardner.

Hiram Boggs—Owner of Cowslip farm, W. J. Getchell.

William Henry—Farm hand, C. Reuben.

Bell Boy, W. J. Getchell.

Dorothy Dunning—Jack's wife, Ida A. Gardner.

Alice Grandon—A society pet, J. Curtiss.

Melinda Jane Boggs—From Tuniperville, Vermont, Mrs. Lou Bohn.

Sarah—Hiram's wife, Mrs. Emma Harris.

Polly Flinders—A black diamond, Alice Flint.

The Tramp—"Weary Willie."

C. E. Gardner played the role of a villian excellently while Mrs. Gardner showed strong emotional powers as Dorothy Dunning. The role of Jack Dunning was capitally played by W. F. Henning. The lighter comedy role were in excellent hands. There was a large audience and dancing was enjoyed after the performance.

EBELL LUNCHEON.

The Ebell luncheon on Tuesday was attended by nearly 200 ladies. The old board and the new board of directors occupied places at the long table and the former were the special guests. Mrs. Henry Butters, Mrs. Geo. W. Ripley of San Francisco and Mrs. Helen Mygatt were also guests. Mrs. B. A. Knight was the hostess of the day and was assisted by Mrs. Thomas Crellin, Mrs. E. N. Marston, Mrs. W. E. Sharon and the Misses Mona and Laura Crellin and Margaret Knight. The president, Mrs. Bunnell, acted as toastmaster and called upon the following ladies to respond to toasts: Mrs. H. O. Trowbridge, Mrs. Paul Lohse, Mrs. H. B. Pinney, Mrs. R. P. Gleason, Miss Babson and Mrs. Burdick. Mrs. Fleissner-Lewis sang and Miss Florence Sharon sang a cradle song very prettily. Mrs. Turner sang an aria from "Mignon" in magnificent style and Miss Byler of Alameda sang very charmingly and sweetly a song from "Maritana." Mrs. Howard Bray recited in her usual finished style.

The tables were decorated with sweet peas, La France roses and cacti blossoms.

THE LEWIS LUNCHEON.

A luncheon was given in honor of Mrs. Fleissner-Lewis and Miss Sullivan by the Choral section of the Ebell Society Thursday. It was a very pretty and dainty affair. The table was exquisitely decorated with La France roses and maidenhair fern and the pink petals of the flowers were strewn upon the cloth. The name cards were very pretty and were the handiwork of Mrs. Schneider. Each one bore a musical quotation which was later read aloud. The guests at the luncheon, besides the choral club were Miss Helen Higby, Miss Van de Mark, Mrs. Bunnell, Mrs. E. L. Dow.

Mrs. W. E. Sharon acted as toastmaster and after luncheon Miss Higby recited "The Lost Chord" admirably. Mrs. Bunnell happily responded to the toast "To Our Guests."

Miss Lewis sang, Mrs. Hampton recited and Miss Drussel played Mendelssohn's "Spinning Song." Mrs. Laura Drew-Perry played one of her own compositions and Miss Welhe also played. Miss Dow sang very charmingly.

The hostesses of the luncheon were: Mrs. E. L. Dow, Mrs. Gilbert Curtiss, Miss G. Collins, Mrs. R. P. Gleason, Mrs. W. E. Sharon, Mrs. O. P. Downing, Mrs. J. E. Schneider, Mrs. E. B. Yonkers, Mrs. E. Powell, Mrs. George Nusbaumer, Mrs. Fred Jacobs, Misses Mary Sullivan, Georgia and Lillian Strong, Jennie Hill, Florence Sheller, Agnes Mooar, Mary Huff, Eleanor Deussel. Mrs. Dick, Mrs. Hunter, Mrs. Harrison.

An especially pretty feature of the affair was the dainty gowns of the ladies and the fact that it was made to resemble a "home" luncheon by the ladies removing their hats.

THE TWO WALTERS

In this week's Town Talk appears an amusing anecdote in which a visiting hobo mixed the identities of Walter Hobart and Walter Morosco in a comical manner. There is also a half-tone illustration of the prize-winning Morosco six-horse team. On the outer cover is the charming portrait of Miss Laura Leigh Gashwiler, fiancee of Samuel M. Shortridge. "The Ape, the Idiot and Other People," Mr. Morrow's new book, is reviewed at length. So bright and diversified are Town Talk's contents that it is difficult to select any special features for praise. All the departments are well conducted and are in every way creditable to journalism. The Saunterer's batch of town tales is as readable as ever.

ACT OF WISE MEN.

W. R. Davis' View of a Vote In Favor of Greater Oakland.

THE SUBJECT OUT AT PIEDMONT

New Districts Not Liable for the City's Bonded Indebtedness.

Professor J. P. Garlick Speaks Warmly on the Live Subject.

An enthusiastic meeting under the auspices of the Annexation League was held last night in the Piedmont school house on Cemetery avenue and John street. Two upper class rooms were thrown into one by opening the folding doors, and the desks made good accommodations for a large number of residents of the district, among whom were many ladies.

Edward M. Walsh presided, while J. S. Naismith acted as secretary. After briefly outlining the objects of the meeting, W. R. Davis was called upon to address the gathering on the proposition to annex the outside territory to Oakland.

Mr. Davis told of the benefit to be derived from annexation. He referred to the fire, police and school facilities largely.

"Take for example this school," he said. "I well remember when this school house was built and I sincerely hope that it will never be destroyed. But if, for instance, it should take fire, I hope you will have the full benefit of Oakland's excellent fire department to save it so it can stand until its moss-covered roofs will have outlived their usefulness."

The speaker then showed by illustrations that what would benefit one citizen would benefit all, and he urged a spirit of progressiveness which would extend beyond the simple lines of a sanitary district.

"It is your business as much as mine," he went on to say, "to make this land and this section of the State better for our having lived in it.

"It has come to be the run of the times to say 'business is business.' But let me tell you, my friends, there is something a heap more profitable in this world than property and money There is not a man in the world who will ultimately be happy or prosperous if he shuts his eyes to all the realities and benefits around him, and who will not contribute as in his power lies, to people and things which suffer.

"A man who does lend the helping hand will not look as money as his sole god—his idol. So in settling this question let us not figure this out in dollars and dimes. This is not the way to consider the matter The proudest boast any man can make here is, 'I am an American citizen' with the instincts and ambitions of an American citizen.

IMPROVEMENTS MADE.

"We have made $400,000 worth of improvements in the city lately for schools. Some will say, 'I don't want to pay part of that indebtedness. Most of you know you won't have to.

"I am going to tell a secret now. I drew up or framed the present annexation law. You won't have to pay one cent of our bonded indebtedness, as it is at present, but you will enjoy the benefits of our improvements thirty-five minutes after you come in.

"You have heard of the dollar limit for taxes Now in truth our taxes were only 82 cents on the hundred for actual municipal affairs The other 18 cents was for bonded indebtedness. Not saying that 82 cents is enough to run the city on, but 90 cents would be ample.

"Now, say you, as a citizen, have $2,000 worth of property This will probably be assessed at $1,000. With the tax rate you will find it costs you less than $1 a month to enjoy all the privileges of our city. Think of it, less than you pay for lodge dues and then think of the difference in benefits."

Here Mr Davis quoted figures to show how Oakland's taxes compared with those of other cities.

"You can figure now that a fair rate to maintain the city government in a fair manner," he continued, "will cost you 90 cents. It might be different if you were thinking of coming into the city with a $2 tax rate. I would think quite a while myself

LOS ANGELES FIGURES

"Take Los Angeles, where they pay $1.25 on the hundred. Think, however, what benefits have been derived in the growth and prosperity of the city. I tell you it cannot be measured in cents.

"Now, when you leave this meeting, and see some of the objectors who will immediately bring in the old cry of 'O, it will cost me so much more,' meet them with the argument in showing how much more in value they will receive. Tell them it cannot be measured in coin."

The secretary then read a letter from Myron Holcomb, which heartily favored annexation. The writer advocated a consolidation of the city and county governments, which he believed would be of great benefit to the outside residents.

William O'Connor was next called upon for a few remarks.

He spoke for the laboring men, and told of what added benefits would be derived from joining with the city. He believed every laboring man could easily stand all the taxes imposed upon him if he had continuous work.

"If we get annexed to Oakland," he said, "there are four avenues of labor opened to us Take the police force, the postoffice, the street and fire departments In all of these they would be eligible, whereas now a workingman cannot get in at all, for it is outside of the city. With all the advantages of the city, as well as the opened avenues for labor, I can easily see much more benefit to the outsiders by coming in, for we would be more than recompensed."

Chairman Walsh next spoke briefly, referring to the fact that Oakland has in the past taken good care of its workingmen

J. P. GARLICK.

County Superintendent of Schools J. P. Garlick was then introduced. He explained the advantages of annexation from the standpoint of education for the children.

"We should do something in this matter which should be of help to others," he said "The city of London was organized first as a little city, and then another and another, so that the great city of London today is not the big municipality it is supposed. Those who have studied the question of municipal government, all assert that this is the greatest drawback to the prosperity of the place

"I feel assured the jurisdiction of the city over this school would be of great benefit to this district. In Oakland they have organized one of the best schools in California—The Central Grammar school—where the pupils have an equal opportunity to educate their brains as well as their hands.

"This school is open to every school child in Oakland. So popular is it that it will soon be enlarged and I hope the pupils of the Piedmont district will also be given the privileges of such an education.

"The school is practically the first grade of the High School and any pupil can step from the eighth grade of the Grammar school into this great preparatory institution Then he can go to the High School without any additional cost As it is now, you citizens must pay $50 yearly for each child you send to the High School.

"I feel it is of the greatest advantage to us to get within the boundaries of Oakland. There we can enjoy equal advantages with the others and our children will be able to compete with the others on an educational basis.

"It seems to me if annexation carries, it will be the beginning of better times for this part of the county as well as for the city of Oakland."

Secretary Naismith then read from the pamphlet circulated by the Annexation League, giving pertinent facts and figures, and showing conclusively that by coming into Oakland the citizens of the outside territory would be amply repaid.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

A Few Hints Relating to Study in the Public Schools.

Editor Tribune: At the close of the present school year a few suggestions in the educational line might not seem amiss and lead to some beneficial changes and reforms.

The study of modern languages is nowadays considered an essential element of a liberal education, but the present methods of teaching French and German in our High School seem to be entirely inadequate We are, it is true, accredited in these branches at the U. C., which simply means that after a three years' course in German and French at the High School the pupils are gaining one year when entering the university. However, the students entering there need not understand spoken German and French, reading and translating being the essential requirements.

But what provisions are made for that large majority of High School pupils who begin their battle of life immediately after graduation? Have they been given a fair chance to acquire a practical knowledge of German and French? Decidedly not. Considering the fact that there are at present not less than five teachers of Latin employed in our school department, it would seem only right and just to make also ample provisions for the teaching of French and German along liberal and practical lines.

And in connection with these reflections, I wish to protest here earnestly against one of the German text-books now used in our High School, viz: Guerber's Maehrchen (Fairy Tales) The book is simply an abominable hotch-potch, and it would be difficult to find on any page thereof three consecutive lines of correct, idiomatic German There are everywhere grossest grammatical errors, prepositions are used with wrong cases—the syntax is glaringly faulty throughout—and the author of the book shows that he does not understand the meaning and correct use of many simple German words. Any fairly educated German must declare such a text-book absolutely worthless after a cursory examination of only a few minutes. Respectfully,

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury,

As mercury will surely destroy the sense of smell and completely derange the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescriptions from reputable physicians, as the damage they will do is ten fold to the good you can possibly derive from them. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, O., contains no mercury and is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. In buying Hall's Catarrh Cure be sure you get the genuine. It is taken internally, and made in Toledo,

BERNHARDT TESTIFIES.

Declares Her Health Benefited by Paine's Celery Compound.

The enthusiasm and the curiosity provoked by Mme Sarah Bernhardt has never been equaled in the history of the stage. One talks vaguely of genius, temperament, quick intelligence, passion, nervous mobility, grace, smile, voice, charm, poetry—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt has them all.

Bernhardt is today as enthusiastic in her profession as though her career were before her. She works as assiduously during rehearsals as though each performance were her "first night"

No one is more conscientious in all matters pertaining to her life work She knows the incalculable value of health, strength and high spirits as thoroughly as she comprehends the terms of her contracts, and no one knows better than she how essential to her artistic success is a vigorous nervous system.

Mme. Bernhardt writes the following letter:

"I beg leave to state that, according to your instructions, I have used Paine's celery compound, and I am convinced that it is the most powerful nerve strengthener that can be found.

"It is with the greatest pleasure that I send you my sincere testimonial

"Truly yours, Sarah Bernhardt."

Good health is within the reach of every one, not only the wealthy and famous, but the poor as well, who will rely on Paine's celery compound

Ill health and disease are not natural One should not compromise with them No one should give in to neuralgia, rheumatism or heart trouble when Paine's celery compound is vouched for to drive them entirely out of the system It has done so in thousands of carefully observed cases.

The nervous debility, sleeplessness and kidney disorder that seems so threatening and disheartening lose their hopeless, desperate character when one takes Paine's celery compound to drive them out of the system.

Many a woman worn out by exciting, anxious work, will find her strength brought back in a wonderful manner and her overtaxed nerves regulated and nourished by the use of Paine's celery compound Paine's celery compound braces and invigorates the relaxed nervous system and eradicates harmful humors from the blood It makes the appetite hearty and the digestion thorough, it permanently cures indigestion, a sluggish action of the liver and drives out rheumatism, neuralgia and blood impurities Every trace of nervous exhaustion or kidney or liver weakness is removed by Paine's celery compound.

There are no more striking examples of the great practical value of Paine's celery compound than is heard from the lips of women who have been made well by its vitalizing action

It increases the volume of the blood in the arteries and makes it more capable of feeding the body It creates a hearty appetite and urges upon the tired nerves and brain the nourishing elements they lack, but are slow to extract from the blood when it is in a sluggish, unhealthy condition.

The blood becomes ruddy and pure, its circulation is hastened, and every function of the body—the brain among the first—feels the fresh impulse of returning health from the use of Paine's celery compound.

THE TURKS IN EUROPE

J. J Greeley chose the interesting topic of "The Turks in Europe" During his discourse, he said

"The eighth century ushered upon the stage of European history, an epoch so filled with tragedies that all Christendom trembled for its safety. The votaries of the Koran had taken possession of the sacred spots whence Christian teaching first went forth to win the nations of Europe to the Christian fold and then cast their greedy eyes upon the fairest fields of Europe

"The Nineteenth Century has been a period of severe trial for the Crescent Greece, Servia and Roumania cast off the yoke of Turkish rule Their struggles for freedom are well known historical facts After the Hellenes had battled for liberty unaided 10 years, the three great European powers, France, Russia and England finally joined their forces and the power of the Turk was crushed at Navarino and Greece was saved The pride of the Turk was thoroughly humbled his power was utterly broken His dominions were reduced and a large part of humanity released from his tyranny and restored to the rights of human beings

"The terrors of the Crescent have passed away It received its first check at Lepanto, it faded before the star of Sabieski under the walls of Vienna, and was consumed in flames at the bay of Navarino The power which once shook the foundations of Christendom, which once overturned imperial thrones and stretched from the sands of Arabia to the banks of Loire which resisted the mighty arms of the Templars and Hospitaliers is now in its last throes of death and the great deliverance is dawning for which the banded chivalry of Europe fought for centuries and to attain which millions of Christian bones whitened the fields of Asia."

'MATERIALISM"

Thomas Maguire was the next speaker He chose as his subject, "Materialism" During his address he said

"The excessive desire to possess riches, robs men of charity, justice and the best attributes of humanity This passion produces a social tendency antagonistic to religion, and this tendency manifests itself in the selfish, materialistic spirit which pervades every walk of life.

"Th philosophy of materialism looks upon man as a mere animal denies the reality of his Creator, casts aside all thoughts of an immortal soul, and destines man but for the grave Yet how absurd and untenable is the position of the man, who denies reality to all things save matter

'Observe the nobility of man, formed in soul to the image of his Creator, consider his aspirations sublime virtues and heroic deeds, and then assert, if you can, that this world is his only home and that the grave marks his final goal as it does that of the animal that grovels at his feet Again do the actions of the brute cause nights of worriment and repentance, as do those of the criminal, who though free from prison bars and watches, experiences the torments of an aching heart conscience, a more cruel and relentless accuser, than all earthly persecutors.

"Within man's breast are stored away bright aspirations for the world to come Such are the hopes that cheer him on to bear with moderation and resignation the misfortunes and afflictions, that befall an unhappy career His hope of a future state, with its just rewards and blessings, has kindled the spark of energy in many a downcast spirit, that has known the vanity of all things earthly.

"In such an age, it is a duty which every Christian owes to God and his fellow man, to strive to eradicate as far

"It is refreshing in this utilitarian age, this money-getting trust-forming, syndicate-cursed epoch, to behold some who in every vicissitude, cling to principal—a glorious remnant that will not bow the knee to Baal or crook the pregnant hinges of the knee that thrift may follow fawning It is inspiring to see a people for seven hundred years refusing to wear the collar of the oppressor, hurling back defiance in the teeth of the tyrant and though conquered never yet subdued Such is Ireland of today There is still a smile on her lips, though the tears have been crystallized on her cheeks, for there is hope in her valiant heart"

George E Hayward then rendered "The Song of the Flag,' and this feature was followed by "The Jolly Blacksmith,' a piano duet by Vincent Arrilage and Louis Aurrecoechea

'TOLERATION"

The subject of William P Sullivan's discourse was 'Toleration"

'As far back," he said, "as history and traditions extend, we find a spirit of intolerance constantly manifesting itself among all nations and among all classes of people In the earliest ages the Egyptian was put to death for killing the sacred cat Grecian intolerance drove a host of sages into exile and compelled Socrates to drink the hemlock. The Hebrew nation put the Savior to death, and the intolerance of the Roman Empire is written with the life blood of thirteen million Christian martyrs

"Bigotry cannot live in the light of the Nineteenth Century. Those who have striven to resurrect it from the ruins of the past, have by their blatant denunciations, their crass ignorance and gross bad faith, served only to hasten its death knell Intolerance in its most loathsome form, is a thing of the past The time has gone by when a man with power enough to look beyond the surface of things can afford to in-

DIAMONDS GLEAM.

Brilliant Scene at a Banquet Given by Lord Salisbury.

THE JUBILEE PREPARATIONS.

A Million Seats Now Line the Route of the Parade.

POPE LEO ON LONGEVITY.

Apt Advice Given by the Ruler of the Catholic Church.

LONDON, May 29.—The cold weather continues. The Marquis of Salisbury gave a full dress banquet to the Ambassadors and Ministers Plenipotentiary at his residence, 20 Arlington street, on Wednesday last in honor of the Queen's birthday. The Prince of Wales was among those present.

The banquet was followed by a reception at the Foreign Office for which more than 3,000 invitations were issued. It was one of the most brilliant functions of the season and is generally regarded as launching the long list of festivities which will be in full swing until after the jubilee.

The display of diamonds was really magnificent and the brilliancy of the scene was heightened by the fact that all the men were either uniformed or dressed in court dress.

Colonel John Hay, the United States Ambassador, accompanied by Mrs. Hay was among the members of the diplomatic corps present.

The jubilee preparations at present are in a state of more or less chaos. The Queen has not yet finally approved any of the programme.

But sight seers stands are going up at every possible place from the basements to above the roofs. Many of the seats are only twenty inches wide and are on the faces of steep buildings.

It is estimated that a million seats now line the route, but their sale is not lively and prices are falling as the arriving Americans are not eager to buy at top prices.

A genuine fire scare prevailed on account of the flimsy stands erected everywhere. An expert who was connected with the fire department for twenty years has written a letter to the newspapers pointing out the danger from fire and especially to the priceless treasures in the National gallery, which is now surrounded by a huge pine structure, several tons of resinous wood being stacked closely against the building.

The list of jubilee honors is definitely closed and notice has been given to aspirants that their names cannot, under any circumstances, be added to the list.

It is stated semi-officially that the kings of Wurtemburg and Portugal, Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria and Grand Duke Sergius of Russia, will be made Knights of the Garter, and that Prince Albert of Prussia and Prince Ruppert of Bavaria will be made Knights of the Grand Cross of the Bath.

The Marquis of Salisbury, the Marquis of Tweedale and the Marquis of Londonderry will be made dukes and Sir John Lubbock and Sir John Gerst will be elevated to the peerage.

The honor of knighthood will be conferred upon hundreds of people, including the Premier of Canada, Mr. Wilfred Laurier and Mr. Alfred Harmsworth, proprietor of the Daily Mail, the Evening News and sixteen other journals.

The Duc d'Alencon, whose wife lost her life during the Charity Bazaar fire in Paris on May 4th last, will, it is said, take holy orders and retire to a monastery.

A PAPAL POEM.

The pope has just completed a Latin poem, of eighty stanzas, pointing out the duties of frugality and the evils of gluttony. The poem is full of charm and quiet humor. His Holiness says, pay attention before all to cleanliness, that the table appointments be spotless, the glass bright and napery immaculate and that from the cellar comes the purest wine of the Albanian hills, "which exhilerates the spirits and keeps away trouble, but don't trust Bacchus, so don't be frugal in diluting wine with water."

He continues: "Obtain from healthy grain well cooked bread, eat sparingly of chicken, lamb and beef, which are most nourishing to the body. Meat should be tender and without abundant sauces or root vegetables, which spoil it.

"Fresh eggs are excellent, whether raw or slightly cooked. Drink an abundant quantity of foaming milk; it nourishes infants and assists old age. sometimes strife and contention and almost always bodily disorders.

A LETTER FROM WILDE.

Oscar Wilde has written a three column letter published in the Daily Chronicle regarding the dismissal of a warden of Reading jail for giving biscuits to a hungry child prisoner, Wilde says:

"The cruelty practiced day and night upon children in English prisons is incredible except to those who have witnessed it. The contaminating influence of English prisons is not that of the prisoners, it is that of the whole system of Governor, Chaplain, Warders, lonely cell revolting food, the rules of the prison, the commissioners, the mode of discipline, etc."

Wilde further declares that at Reading a youthful prisoner is being made mad by the system, adding:

"At present it is a horrible duel between himself and the doctor, the doctor fighting for his thory and the man fighting for his life."

Aubrey Beardsley, who has been in bad health for some time is rapidly improving.

Professor Andree, the Arctic balloonist, has left Gothenburg for Spitzbergen, whence he will renew his attempt to reach the North Pole, or rather to pass over it by balloon. Professor Andree is accompanied by Messrs. Strindberg, Swendenberg and Tunkel. They hope to reach Spitzenbergen on June 1st and to be ready to start on their aerial voyage by June 20th, five weeks later than last year. They take a number of carrier pigeons with them and firmly believe that this time they have every chance of success.

THE THEATERS.

The arrival here of the famous brothers Jean and Edouard de Reszke, who are almost as popular here as they are in New York, has given a much-needed impetus to the opera season.

The success of "Secret Service" now at the end of its second week at the Adelphi continues unabated and there is now advance booking for every night of the two week's that remain of the engagement at that theater.

Charles Frohman expresses himself as more than pleased with the way the British public and critics have received the piece. He is now looking for another theater in which to produce it as he must give up the Adelphi on July 12th to Sarah Bernhardt. If he can arrange to cancel his dates for the coming season in America Mr. Frohman will remain with his company in the play "Secret Service" through the summer and ensuing fall and winter. It has now been arranged that "Settled Out of Court," the new comedy drama by Burney, will be produced at the Globe next Thursday at a matinee.

"Change Alley" dealing with the famous South Sea bubble of the last century will be produced in the United States before it is brought out here. The play is by Louis Parker and Murray Carson.

"The Land of Nod," Albert Chevalier's comic opera, will have its premiere at Lincoln next week. Chevalier has written the libretto and lyrics and the music is by Mr. West, the accompanist, who was with Chevalier in the United States but was not allowed to accompany the singer at Koster and Bial's.

The musical event of next week will be the production on Tuesday of "Maid of Athens," at the Opera Comique. It is a musical comedy in two acts.

"Do you know how to play Pedro, Mr. Secretary Alger?" asks the Herald. "No, only Solitaire," will reply the secretary.—Santa Monica Outlook.

Among the notable achievements of Californians are the stealing of a barbed wire fence in Stockton, of 3,000 tons of pig iron in Oakland, and a 70-pound anvil in Randsburg.—Santa Rosa Democrat.

The Los Angeles Herald has about as small appreciation of a joke as may be. At the risk of again being accused of the "crime of suggestion," whatever that may be, the Blade would inform the Herald that the squib recently published by this paper and which was evidently taken in sober earnest by the Herald was a joke. Not only was this the case, but it was once used by Mark Twain ages and ages ago.—Santa Ana Blade.

One-fourth of the children of San Francisco of school age attend no school of any kind. That is, more than 18,000 children are growing up in the chief city of the State in absolute ignorance, wholly unprepared for honorable citizenship, and constituting a force dangerous to our institutions. Society should not run such risks. It has a right to protect itself against illiteracy and ignorance, and should exercise the right.—Stockton Mail.

The sentiment for free silver is not on the wane, but is on the increase, in this State. The Democratic party is the only political party today that represents this idea before the people in a pronounced and influential way.—Modesto News.

Editor Smith of the Los Banos Enterprise has gone to Oakland, and the devil, who got out the paper in his absence, is worried lest "he may get lost." It isn't that, but there is danger that he will buy a gold brick. There is no knowing what one of us country newspaper men will do when we go to town.—Fresno Republican.

SWEET SOUNDS AT RESORTS.

Where Melody and Sunshine May Be Enjoyed at the Same Time.

The concert given by the Congregational orchestra was, of course, the star event of the week. However, it has been so extensively commented upon in last evening's Tribune that further reference would be superfluous.

Suffice it to say, that it was the success of the season, and exclusive of Denis O'Sullivan's excellent numbers, the orchestra furnished an entertainment which, in itself, was well worth listening to.

Each concert is a shade better than its predecessor, though all of them so far have been highly enjoyable.

* * *

An informal musicale was given Thursday forenoon at 10 o'clock at the home of Mrs. F. H. Payne in Alameda, by Miss Kate F. Byrne. Miss Byrne sang the Schubert Cycle, "The Maid of the Mill," in a charming style. She was accompanied by Miss Beth Hamilton.

* * *

The first open rehearsal (it was really a concert, modestly announced) given by the Wednesday Morning Club, brought a large number of society people to the Reliance gymnasium. The organization proves to be an aggregation of lady singers, which promises well for the future.

Among the numbers presented were "Down in the Dewy Dell," "Ebb and Flow," "Peggy," "Good Night" and "Estudiantina."

The club is conducted by Ben Clark and the following are the members:

Miss M. I. Sullivan, Mrs. B. G. Lathrop, Jr., Mrs. S. W. Armes, Miss E. Ward, Mrs. E. M. Walsh, Miss E. Bates, Miss M. Williams, Miss H. Borland, Miss J. Barstow, Mrs. J. Cal Ewing, Mrs. Starkweather, Mrs. Parker, Miss C. Clark, Miss M. Morse, Mrs. J. J. Warner, Miss Benner, Miss F. Rae, Miss G. Halsey, Mrs. M. Clement, Miss A. C. Phelan, Miss M. F. Wheaton, Miss H. A. Sutherland.

* * *

The ladies' orchestra, now in the process of formation in the Ebell Society, promises to be a very interesting department. W. J. McCoy will be the leader and his ability in this direction will soon be demonstrated. There is plenty of good talent among the members, and a first rate orchestra should be the result of the movement.

THE ENDEAVOR CONCERT.

Great Preparations Are Being Made by the Big Chorus.

The Alameda County section of the great '97 convention chorus is assuming large proportions and the interest is rapidly developing as is evidenced by the attendance at rehearsals every Monday night.

In the First Congregational Church in Oakland last Monday evening, the auditorium was filled with enthusiastic singers, none of whom are not trained which the chorus sang each number, indicated the remarkable progress this body is making under the able leadership of the several choristers in charge.

A. M. Benham, assisted by Messrs. Robinson, Clark, Vesper, and Tebbs have this part of the work to do.

This is an index of what the great now conducts the First Congregational Sunday School orchestra so satisfactorily.

THE ART OF WAR.

A Portland man has invented a new rifle that militia men pronounce the most effective gun yet brought to notice.

The fortifications of Vicksburg, Atlanta and other points in the South were of earthworks, hastily constructed, though the positions chosen were generally of great natural strength.

Capt. Mahan, who has made another great literary success with his "Life of Nelson," says that Moscow and Waterloo were the inevitable consequences of Trafalgar, that greatest of great naval battles.

By an ingenious use of the electric light flashed from a captive balloon, the French have been able to find on the bed of the sea off Toulon not only the torpedo which caused the accident to a warship, but also other torpedoes which caused two previous accidents.

It is proposed to enact a law in Massachusetts under the provisions of which no man shall be permitted to bear a military title unless he has rendered some military service. The application of a similar law in California would figuratively decapitate about one thousand generals and 2,-542 colonels.

It has been figured out that it costs the British Government $672 to kill a Kaffir. We are certain that the British Government would make money by letting the killing job out by private contract. The heads could be furnished to show the deeds were done. It has allowed the Turks to kill off 20,000 Armenians without costing it more than a protest, and protests are very low at the present market rates.

The heads of the naval and military departments in England were so impressed with the wholesomeness and superior nutriment of cocoa that they in 1845 judiciously directed that it should be served out twice or thrice a week to regiments of the line and to the seamen on board her Majesty's ships, and this wise regulation evinced its salutary effects in the improved health and condition of the men.

Since 1874 the United States army has been limited by law to 25,000 men, a very modest force when compared with the enormous standing armies of European countries. Russia's regular force is over 800,000 men; Germany and France have about 560,000 each—there is less than 3,000 difference between them. Austria has 360,000, Italy 290,000, England 190,000 and Spain about 100,000. Even Portugal has more regular soldiers than the United States, and so have Holland, Denmark and Belgium.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS

A Varied Assortment of Stage Attractions Outlined.

THE SHOW AT THE OAKLAND.

A Chance for People Who Desire to Become Playwrights.

THE SAN FRANCISCO BOARDS.

Many Old Favorites to Appear at the Leading Houses of the Drama.

There will be several theater parties at the Oakland Theater this evening, for Virginia Goodsell has proved an attraction to many members of the society set. "East Lynne" is given a smooth, artistic production. Miss Beatrice Lieb and Carl Smith are admirable in their roles.

Next week the Bacon Company will fill a week's engagement, presenting the "Golden Giant." Miss Virginia Jackson, a charming little actress, will play the part of Bess Fairfax.

The supporting company will consist of F. W. Bacon, Blunkall Scott, Clarke Wyman, Miss Robson, Miss Marie Howe, and Bob Pauline.

The "Golden Giant" is one of the best modern comedy-dramas and is the property of George Osborne, with whom special arrangements are made for its production in this city. The members of the Bacon Company are favorites with Oakland audiences and will be heartily welcomed on the occasion of their return engagement. A matinee will be given Monday afternoon in honor of Decoration Day.

BALDWIN THEATER.

Nat Goodwin brings his engagement to a close at the Baldwin Theater this evening when he presents a varied bill, giving the principal act out of each of the four plays in which he has been seen during his engagement. The house will be closed for one week to reopen the following Monday with the Lilliputians in "The Merry Tramps."

ALCAZAR THEATER.

The Alcazar Theater has been doing an extraordinary business during the past two weeks, as Francis Powers' clever Chinese play, "The First Born," has been a decided attraction. It will be played for another week. It is preceded by a comic little curtain raiser, "The Three Hats," which is excellently acted and is decidedly funny.

GRAND OPERA HOUSE.

Melodrama will reign at Morosco's Grand Opera House next week. "Lost in New York" will be presented with elaborate scenic effects. Maud Edna Hall, who is a clever emotional actress, will play one of the leading roles, and the remainder of the cast will be in excellent hands. There is a strong comedy vein running through the plot. Among the especially beautiful and realistic scenes will be the transformation of the stage into a vast river of water with yachts and launches darting here and there. The effect is said to be unusually beautiful. There will be several new songs and specialties introduced, and without doubt the production will be a most successful one.

THE TIVOLI.

"Martha" will close a successful week's run at the Tivoli tomorrow night. Next week, the pretty comic opera, "Nanon," will be presented. It is a charming opera with plenty of bright attractive music and a lively libretto. It will be presented with entirely new scenery and costumes. There will be several very pretty ballets.

THE ORPHEUM.

The Orpheum has an excellent array of talent on this week. Mlle. Ornene is a clever sleight of hand artist and many of her tricks rival Hermann's in their baffling secrecy. The travesty artists, the Garrisons, give a clever performance, while the Eclair Brothers are a remarkable pair of contortionists who twist and squirm around the stage clothed as a crocodile and a demon. Adjie's lions will be a special attraction next week. There are some excellent song and dance artists billed for the coming week.

PLAYS AND PLAYERS.

Olga Nethersole sailed for England on Wednesday, by the S. S. Paris.

William H. Crane ended his season at Poughkeepsie last Saturday evening.

"The Alderman," a play by William Gill, will be presented at the Fourteenth street theater in New York next Monday. Odell Williams will act the chief role.

Brandon Thomas has written a new comedy entitled "22 Curzon Street, Mayfair," which is said by London critics to be exceedingly funny and strong in situation.

The directors of the Players elected, on May 10th, the following named officers: President, Joseph Jefferson; vice-president, A. M. Palmer; secretary, Charles C. Caryl; treasurer, William Bispham.

The American Dramatists' Club will issue the third number of their club list about July 1st. The catalogue of proprietary plays will be enlarged and revised so that the publication will be more useful than ever. Harry P. Mawson is chairman of the committee in charge of the work.

"A Round of Pleasure," music by Ludwig Englander, libretto by Sydney Rosenfeld, was produced at the Hyperion Theater in New Haven last Thursday evening for the first time on any stage. The cast includes Walter Jones, Jerome Sykes, Richard Carle, the company will appear in London instead, performing plays in French.

Miss Maud Agnes Palmer, a young Bostonian, who joined Mr. Willard last fall, is now playing Nina Clarabut in "The Rogue's Comedy," and is making rapid strides in her chosen profession.

Julian Mitchell, who has been Charles Hoyt's stage manager for several years, will retire from that position at the end of this season to look after the business interests of his wife, Bessie Clayton, the dancer, who is going into vaudeville.

Marie Wainwright sailed for Europe last Saturday, but before her departure she signed for a tour of the best vaudeville houses next season under the direction of Robert Grau. Miss Wainwright will seek material in London, and Mr. Grau's London office has already arranged interviews with several prominent English authors to take place upon Miss Wainwright's arrival.

MARRIAGE REFORMS.

A Frenchman Comes Forward With a Plan to Benefit Humanity.

Dr. Toulouse of Paris is certainly a man of original ideas, says the New York Herald. Quite recently he startled Europe by his audacious book on Zola, and now he comes forward with an extraordinary proposition in regard to the time honored institution of marriage. Here are his views on the subject: Persons of weak constitution, or who have any disease lurking in their system, he says, and especially those suffering from consumption, epilepsy, a cancerous growth, mental imbecility or alcoholism, frequently have sickly or badly formed children, who are stamped with the physical or moral blemishes of their parents, from the evil effects of which they are wholly unable to escape. Still this form of heredity, though extremely frequent, is not fatal; it assumes the most unexpected disguises, and hence the malady inherited by the child sometimes differs very much from that which afflicts the father.

For this reason it is impossible to frame a law prohibiting certain classes of persons in modern society from marrying. And yet, asks Dr. Toulouse, is it not deplorable to see so many unhappy persons born daily into the world who are doomed by their very origin to be degenerates? He has been brooding over this subject for some time and now comes forward with a remedy.

Marriage, he points out, is simply a contract, the object of which is to insure the perpetuity and prosperity of the human race. This contract, then, considered from a purely sanitary point of view, should always be made in good faith. Health is a more important factor in married life than money, and the man who conceals from his intended bride the existence of any hereditary and presumably any acquired disease is as guilty of a breach of truth as though he were to conceal from her the fact that he was on the verge of bankruptcy.

In common justice, then, says Dr. Toulouse, the marriage contract should be reversible in all cases where there is any deception in this matter of disease, and a divorce should promptly be granted. Only in this way can we be assured of happy marriages, healthy children and a prosperous society.

But he goes even further. If a husband or a wife, he says, conceals the existence of a hereditary blemish, and if there is born to this couple a child who is continually sick, unable to earn a livelihood, and who is an exceptional expense to the parents, then that parent who has deceived the other should be compelled to pay to the marriage partner a large amount of money as damages. Dr. Toulouse thinks that a law should be passed to this effect, and he explains how it could easily be made operative.

Furthermore, he claims that a bureau should be established with the object of looking after the health of individuals.

In other words, he proposes that this bureau shall be furnished with passports showing the condition of health of all persons in the community. A recent law obliges physicians to keep a record of all cases of contagious diseases which are brought to their notice, and Dr. Toulouse maintains that the same precaution should be observed in the case of nervous and mental maladies, and of all others which afflict the race and are likely to be transmitted from one generation to another. If this were done, the result would be that the authorities would have under their hands and could see at a glance the mental and physical condition of all persons within their jurisdiction.

Each passport, it is suggested, should bear a number, and in this way the identity of the person described therein would be known only to the chief of the bureau and to one or two confidential clerks. In other words, it would be a strictly professional secret. In one sense, too, these passports would only be of scientific interest, for it is not suggested that they should be brought into use in the case of persons about to marry.

Without the aid of these telltale documents, however, it is difficult to see how persons applying for a divorce or for pecuniary damages in the case of sickly children could always substantiate their claims.

Dr. Toulouse, so far as I can learn, does not suggest they should be used for such purposes, but some of his critics do not refrain from hinting that the passports may be used in this way. They also point out that in times of general elections these documents, showing the mental and physical status of all persons, might prove of great service, at least in the hands of an unscrupulous government.

But this is not the only objection which has been made to Dr. Toulouse's proposed law.

"Theoretically," says Dr. Maurice de Fleury, "his idea is just, but in practice it would almost certainly give rise to quarrels and interminable and singularly painful law-suits. Dr. Toulouse knows as well as I do that neuropathic heredity is rarely one sided, and that a mysterious attraction impels the offending parties to seek each other's society, to live together, to get married and to give life to children who will partake of their double blemish, and who will, so to speak, be doubly degenerate, as though implacable nature were hastening to make an end of such an effete race."

Black Versus Yellow.

T. Thomas Fortune, himself a mulatto, talks quite entertainingly, and convincingly too, about the animosity of the blacks in America against the members of their race who are of mixed blood. He calls attention to the fact that when Dr. Edward W. Bryden was in the United States a few years ago, he made a lecture trip through the Southern States, and that wherever he spoke he managed to give great offense to the mixed members of his audience by the extreme position he took on the relations of the races at the South. The matter culminated at Charleston, where Dr. Bryden is accused of having said that the pure blacks and the whites got along very well together, and that all the trouble between the races was caused by the mulattoes.

It is undoubtedly true that the blacks have cause for their jealousy of the yellows, for the latter, even in the days of slavery, had better opportunities for rising in the social scale, as they had the advantage of association with the whites as house servants, whereas the blacks were kept at field labor. Then if there be anything in the laws of heredity, the light skinned Africans must have had transmitted to them something of the superior intelligence of their white fathers. But admitting that there is ground for animosity, humanly speaking, the mulattoes are not to be blamed for it. On the contrary, instead of wasting their time in denouncing their lighter skinned brothers and sisters, because the latter have beaten them in the race for preferment, the blacks should exert themselves all the harder on account of their being handicapped as they are.

But, whatever they ought to do, it is clear that they are so blinded by their jealousy that they are not yet ready to do the sensible thing. On the contrary, the cleavage between the blacks and the yellows is becoming more marked as the years go by, and it is not impossible that it will one day become so pronounced that actual warfare will ensue.

A society has been organized in Washington under the name of "The American Negro Academy," which it is believed will eventually work for the complete separation of the blacks and the mulattoes. While pure negro blood is insisted upon by all and in all ways, it is rather amusing to find that the president of the academy, Rev. Alexander Crummell, and the secretary, J. W. Cromwell, are both married to mulatto women; "and it is very generally the case," says Mr. Fortune, "that those black men who clamor most loudly and persistently for the purity of the negro blood have taken to themselves mulatto wives." A paper is published by the academy, written by W. E. Burghardt Du Bois, who, we are told, "is not black at all, but brown, and did not take a black woman to wife." Mr. Fortune cites the case, also, of Dr. D. W. Culp of Jacksonville, Fla., who makes a strong plea for the perpetuation of the negro race type in the United States, in the Arena, who "married a woman so white that no one would suspect that she was an Afro-American, although he is one of the purest types of the negro to be found." "Black men," says Mr. Fortune, "who want to preserve the negro type should not marry mulatto women, but, while they preach purity of race very generally and are very sensitive on the question of color, they marry most often in a way to destroy the logic of their preaching."—Boston Transcript.

Delayed His Wedding.

Postponed an Engagement to Be Married and Stayed in a Jack Pot, Thereby Winning Very Nearly $10,000.

"I remember," said an old Jersey settler to the New York Sun man, "when, away back in the '50s, a wedding was postponed on account of a jack pot in which the prospective bridegroom was deeply interested."

"In those days poker was more commonly played at the State capital than it is today, and there were some pretty stiff games pulled off in the hotel and star chambers around town when the Legislature was in session. One of the hardest players with which the regulars had to deal was young Jim Rawson of Egg Harbor. He ran a general merchandise store down there, and was mixed up in the oyster trade, so that he always had 'money to burn,' as the boys say nowadays.

"In the winter of '54 Rawson came to Trenton to help push a bill, in which he was interested, through the Legislature, and one evening he got mixed up in a game of poker in the United States Hotel with Sol Travers, Jerry Holcomb and Dick Collins, three of the gamest players that ever drew cards. The game was innocent enough when it started, but along about 3 o'clock the next morning it had assumed proportions calculated to make an ordinary player gasp when the bets were made. Rawson was the youngest man at the table and had probably played poker less than any of the others, but he had money and nerve, and the way he used both of them made the other three keep their eyes open. There wasn't much difference in the men's winnings up to breakfast time, but all of a sudden the cards got freakish, as they will sometimes, and began to run against Rawson.

"The players wouldn't give up the game and had breakfast brought to them. They laid down the cards long enough to eat, and then went at it again. Rawson's hard luck kept up. He turned his hat around, crossed his legs, got up, and walked around his chair, rung in new packs of cards and did everything that the superstitious poker player does to change his luck, but it wouldn't change. His money kept drifting away until 10 o'clock in the forenoon, when he counted up his assets and found that he had $200 left. He had fed about $1,800 to the tiger, and naturally felt a little sore. At last a jack pot was started about half-past 10 o'clock, and the cards were dealt around a dozen times and nobody got openers.

OPENING THE JACK POT.

"'Hurry up, boys, and open,' said Rawson. 'I've got to catch that 11:45 train. I'm going to be married tonight, and I must be in by 5 o'clock, dressed for the occasion.'

"But the boys didn't seem to be able to hurry. They dealt and dealt, but, somehow, the right kind of openers wouldn't fall, and finally there was a snug little pot of about $600 on the table. At 11.30 Travers opened the pot for $100. Holcomb and Collins stayed.

"'I feel just as if I was going to win that pot,' said Rawson, writing some figures on a piece of paper and throwing it on the center of the table with what money he had left. 'I'm shy $50, boys, but I guess I'm good for it.'

"'Your check is as good as your money,' said Travers

"'Every bit,' said Holcomb and Collins.

"'But you'll never catch that train,' remarked Travers

"'By thunder,' exclaimed Rawson, 'I forgot all about that.' He looked at his watch and found that he had three minutes in which to get to the station. 'There's no use trying to make it now,' he said, 'they'll have to postpone the wedding. I'll telegraph that I've missed the train.' At 11 45 a messenger was sent to the telegraph office with a dispatch, and the game went on.

"The pot was $1,000 strong when the men drew cards, and I want to tell you now of the most remarkable set of poker hands that I ever saw dealt. Travers was dealing. Holcomb called for one card, Collins took one, Rawson drew four, and Travers took one. There was business ahead, everybody saw that. Travers made a bid for a raise by betting $25, which was 'lifted' $200 by Holcomb, and Collins raised that $300, so that when it came around to Rawson it cost $425 to come in. Everybody thought he would throw down his cards, but he didn't; he slowly drew a check book out of his pocket and wrote a check for $1,000 and shoved it up, thus raising Collins $575.

"You could see right away that the other players thought he was bluffing. Travers met the raise at once and added $500 to it Holcomb saw that, and raised it another $500. Collins simply saw the raise and Rawson lifted it another thousand.

"Travers settled back in his chair and eyed Rawson for a minute. 'You've got pretty good nerve, old man,' he said, 'but you can't make me lay down, not on a four-card draw, anyway.' Then he saw Rawson's $1,000 raise, and increased it $500.

"'I call you,' said Holcomb, shoving in $1,500.

"'I might as well take a chance for my money,' said Collins, laying $1,500 on the pile. Rawson put down another check for $500.

"'Well, boys,' said Travers, 'I'm sorry for you. I've got four queens. He threw them on the table.

"'That beats my four jacks,' said Holcomb, 'and my four tens,' said Collins, 'but it doesn't beat my four kings,' said Rawson, spreading out his cards. He held four kings and an ace.

"'Thunderation, what a draw" exclaimed Travers.

"'Twas pretty good,' said Rawson, raking in the money; 'and I got them all in a bunch. I held up an ace.'

"Rawson pulled in $13,000, and $9,750 of it came out of the pockets of the other three men. It was the biggest jack pot I ever saw."

TOO MUCH SENSE TO KICK.

"How about the wedding?" asked a listener.

"Oh, yes, I meant to tell you about that," said the old settler. "You see, the girl that Rawson was going to marry had a mind of her own, and when the telegram came saying that he had missed the train, what did she do but jump aboard the cars and come up to Trenton, reaching here about 6 o'clock in the evening. Rawson was mighty glad to see her, too. They went out and hunted up a minister and got married. Then they came back to the hotel, and we all had a mighty nice layout. I don't know whether the woman ever found out why Rawson missed the train or not, but I reckon if she did she would have more sense than to kick about it, because she seemed to be a pretty level-headed girl."

"Speaking about that being a remarkable set of poker hands," said an old-timer, who had been a listener to the old settler's account of the game, [illegible] county. He's dead now. The cards were dealt around a half dozen times and nobody got a hand that was worth betting much on.

Finally Weeks called for a new pack of cards. They were brought and carefully shuffled The cards were dealt and everybody bet a dollar. A fellow named Haines was dealing, and when he asked how many cards were wanted every one of the players stood 'pat,' and we all noticed that he layed the pack down without taking cards himself. Weeks bet $10 and the fellow next to him raised him $10. Everybody stayed, and when the bet got back to Weeks he raised it $20; but Haines wasn't feazed by that and he promptly raised Weeks $50. After some hesitation the other two players dropped out and the fight was between Weeks and Haines, who raised back and forth until there was $1,200 in the pot. Finally Haines got skittish and called Weeks.

"'I've got a club flush, deuce, tray, four, five and six,' he said spreading out his cards.

"'I've got a heart flush, with the same cards,' said Haines.

"'Well, I'll be whaled,' said one of the fellows who had drawn out, 'if I didn't have the same kind of a diamond flush.'

"'Yes, and I laid down a spade flush to match it,' said the other fellow.

"Haines and Weeks divided the pot, while the other two chaps went into the barroom and ordered cocktails. Four pat hands were dealt and one was as good as the other. I never knew of its happening before or since."

A DEAD MAN's MILLIONS.

Strange Story Revealed by a Search Among Custom House Records

Every morning during the last fortnight a man and a woman have appeared at the custom house and have hurried to the record room the moment the doors were unlocked

There, day in and day out, they busy themselves amid the musty mass of manifests which have been accumulating ever since Uncle Sam first began to collect customs revenues.

The man's laborious work is to establish the claim of an American family to the fortune of a Berlin banker who died intestate several years ago, leaving, it is said, an estate valued at about $300,000.

One of the searchers is a representative from the office of Lawyer Edward E McCall The woman is believed to be the agent of a Berlin lawyer.

They left Berlin in the early part of the year 1837, Mr. McCall said, one Heyman Hahn He came to America, to make a fortune. Upon his arrival in New York he opened a small tobacco shop in "The Swamp" He prospered

In 1838 he was married to Mary Buskey Hahn being a Hebrew, the marriage took place in a synagogue, and the marriage certificate was given to a Miss Bertha May, a friend of the bride who was the only witness to the wedding.

A few years went by, and Hahn's business increased vastly, and his little shop gave way to a larger establishment Finally he became one of the leading tobacco merchants in "The Swamp," as well as the editor of one of the first tobacco trade journals in New York.

When Hahn died, in 1875, he left a comfortable little fortune to his five children, and his two sons, Isaac and Louis, continued the business. But a few of his friends ever knew that he was a relative of the great banker Hirshfield of Berlin.

About four years ago Louis Hirshfield, the banker of Berlin, died intestate, leaving a large fortune, and an advertisement was published asking for information as to his relatives, and Isaac Hahn the eldest son of the tobacco merchant, believing from proof in his possession that the banker was his father's cousin, through Lawyer McCall got Governor Flower interested in the case

By advice of Mr McCall young Hahn engaged as counsel Dr von Simpson and Dr Alfred Gotthelf, two eminent lawyers in Berlin, and suit was brought for the fortune To defeat the American heirs English and German claimants denied the legality of Hahn's marriage

Lawyer McCall found living in Brooklyn Bertha May, the only witness to the ceremony, and just as the case seemed about to be decided favorably in favor of Isaac Hahn he was summoned to this city to look after his business interests. The steamer he sailed on was the Elbe, the story of whose loss two days later made the whole world mourn. Hahn had with him many papers of great importance in the suit, and they, of course, were lost with him.

Louis Hahn, the sorrowing brother, is now fighting the case in the trial at present in progress in Berlin. The English and German claimants concede the legality of the Hahn-Buskey marriage, but deny the legitimacy of the children.

Moreover, the claimants contend that the heir's father was not Heyman Hahn, the cousin of Banker Hirshfield, who came here in 1837, but one Heinrich Hahn, who came in 1838 on the ship St. Louis.

The manifest of the St. Louis is, it is believed, what the two custom house record searchers are, among

J E. MEDRAN,

Montenzou, Cal., March 1st, 1897.

I write this letter for the benefit of any one who may be in trouble, as I have been. About fourteen years ago I was taken sick The doctors pronounced it ulceration of the stomach and said it would end in a cancer.

At times I would vomit a black and bloody looking matter also a great deal of white mucus The disease would make me very nervous and despondent. At different times during my ailment I would get some relief for a few months, then it would come back as bad or worse than ever. I doctored with several as good doctors as I could find in the East and also here in California, but none of them effected a cure.

I was advised to consult Dr Tom She Bin, which I did about the 1st of October, 1892.

He said my trouble was the cancer of the stomach I commenced taking his medicine immediately For the first three or four months there seemed to be but a very little change After that time I improved very fast and am now able to do quite a good day's work. I have every reason to believe he has effected a permanent cure for me.

ORDINANCE NO.—An Ordinance regulating the paving and the digging up or disturbance of streets and public places for the purpose of laying pipes and conduits and the re-filling of excavations and the repair of street surfaces.

Be it ordained by the Council of the city of Oakland as follows:

SECTION I.

It shall be unlawful to pave or macadamise any public street or place prior to the construction of a main sewer therein; also all necessary side sewer branches which shall be built to the curb line. Said sewer shall be built in accordance with official plans and specifications, and under the supervision required by law, and a diagram showing the exact location of all side branches shall be kept on file in the office of the Superintendent of Streets.

SECTION II.

Upon the passage by the City Council of a Resolution of Intention to improve any public street or place by macadamising or re-macadamising the same or by constructing thereon a pavement of any description, it shall immediately become the duty of the Street Superintendent to notify all persons, firms or corporations, known to be exercising the right and practice of laying pipes or conduits of any description in the public streets or places, to lay all main pipes or conduits, also all lateral or service connections needed for present or future use, to the inner curb line of the street, and to repair all existing pipes in any public street or place to be so improved, within twenty (20) days from date of notice; and it shall also be the duty of the Superintendent of Streets to notify all the owners of property upon the line of the street or place to be improved to make all sewer connections needed for present or future use to the inner curb line in front of their property, within thirty (30) days from date of notice.

SECTION III.

After a Resolution of Intention has been passed by the City Council to pave, repave, macadamise or re-macadamise any public street or place, all persons, firms and corporations and property owners shall, upon notice from the Superintendent of Streets, lay all main and lateral pipes or conduits needed for present or future use, within the time specified in said notice.

SECTION IV.

After the expiration of the time stated in the notice served by the Street Superintendent, to any person, firm or corporation to lay sewer, gas and water pipes, telephone or electric wire conduits, no permits shall be granted by the Secretary of the Board of Public Works to any of said parties to lay pipes or conduits of any description, between the curb lines of any of the public streets or places which are paved, re-paved, macadamized or re-macadamized subsequent to the passage and approval of this Ordinance, unless said parties shall first deposit with the Secretary of the Board of Public Works the sum of twenty-five cents (25c) per square foot of street surface to be disturbed, which money shall be paid by said Secretary, immediately after its receipt by him, into the City Treasury, and there held as a special fund to be used for the repair of streets disturbed under the provisions of this Ordinance, and all warrants drawn by the City Auditor upon the City Treasury for such work for repairs of streets shall be drawn upon the said fund which is hereby designated as "Street Repair Fund."

A diagram showing the location and extent of the proposed excavation shall be filed with the Secretary of the Board of Public Works, by any person applying for a permit to disture any street or place within the provisions of this section (4) of this Ordinance.

SECTION V.

All excavations in streets now or hereafter improved with bituminous rock, asphalt, wood blocks or vitrified brick laid on concrete foundation, shall be re-filled with special care with a view to prevent settlement of the back filling, and the excavation shall be covered with a layer of Portland cement concrete at least six inches thick, which shall have a bearing of at least twelve (12) inches on undisturbed ground on each side of the trench. The concrete shall consist of one part good Portland cement, three parts clean, sharp sand and five parts of two inch broken stone, watered, mixed and tamped to the satisfaction of the Street Superintendent or his inspector, and maintained free from disturbance for at least five days, before being covered with the wearing surface of the pavement, which in all cases shall be of the same kind of material, but of best quality and equal in quantity, and laid on the same elevation throughout, as the original pavement existed before disturbed. If required by the Street Superintendent, the wearing surface of the pavement in such case shall be composed of entirely new materials, which shall be laid in accordance with the official specifications for such pavement.

SECTION VI.

All persons, firms or corporations who may make excavations in any public street or place under the provisions of this Ordinance, shall in the case of opening a street having a concrete foundation notify the Superintendent of Streets in writing, at least twenty-four hours before the day in which said persons, firms or corporations are to re-fill said street, whereupon, at the time stated in said notice, the Superintendent of Streets shall provide an inspector to superintend the execution of the work, whose compensation shall not exceed $2.00 per day, which compensation shall be paid in full by the person, firm, or corporation doing said work. The said parties so re-filling said excavation shall at the time of the notice to the Street Superintendent deposit with him the sum of $50.00, or such other less sum as the Street Superintendent may require, and upon the satisfactory completion of the work, the said Street Superintendent shall remit to said person, firm or corporation the said sum of money so deposited, less the amount chargeable for the services of said inspector, at the rate of $2.00 per day; and the said Superintendent shall certify the completion of the work to the Secretary of the Board of Public Works.

SECTION VIII.

Nothing herein shall be construed as preventing the laying of gas or water pipes between the curb line and property line of any street, provided said pipe shall not exceed 2" internal in diameter, and provided further, that the consent of the property owners, in front of whose premises said pipe is to be laid, shall be first obtained.

SECTION VII.

All Ordinances and parts of Ordinances in conflict herewith are hereby repealed.

TO THE PUBLIC.

Many people are inclined to be prejudiced against the Chinese mode of ministering to the ills to which human flesh is heir. Knowing that this feeling exists, in most cases, through ignorance of the methods and remedies employed, I beg to introduce to your notice my manner of treatment and cure. Our system of medicine is based entirely upon the use of herbs, and my formulas embrace over 3,000 kinds of these natural restoratives, imported direct by me. All these remedies have been in use throughout the Chinese empire for the last several thousand years and have conclusively proven their unsurpassed excellence as factors in the art of healing. In my diagnosis I locate and describe all diseases entirely by feel of the pulse, not deeming it necessary to question the patient as regards any particular manifestation or symptom. Among the many disorders which I CURE—not attempt to cure—I may mention RHEUMATISM, PILES, PARALYSIS, DYSPEPSIA, CONSUMPTION, ASTHMA, BRIGHT'S AND ALL KIDNEY DISEASES, BLINDNESS, INSANITY, HEART DISEASE, DISEASES OF THE THROAT, CANCER, TUMORS, SKIN AND BLOOD DISEASES. I desire also to call attention to the fact that, owing to

Sins of the tongue Ex. 4-1-17 —We all know much about this subject from bitter personal experience None of us are exempt from sins of the tongue Our Scriptural reference presents the negative side Moses wished to be excused from speaking It is frequently a sin to refrain from speaking Often word that would right a wrong, words that would inspire to noble deed, words that would cheer some fainting heart, are withheld because of timidity or fear of failure When the Lord commands, let us obey trusting him to strengthen our feeble utterance But it is probably the positive side that applies most forcibly to the majority We are prone to speak idle words which in themselves are not actively wrong perhaps but still have nothing in them worthy of utterance How much better to have a purpose in our speech.

Then there is a tendency to flatter those in power through wealth or social position If they deserve commendation, let us bestow it by all means, but let us never stoop to please others or to seek admiration and self promotion at the expense of principle The following words of St James apply to us as appropriately as though written in and for this age of the world The tongue is a little member, and boasteth great things Behold how great a matter a little fire kindleth It is an unruly evil, full of deadly poison Out of the same mouth proceedeth blessing and cursing. 'My brethren, these things ought not so to be" Verily, they ought not and yet how many times it is true that Christians, after uttering words of strength and wisdom and power, nullify their influence for good by some hasty, unguarded speech betraying impatience, lack of charity, or a fault-finding spirit We don't mean to do this and we lament our impudence, only to repeat the same offense again and again, but we can improve wonderfully by constant watchfulness and prayer We are all familiar with the old adage, 'Think twice before you speak" That might consume too much time unless we are rapid thinkers but certainly we can think once before saying anthing that might be construed as being in any way antagonistic or harmful Will Carleton beautifully expresses this thought in these lines Boys flying kites haul in their white-winged birds You can't do that way with your flying words Careful with fire is good advice, I know Careful with words is ten times doubly so' Thoughts unexpressed may sometimes fall back dead, but God himself can't stop them when they're said"

The '97 committee of the United Presbyterian Endeavor Society had charge of the Wednesday evening prayer meeting recently The subject was, "The Good That Will Be Obtained From the Convention" After the prayer meeting a social was held when the members were required to give their experience in verse as to how they earned fifty cents to pay the balance of their pledge to the '97 fund

Every Christian Endeavor Society should have both a Christian Citizenship Committee and a rescue of the Sabbath committee They can work together on legal lines for the cessation of labor on the Sabbath The Christian Citizenship Committee, however, should have nothing to do with the increasing the love for the day on the part of the Christian people, that is the work of the 'Rescue Sabbath Committee."

To a certain extent the Sabbath to ...

...ing with Sabbath observance papers By showing that when Jehovah finished his six days of work, he did not set apart Saturday as a rest, but gave us the astronomically true Sunday, September 27, A.M I (not Julian) When the ceremonial law was given, after the Sunday Sabbath seemed forgotten in Egypt, the tenth to sixteenth Nisan week was given at Passover time, in the year 25 10 A M, at which time Friday to Saturday was the seventh day of the ceremonial week—only ceremonial; and this date of the month would come on different days in different years, as the Fourth of July comes on different days of the week in different years In the year 2550 A M. the manna showed Sunday as the Sabbath In the year A D 30 prophecy showed, Sunday, April 7th (9th Julian), to be the' Restored Adamic Sabbath (not the ceremonial Jewish). It was man's first day of the new creation, but God's seventh day.

The headquarters for Alameda County Christian Endeavor for the great international convention have been located in the Mechanics' Pavilion All of the headquarters, State and national, will be in that building and all receptions, etc, besides the large meetings will be held there This will assure a very large attendance at our headquarters Space for limited advertising on the walls can now be arranged for and also privilege of leaving pamphlets for distribution Apply to the president of county union, George P Lowell, 1425 Franklin street.

MY CABIN BOY.

When I was about 40 years of age I took command of the ship Petersham. We were bound to Liverpool, and nothing unusual happened until the eighth day out, when we ran foul of a small iceberg.

My cabin boy was named Jack Withers He was 14 years of age, and this was his first voyage

I fancied that he was the most stubborn piece of humanity I had ever come across I made up my mind that he had never been properly governed and had resolved to break him in I told him I d curb his temper before I'd done with him In reply he told me I might kill him if I liked

One day, when it was very near noon, I spoke to him, telling him to bring up my quadrant He was looking over the quarter rail, and I knew he did not hear me But the next time I spoke I spoke sharply and intimated that if he didn't move I would help him

"I didn't hear you," he said in an independent tone

"No words," said I.

"I suppose I can speak," he retorted, moving slowly toward the companionway

His looks, words and the slow, careless manner in which he moved fired me in a moment. I grasped him by the collar.

"Speak to me again like that and I'll flog you within an ace of your life," said I

"You can flog away," he answered as firm as a rock.

And I did flog him I caught up the end of a rope and beat him till my arm fairly ached But he never winced.

'How's that?" said I

"There's a little more life in me yet. You'd better flog it out," was the reply

And I beat him again. I beat him till he sank from my hand to the floor.

I sent one of the men for my quadrant, but when it came and I had adjusted it for observation I found that the sun had already passed the meridian and that I was too late.

This added fuel to the fire of my madness, and seizing the lad by the collar I led him to the main hatchway and had the hatch taken off. I thrust him down and swore I would keep him there till his stubbornness was broken.

About 3 o clock I went to the hatchway and called to him. But he returned no answer So I closed the hatch and went away. An hour afterward I went again, still no answer

I did not trouble him again until next morning After breakfast I went to the hatchway and called to him once more I heard nothing from him, nor could I see him Yet the men told me they had heard him that very morning. He seemed to be calling on them for help But he would not answer me. I meant to break him into it.

"He'll beg before he ll starve," I thought, and so determined to let him stay there

The day passed away, and when evening came I began to be startled He had been in the hold thirty-six hours, and forty hours without food or drink. He must be too weak to cry out now.

So at length I made up my mind to go and see him A little way forward I saw a space where Jack might easily have gone down, and to this point I crawled on my hands and knees I called out there, but could get no answer A short distance farther was a wide space which I had entirely forgotten, but which I now remembered had been left open on account of a break in the flooring of the hold, which would let anything that might have been stored there rest directly on the thin planking of the ship.

I heard the splashing of water and thought I could detect a sound like the incoming of a tiny jet or stream At first I could see nothing, but as soon as I became used to the dim light I could distinguish the faint outlines of the boy sitting on the broken floor with his feet stretched out against a cask.

"Jack, are you there?"

"Yes Help me' For mercy's sake, help me' Bring men and bring a lantern The ship has sprung a leak!"

I waited to hear no more, but hurled on deck at once and soon returned with a lantern and three men. Three of the timbers were worm eaten to the very heart, and one of the outer planks had been broken and would have burst in any moment the boy might leave it—the boy whose feet were braced against the plank before him

I saw the plank must burst the moment the strain was removed from it, so I made the men brace themselves against it before I lifted him up Other men were called down, with planks, etc, and after much difficulty we finally succeeded in stopping the leak and averting the danger

Jack Withers was carried to the cabin in my own arms, and there he managed to tell his story

He had sat with his feet braced for four and twenty hours with the water spurting all over him and drenching him to the skin His limbs were racked with pain, but he would not give up.

I nursed him with my own hands—nursed him all through his delirium—and when his reason returned and he could sit up and talk I humbly asked his pardon for all the wrong I had done him He threw his arms around my neck and told me if I would be good to him he would never give cause for offense. He added as he sat up again: "I am not a coward. I could not be a dog"

During nine years I have sailed in three different ships with the same ...

...several years He was now a "squaw man" and when I knew him his nature had become a curious mixture of white man and of Indian. He had the vices of both and the virtues of neither, but when the spirit of his early manhood was upon him he used the language of his youth, tinged with the subtle influences of the great plains, the still greater mountains and above all the great Spirit of Mystery, who is all of both and rules over all the wilderness and its children, good and bad We sat by a campfire as he spoke and the pale moonlight flooded the face of the cliff before us It was steep and towered up towards the star bright sky for a half thousand feet This was in the land of the Absorokas, otherwise known as the Crow Indians, but the Absorakas never went to the summit of this great cliff except to get nearer the Great Spirit when they prayed, for it stood as a monument to the simple heroism of their people, as you will see.

My companion stood before me facing the rocks. The moonlight was full on his figure and his face shone with the spirit of his tale. He had been a witness of the deed of which he spoke, and its magnitude inspired the better feelings of his nature and they found expression. His gestures were simple, but when he raised his arm the long fringe on the sleeve of his buckskin coat gave a fantastic outline to his form His long hair fell forward over his shoulders and one forgot the meaning of this livery in the impassioned words he spoke

"Not long ago," he said, "the Great Spirit sent a terrible scourge to the Absorakas. Some of us knew that it was nothing more or less than the smallpox of the Maschela (white man), but our people were sore afraid and gave themselves up to fear They felt the Great Spirit was angry with them and they knew not where his vengeance would end The ignorance of our people and the way in which they live make them easy prey for this dread scourge The sweat tepee was of no avail. The ice bath in the river but killed those who took it. The medicine men went into the hills and prayed to the Great Spirit, but the medicine they made was of no avail. Our people died like sheep in a storm, and it seemed as though the end had come.

"By day we sang the death songs, by night we beat the tom-toms to scare the evil away, but we were helpless Each day was more fearful than the one before, and we resigned ourselves to death In our lodge was an old, old medicine man The oldest brave in the tribe had no recollection of the time when this revered prophet was possessed of youth, for his years ran back of the memory of living man He was all powerful with the Great Spirit and his medicine was ever good He had sat through all these terrible days in the garb of mourning, grieving for his people. One cold morning when the scourge was at its height he arose at break of day, threw his blanket over his head and stalked through the camp looking neither to the right nor the left. The people threw themselves on the ground before him and prayed that he might give them hope He paid no heed, but went into the hills above the camp and came not out till the sun was high in the Heavens.

"When he returned his blanket was gone His white hair streamed from his head in tangled strands His step had the spring of youth. He had received the tidings They were in his face and his people came to greet him. As he approached the center of the village he cried out in a great voice:

"'The Great Spirit has spoken, come my people and I will tell you how this evil can be driven away.' There was movement among the tepees. The Indians gathered about him as fast as their stricken limbs and benumbed faculties would allow and the medicine man imparted his revelation

"'The Great Spirit has spoken to me. He has said that the flower of our youth must be given to Him that the rest may live. Seven of our young braves must ride their best horses over the high bluff to the rocks below and he will be appeased' There was silence for a moment and then a low murmur of protest, when suddenly out from the throng there stepped a stripling, clean of limb and swift of foot, his prowess the pride of the tribe in its athletic sports

"'It is as this old man says I will go to the rocks below that my people may live. Who will go with me?' A hundred young Indians leaped forward, the fervor of sacrifice and excitement in their faces 'There are too many,' the stripling said. 'Some must stay and care for the old Let us choose who shall go' They drew lots and the seven were chosen. They caught their best ponies. Decked themselves and their horses with the finest feathers and the brightest paint and followed by the wailing, moaning tribe rode to the top of the bluff The medicine man looked on with exultation, but with a secret sorrow. His grandson was there the pride of his closing years, tall and lithe, the champion foot racer of his tribe

"'The Great Spirit did not say these young men should be so tried. They can blindfold themselves,' he said His grand-son's eyes flashed fire and he drew himself up proudly. 'I go to my death with my eyes open as my father did before me We will blindfold our ponies, which have done no wrong, but we will be men'

"Strips of cloth were tied across the horses' eyes and the young warriors mounted At a signal they brought their quirts down on their ponies' flanks and with the regularity of a cavalry charge at parade they rode to the edge of the cliff and amid the frightful groans and shrieks of their kinsmen disappeared over the brink. Their bodies were recovered by an awed and stricken people and buried with great honors A few days after this the weather suddenly changed, the disease had run its course The plague left the Absorakas and to this day its leaving is ascribed to the voluntary human sacrifice made on the high bluff yonder."

A HELPLESS, PAINFUL CONDITION.

From the Tribune, Minneapolis, Minn.

It is said that the present generation is living in an era of nervousness. Some attribute the cause to the climate of our country, if there is an atmospheric effect it certainly is the least of the causes that produce nervousness. The great freedom enjoyed by the American people is in a large measure to blame for the high strung condition of our nerves. There is rustle and hustle on every hand There are excursions, picnics and long journeys. We work days and plan during the nights and in our hurry we bolt our food, sleep with irregularity, with seldom a thought of our nerves

Mrs C H. Guise, of 410 Central Avenue, East Minneapolis, had the misfortune to suffer constantly from nervousness, and her trouble was aggravated by want of sleep. Night after night of sleeplessness had created a worn out condition and she sometimes would jerk and jump unconsciously.

In relating her experience to a Tribune representative, she said:

"I wish to state to you the great benefit I have derived from Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People. For many months I was afflicted with nervous debility and could get no relief, until I began using the Pink Pills, the required result came very soon, and I hope I may have the privilege of recommending them to everyone suffering as I did, for I am certain the medicine gives instant relief without any bad results.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills contain, in a condensed form, all the elements necessary to give new life and richness to the blood and restore shattered nerves. They are also a specific for troubles peculiar to females, such as suppressions, irregularities and all forms of weakness. They build up the blood, and restore the glow of health to pale and sallow cheeks. In men they effect a radical cure in all cases arising from mental worry, overwork or excesses of whatever nature. Pink Pills are sold in boxes (never in loose bulk) at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50, and may be had of all druggists, or direct by mail from Dr Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y.
